FIVE HUNDRED DEAD

Entire Families Drowned With Witnesses Unable to Lend a Helping Hand.

SAD TALES OF THE SURVIVORS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

HEPPNER, ORE., June 16.—Estimates of the loss of life by Sunday night's cloudburst differ widely, but the number of dead is certain to reach 300, and it may be swelled to 500 when all are accounted for. One hundred and ten bodies have been buried and it is known that 50 are missing. Still others, who were strangers in the town, are supposed to be among the lost.

People are coming here from all directions in wagons and on horseback, and the work of recovering bodies and burying the dead is proceeding as fast as possible.

The Dalles, Ore., June 16.—A telephone message from Ione states that the latest find in the ruins of Heppner indicates that the loss of life will be much greater than at first supposed. The casualty list will foot up 500 and many of the bodies will never be recovered. The property loss and destruction of buildings alone will aggregate probably $1,000,000.

This is regarded as a conservative estimate. One hundred and fifty of the best residences were swept from the earth. The debris is piled along the railroad track to the height of freight cars. The relief work is progressing at a satisfactory pace.

Among the incidents of the catastrophe was the saving of three lives by Julius Keitley, an old man of 70 years, who rode a mile and a half on the roofs of houses and saved three people from the flood. James Kernan, the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company agent, met his death at the telegraph key trying to call Portland to inform the outside world of the impending calamity.

HE DIED A HERO.

His little daughter Katie, who was saved by remaining in the station house, said her father and mother were lost in the whirl of the waters. Katie stood by her father while he was calling the Portland office, and the flood swept in the lower floor around him. Mrs. Kernan rushed out of the house and started for a high point of ground, but was drowned.

One of the most thrilling adventures was that of Thomas Shuter, who, with his family, was carried down stream in their house for a mile and a half. His wife and two children stepped into the upper rooms. Below town the house was shot across the creek to the west side, where it lodged in debris, 150 yards from the canyon bank. Shuter then took his two little ones and swam 200 yards. He landed the children and then rescued his wife.

The McBride family, which was lost, went down in their house. The daughter screamed and beckoned from the windows to Louis Kinney, who, with his family, ran out from their house and escaped. Kinney saw the entire McBride family perish.

A force of 75 men is digging graves on the hillside. Prompt measures are being taken to prevent an epidemic of sickness. The weather threatens to become hot, and a relief corps to clean the town is urgently needed.

H. R. Baird of Portland lost his wife and three children. They were visiting her father, Mrs. Clarence Andrews and three children of Seattle are among the lost. Her husband is in Sitka, Alaska. She is a sister of Mrs. Baird.

MANY UNIDENTIFIED.

A list of the dead who have been identified and buried includes 85 names. Among the unidentified are a woman about 28 years old, a dark complexioned man, about 30 years old; two young boys and six babies. One hundred and fifty persons are known to be missing.

R. D. Ball, J. D. Kelly and A. P. Bradbury have arrived at Pendelton after having witnessed the destruction of the town and assisted in the work of rescue. Mr. Kelly said:

"The rain was not falling in Heppner, but could be seen some distance away. Sharp flashes of lightning were accompanied by the howling thunder. Then, suddenly the thunder died away, and a low noise was heard, very faint at first, but growing louder. As the noise grew louder and louder, the people became frantic. Then in a moment the van of the flood burst into view around the curve of the creek, carrying in its crest the cabins and houses which stood in its path.

"The people made a rush to the hills, but were too late. The flood was upon them. The little river in five minutes was transformed into a roaring torrent 400 feet wide and 20 feet deep. Houses were lifted from foundations and carried on the swirling waters. People were caught in their homes and forced to crawl out on the roof. Then as the house moved down the stream they caught onto the trees and hung there until morning when they were rescued. The depot was left standing, also two warehouses containing 2,500,000 pounds of wool."

CLUB ESTABLISHES MARRIAGE LOTTERY

DERBY, CONN., June 16.—(Special.)—A marriage lottery has been organized by the Bachelor club. Once a year the 25 members will draw lots and the one receiving a black ticket must marry within the year. The penalty for failure is the forfeiture of $50, which each of the members already has deposited, expulsion from the club and loss of all money paid the club's insurance department. Those who abide by the drawing will receive $200 for wedding expenses.

PRINCIPAL ACTORS APPEAR ON THE STAGE IN BREATHITT COUNTY'S BLOODY FARCE

Judge Hargis, Leader of the Feudists, Testifies for the Defense.

EVIDENCE CONCLUDED

Grand Jury Selected by Partisan Sheriff Discharges Men Suspected of Arson.

WOULDN'T HEAR THE EVIDENCE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Jackson, Ky., June 16.—The evidence in the trials of Curtis Jett and Tom White, charged with the assassination of Attorney James B. Marcum, is all in and the attorneys have begun their arguments. The defense finished shortly after noon today and the commonwealth introduced a few witnesses in rebuttal.

The most remarkable part about the testimony offered by the defense was the time elapsing after the second shot until the witnesses saw Curtis Jett go up the walk at the corner of the court house. Just five of them testified that it was 10 seconds. None of the witnesses swore that he saw Jett on the walk at the time the shooting was going on, and the time, 10 seconds, appears to the prosecution to have been agreed upon as a period too short of duration to admit of Jett's coming from the interior of the court house to the walk at the corner near the barber shop.

The feature of the day was the dismissing of Tharp and Crawford, the men suspected of having burned Ewen's house. The grand jury refused to wait for the witnesses which Provost Marshal Longmier had promised to produce. This jury was selected by Sheriff Callahan, who, next to Judge Hargis, is the leader of the Hargis faction of the feud. He used his official position to secure men for grand jury duty upon whom he could depend to take no action detrimental to himself and his friends.

REFUSED TO SERVE SUBPOENAS.

He also refused to serve the subpoenas furnished him by Marshal Longmier and the latter was compelled to go after the witnesses himself. He found them, but when he arrived at the court house the grand jury had been adjourned 10 minutes and the suspects liberated. Commonwealth's Attorney Byrd says he will try to have a special grand jury summoned to look into the arson cases.

The star witness for the defense was Judge Hargis, the reputed head of the Hargis faction. Hargis stated that he was inside his store when Marcum was killed. He saw White walk out of the court house door. White was one-third across the street when the first shot was fired.

"When I heard the first shot I saw Ewen pitch out of the door and run. I saw Marcum fall. I came to the door hurriedly. I saw Judge Blanton approach the wounded man. I saw Curt Jett approaching the scene of the tragedy. My recollection is that I saw Dr. Kash approaching about the time the last shot was fired. I am not certain as to the exact time.

"Lige Noble and Sheriff Callahan were in the store. I was looking toward the court house when the shot was fired. I did not see Ewen look in the hall when the first shot was fired. After the killing I sent for Ewen."

WHEREABOUTS OF JETT.

Hargis stated that he did not know who killed Marcum, as he was not "in range with the ball." In response to interrogation, Hargis explained several possible exits by which an assassin might have escaped from the court house.

UNTERMEYER REPLIES TO SCHWAB'S OFFER

Return of Bethlehem Steel Plant Will Be Considered By Bondholder's Committee.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 16.—Apparently Charles M. Schwab will not be allowed to rest by Samuel Untermyer, who represents those bondholders of the United States Shipbuilding Company who want a receiver appointed.

Upon his arrival from Boston late tonight, Mr. Untermyer sent a letter to Mr. Schwab, replying to the latter's offer unconditionally to surrender his $10,000,000 first mortgage 5 per cent bonds and his $20,000,000 of common and preferred stock of the shipyard-steel plant merger if the 300,000 shares of the Bethlehem plant were returned to him.

In his letter Mr. Untermyer says in part: "Your letter will be promptly placed in the hands of the bondholders' protective committee, now forming, and on the appointment of a receiver he will be urged to present it for the immediate and favorable consideration of the court. The desired result could in that way be accompanied with the least delay."

When this letter was delivered to Mr. Schwab at the Lorraine late tonight word was returned that Mr. Schwab had gone to bed rather indisposed and could not give any verbal answer to Mr. Untermyer's counter-proposition.

Schwab Gift Dedicated.

STATE COLLEGE, PA., June 16.—(Special.)—The main feature of today's commencement exercises was the dedication of the new auditorium presented by Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Schwab. Mr. and Mrs. Schwab were unable to be present but were represented by Dr. M. R. Ward, Mrs. Schwab's brother-in-law, who made the presentation speech. Gen. James A. Beaver, president of the board, accepted the gift on behalf of the trustees.

FINGER OF SCANDAL IS POINTED AT BROOKLYN

Postoffice Official Intimates That Center of Activity Will Be Transferred to That City.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 16.—"Keep your eye on Brooklyn. That is all I can say."

This statement was made tonight by an official of the postoffice department. But whether it meant Representative Driggs' part in furnishing automatic cashiers or the case of Beavers, former superintendent of salaries and allowances, could not be ascertained.

One charge of favoritism being investigated is one filed by W. E. D. Stokes against the Cutler Mail Chute Company. This company furnished all the mail chutes placed in office buildings since the time of Postmaster General Hutton. It is claimed by Mr. Stokes that no other company could get a chance to make a contract, and one of the amusing features of the matter is that the inspectors have not been able to locate the Cutler Mail Chute Company. It is supposed to be a New York concern, but the inspectors have hunted for it in New York in vain.

The grand jury today resumed consideration of the postoffice department cases. Two warrants were issued for the arrest of persons involved in the scandals.

ARCTIC EXPEDITION IN AN AUTOMOBILE

BOSTON, June 16.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glidden of Lowell, started today on their automobile trip to Christiana, Norway. They expect to reach within three degrees of the Arctic circle in their automobile. At the wharf they boarded the steamer Ivernia. Mr. Glidden was presented with the colors of the organization, the same to be left at the farthest point north reached by the party.

Peter I. Dare Not Oppose the Servian Army on Pain of Death.

MILITARY IN POWER

CZAR APPROVES NEW RULER

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

Belgrade, June 16.—The position of King Peter I. promises to be little more than that of a royal captive; the real government of the country will be a military dictatorship under the leaders of the revolutionists, Col. Maschin and Col. Mitschitch. The new king is almost without any personal adherents and the ruling spirits of the army, it is thought probable, would just as readily murder him as they did his predecessor should he oppose their aims.

The whole country is under military rule, and although no prefects to the country districts have been revoked, each is accompanied by an army officer who attends the prefect wherever he goes, even to the telephone. This policy has led to one good result, not a single case of disorder anywhere has been reported.

Extremely forcible arguments were found necessary to suppress the radical aspirations of a republic. The foremost advocate of the creation of a republican form of government was Ljubomir Schlokovics, the editor of the Belgrade Odjek. Finding him impervious to arguments, the conspirators invited him to a dinner at the Officers club last Saturday. During the dinner his host told him that unless he agreed to support Prince Peter Karageorgevitch there would be one head less in Belgrade that night. M. Schlokovics yielded to the force of the reasoning and accepted the situation. He is now minister of justice in the new government.

USELESS TO TALK OF REPUBLIC.

The deliberations of the members of the senate and skupshtina on the republican question were materially hastened by the attendance of one of the leaders of the revolution, Col. Mitschitch. The colonel took no part in the proceedings, but his presence was significant enough to induce the members to accept the army's choice. Premier Avakumovics told the deputies that it was useless to talk of a republic, as neither Russia nor Austria would permit it. He further urged that the proposed new legislation would give King Peter far less power than that enjoyed by the president of the United States.

In spite of the semi-official statements made this morning that the delegation of the national assembly elected to submit the crown to the newly chosen king had already started, it is still here. The government declares that the number of its members, 24, would entail too great a cost on the country in the way of traveling expenses, and the real reason of the delay in its departure is that the government found some of its members to be adverse to King Peter. These members sought the opportunity to become reconciled to him at the expense of the country. Now that the ministry has cut off their traveling expenses, their desire

NEW EVIDENCE HURTS AMMON

Testimony of Former District Attorney Blanches Defendant's Face.

WAS PARTY TO THEFT

Clarke Relates How Miller's Lawyer Declined Challenge to Appear Before Grand Jury.

TRANSACTIONS AT THE BANK.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, June 16.

Testimony taken today in the Franklin syndicate case was rather damaging for Robert A. Ammon, who is charged with having received $30,500 of stolen money. The chief witnesses were Mrs. Miller, wife of William F. Miller, District Attorney Clark of Kings county, who first prosecuted Miller, and A. W. Zimmerman, assistant cashier of the Wells Fargo Company, with whom Miller deposited bonds and money, later transferring the account to Ammon. Miller's father also testified.

Counsel for Ammon objected to the admission of the testimony of Mr. Clarke, and Judge Newburger severely rebuked Ammons attorney for interfering so often. Mr. Clarke testified that after Miller was indicted and while he was missing, Ammon visited him. Mr. Clarke told Ammon that if Miller was not produced he might have a chance to defend himself.

"I told him," said Mr. Clarke, "that he had no more right to counsel and advise Miller than he had any burglar as to how to commit a crime. We talked about the ethics of the profession and I was frank in my expression of opinion as to his conduct, telling him we might thrash that out in court or before the grand jury. Finally he said: 'I am willing to go before the grand jury.' I said: 'Come along. The jury is in session now.' We were then outside my office and he said: 'Well, I will come over tomorrow.' And I replied: 'No, you won't come over tomorrow.' He left then."

The admission of Mr. Clarke's testimony seemed to make a great impression on the jury which took all the color out of Ammon's face. The testimony was most damaging to Ammon, showing he was considered a party to the theft of the money by Clarke, and substantiating the claim that he was threatened with indictment, and this threat caused him to tell the police where Miller was in hiding.

Zimmerman testified that Miller and Ammon appeared at the Wells Fargo bank on November 23, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, to cash certificates of deposit for $100,000. Zimmerman identified the documents figuring in the transaction, showing deposits at various times amounting to $140,500 in cash. With $44,000 in government bonds, this gave Ammon a credit of $184,500. His bank account, which was produced, showed small withdrawals at various times and finally one on November 22 of $100,000. Zimmerman gave the bonds to Mrs. Ammon at this time.

Mrs. Miller's testimony amounted to very little. She could barely be heard. At the conclusion of the ordeal she was in tears.

By Losing Control of P. & A. Philadelphia Company Missed Chance.

A NEW LAW LOOMS UP

Act of Last Legislature Makes Competition Here Very Easy.

NEW INTERESTS TAKE HOLD

By allowing the ownership of the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company to slip from their hands, the Philadelphia Company lost sight of an opportunity to extend their electric lines to the subways already built, and also made possible the starting of a new system of electric light and power transmission, in competition with their own Allegheny County Heat & Light Company.

By an act of the last legislature, approved March 29 by Governor S. W. Pennypacker, it is made legal for telephone companies to enter into contract with electric light companies to allow the use ter to use the telephone wire system for electric light and power currents. It originated on the authority of electrical engineers of the highest standing, that by this plan there is no danger from electric currents to the user of a telephone.

WIDEAWAKE SYNDICATE IN CHARGE.

The Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company early in this month passed to the control of a syndicate of Pittsburgh capitalists headed by Robert C. Hall, the lawyer who has made a large number of successful deals of much importance during the past few years. Mr. Hall is the syndicate manager. This present control of the Pittsburgh & Allegheny is not allied to the Philadelphia Company. The company was bought as a successful telephone company, with plans to continue it as a successful operation as such. It is not considered likely, however, that such an opportunity as is afforded by the passage of the legislation referred to, to bring in the telephone company large additional revenue from the use of its lines will be overlooked.

The law legalizing such contracts is known as senate bill No. 42. The title and law follows:

READING OF THE NEW LAW.

To provide the manufacture of poles, wires and conduits for electrical purposes, by authorizing corporations manufacturing or using electrical currents for any purpose, to enter into contracts with each other relating to the exchange of current, the joint use of poles, wires and conduits, or the lease or operation of each other's systems.

Whereas, The multiplying of lines of wires and conduits, and different systems of wires for conducting electricity along the various streets and streets of the commonwealth, is a source of annoyance and danger to the public, and of interference with the proper exercise of municipal functions; therefore,

Section 1. Be it enacted, etc., That it shall and may be lawful for corporations, for the purpose whereof formed, and hereafter, using electrical current within this commonwealth, to enter into contracts with each other for the same purpose, when and conducive to the purchase and sale of electrical current, or for the lease or operation of each other's systems, upon such terms and conditions as they may agree upon.

Provided, That nothing in this act contained shall be construed to give to any company any right to erect or maintain poles, wires or conduits upon any street or road any municipality occupied, unless the consent of the local authorities shall have been first obtained.

Approved the 29th day of May A. D., 1903.

SAMUEL W. PENNYPACKER, Governor.

BILL WENT THROUGH QUIETLY.

This bill has been laid away almost unnoticed, its very passage or significance being known to but few. It is said that the bill, as originally introduced, was put into the legislature by John M. Mack and his party of Philadelphia capitalists, with the use of the lines of an independent telephone company in that city in prospect. Subsequent developments of some nature caused the bill to be abandoned by the Mack party, but in some way it went through anyway, as has been the case with several other bills when nobody was particularly watchful. Coming before the governor, it received the approval in due form.

The local application of the bill was not known at the time of its passage only when the records of the last legislature were searched through to a useful way was it discovered and its purport here recognized.

CHANCE TO SAVE THOUSANDS.

It is not believed that the Philadelphia Company interests knew of the passage of the bill when they allowed the telephone company to pass from them to the new syndicate. And they soon cognizant of its import they could have saved many thousands of dollars by installing the telephone company control and making with that company a contract for the use of its wire system which would have made those many the expense of costly underground conduits such as are now

POWERS' VAIN PLEA.

Asks to Be Allowed to Attend Father's Funeral, but Judge Robbins Denies Request.

GEORGETOWN, KY., June 16.—(Special.)—Amos Powers, aged 66, father of Caleb Powers, who is in jail here for alleged complicity in the murder of William Goebel, died Sunday night. Your correspondent on learning of his death, called on Caleb Powers at the jail.

"Is it true that you made an effort to be allowed to attend your father's funeral under bond?"

"Yes, I telegraphed Judge Robbins and had my attorneys communicate with him, requesting the privilege of making a bond of $50,000 for the occasion. Judge Robbins replied that he could not grant my request. I was compelled to wire my people that I could not be present at my father's funeral."

LONDON IS ALARMED OVER KING'S HEALTH

LONDON, June 16.—Some alarm has been caused by the sudden and unexplained postponement until an unfixed date in July of the king's review of troops at Aldershot, which was to have been held June 22. Possibly the review has been postponed in order that it may be held during President Loubet's visit to England. The remembrance that the king was seized with an illness immediately after the review at Aldershot in June last year, causes a renewal of apprehension.

Barnes Heresy Case Dropped.

NEW CASTLE, PA., June 16.—(Special.)—The trustees at Westminster college adjourned sine die tonight without taking any action regarding the heresy charges against Prof. Morgan Barnes. This is regarded as a victory for Barnes, since the matter will be dropped, unless, as it rumored, the president of the college, the Rev. R. G. Burket, should institute new proceedings.

REAPS HER REWARD.

Smiles of Schoolgirl Bestowed on Lonely Old Man Brought $25,000 in Return.

CHICAGO, June 16.—(Special)—Twenty-five thousand dollars is the reward that has come to Bonnie Benham, a school girl of Whiting, Ind., for smiles and good nature.

When she attended the convent of Mercy at Pensacola, Florida, in her rambles she would occasionally see Thomas Duggings, a lonely old man, sitting on a bench alongside the roadway sunning himself. The girl smiled as she passed the old man and asked him if he enjoyed the sunshine. Duggings was attracted by Bonnie's sunny disposition and made the acquaintance of her parents, whose firm friend he became until they removed to Aurora, Ill. Bonnie wrote him several times, but her letters were unanswered. Yesterday she received a letter from an attorney at Pensacola who informed her that Duggings was dead and had bequeathed $25,000 to her.

COLORADO FUEL PAYS CHECKS AFTER DELAY

NEW YORK, June 16.—(Special.)—By the failure to pay obligations amounting approximately to $600,000 due on Monday last at the Knickerbocker Trust Company in this city, the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company caused uneasiness today regarding the standing of the company. Those to whom the obligations were due were called up on the telephone today and informed that if the checks were again presented they would be paid. They were again presented and were paid. After this the alarm was partially allayed.

Pittsburghers in Class Reunion.

COLUMBUS, O., June 16.—(Special.)—Twenty of the 25 members of the class of 1880, at Capital university, held a reunion here tonight. The Rev. J. E. Kieffer of Charleston, W. Va., acted as toastmaster and among the speakers were the Rev. G. D. Simon of Pittsburgh, and the Rev. W. S. Schramm of Allegheny.

being built in many parts of the city already reached by Pittsburgh and Allegheny telephone lines.

The cheapness of this system of electrical transmission is apparent at once. To have but one system of wiring entering a house or other place where electric current is used and supplying the current for both the electric light and the telephone is easily seen to be a great economy in cost of construction and operation.

The Pittsburgh and Allegheny Telephone Company has about 200 miles of lines in conduits, all of the most modern construction and covering all sections of the two cities and throughout the county. The system is one of the most complete in any part of the country and is about the last underground system that can be built in Pittsburgh, unless the conduits are put beneath the sewers, and this is believed to be impracticable in many places.

SYSTEM HARD TO DUPLICATE.

The city has at the same time placed limits upon the construction of overhead lines. For this reason the franchises and property of the telephone company are most admirably adapted for this new purpose and can hardly be duplicated.

The report was published yesterday that there had been signed the day before papers in a deal combining the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Telephone Company with the Central District and Printing Telegraph Company, which operates the Bell telephones in this district. This report met immediate denial from all sources. J. G. Spiane, president of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny, said there was positively no foundation for such talk; that the two companies are and will remain entirely distinct from each other. Such a merger is against the state law forbidding combination of parallel and competing common carriers.

WOMEN WERE INJURED; MOTORMAN NOT HURT

Street Car Ran Into Lumber Wagon and Fatalities Are Narrowly Averted.

As a result of a collision between a street car and a lumber wagon in Fifth avenue yesterday afternoon, two women were injured and the motorman had a narrow escape from being killed. The women were sitting on the front seat and the dashboard of the car was crushed in, pinning them to their seats. Both women were taken to the Mercy hospital. They were:

Miss Nellie Finn, aged 22, of No. 714 Green avenue, Altoona, right leg broken and badly bruised. Taken to the Mercy hospital.

Car No. 1501 was going out Fifth avenue and a lumber wagon was coming down on the same track. Motorman George Reddy and Driver Charles Friday said they did not see each other until they were almost together. Friday pulled his horses to one side, and the car crashed into the end of the wagon. The front of the car was crushed in. Motorman Reddy jumped as the collision occurred. The lumber wagon was broken by the crash, but neither the driver nor the horses were injured.

Miss Finn is a sister of J. T. Finn, a prominent merchant of Altoona, with whom she makes her home. She had been visiting M. E. Finn, a brother at Homestead for the last couple weeks. F. W. Finn, a contractor of Altoona, now in Pittsburgh is also a brother of the injured girl.

ORDINANCE WAS NOT UP.

Bellevue Councilmen Did Not Consider the Traction Privileges.

The ordinance for a branch traction line through Bellevue to a new plan of lots did not come up at the Bellevue council last night. The Pittsburgh Railways Company has engineers inspecting a route suggested to the company by those who are opposed to a double track in Rodgers avenue, and by July 7 the ordinances will come up and the company will be prepared to say whether it will accept the terms the citizens of Bellevue have laid down as conditions precedent to granting the franchise.

Councilman J. A. Simeral said the borough is willing to encourage the building of traction lines that will develop the surrounding territory, but that the company will be required to meet the borough half way.

NEW PLACE FOR CONANT.

Will Leave Farmers' Bank Building and Go to the Nixon Theater.

James W. Conant, superintendent of the Farmers bank building, has resigned, to take effect July 1, and will take charge of the cathskeller of the new Nixon & Zimmerman theater, the "Nixon," in Sixth avenue, when completed. It had been reported that Mr. Conant would be the manager of the theater, but he would not discuss that and nothing definite could be learned about it.

Mr. Conant was formerly manager of the Duquesne garden and left that to take charge of the Farmers bank building. He is also treasurer of the City Bill Posting Company and is connected with a number of other enterprises in this vicinity.

Y. M. C. A. AT BELEVUE.

Building to Cost $35,000 Will Be Erected in the Near Future.

The movement to erect a Y. M. C. A. building in Bellevue is gaining ground, as was evidenced at a meeting of the general finance committee that has the project in charge. The committee, which is composed of 100 Bellevue citizens has been soliciting subscriptions, and at Monday night's meeting it was decided that a building to cost $35,000 could be erected and said for, and a resolution to that effect was adopted.

A sub-committee to find a suitable site and the price it can be bought for, was appointed, to report next Monday night in the Methodist Protestant church. George N. Baden is the chairman of the general committee, L. W. Keeper assistant chairman and E. P. McMillan secretary.

BAKERS MAKE DEMAND.

Insist That Union Labels Be Placed on All Loaves of Bread.

Because the employers of union bakers do not place union labels on each loaf of bread turned out the members of the union have threatened to strike. Already a number of the employers of the smaller concerns have gone out, and it is the intention of the bakers' union to call out all the men Saturday if the demand is not granted.

The employers are said to be resolute in the stand they have taken, and they declare that they will not put a union label on their bread. If the union calls out all the men the large concerns will not be affected, as the men are paid by the hour and most of them are non-unionists.

Police Kick the False Foot.

When Dr. F. H. S. Ritter entered his office at No. 422 Sixth avenue, early this morning, he found an unknown man lying face downward on the floor. He telephoned to Central police station and Capt. Alfred Fosters and a detective responded. They tried to awaken the man by kicking him on the foot, but as they received no response it was decided the man was dead. When the man was raised he awoke and it was discovered that the officers had been kicking at a cork leg. He gave his name as John Anderson. He was drunk.

Barbers Voted Down Price Scale.

The Barbers' union at its meeting last night voted down the proposed scale of prices. It was decided that the employer should fix their own rates for hair cutting and shaving.

FORTY THOUSAND PERSONS PARTICIPATE IN INDIANA'S CENTENNIAL

Sunrise Gun Is Signal for Crowds Thronging Indiana's Streets.

GREAT INDUSTRIAL PARADE

Timber and Coal Play Important Part in Display of Natural Resources. Century's History Reviewed by Distinguished Citizens.

Court of Honor on Philadelphia Street.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

INDIANA, PA., June 16.—Four thousand persons were entertained in Indiana today, where all things have been given over to the centennial celebration. The sunrise gun was the signal for the crowds to start upon the streets, and long before the usual breakfast hour Philadelphia street was thronged.

Many county delegations started for Indiana Monday night, districts 30 miles away having huge floats and many vehicles in the parade. The marshalling of these numerous delegations as they came in from every direction was no small task, but by 11:30 o'clock the work was done and the largest industrial and civic parade which ever threaded its way over the streets of Indiana moved out with Judge Harry White chief marshal, at its head.

All the industries of the county were represented, lumber and coal being particularly prominent. There were wagons with huge blocks of coal weighing two tons. Sturdy mules hauled mine cars laden with coal through the muddy streets. Great six-horse loads of heavy timber were seen.

The pre-eminent feature of the day was the living flag. Three hundred girls from the normal school occupied a large stand in front of the court house. They were dressed in red, white and blue. When seated they formed the United States flag. They sang a number of patriotic airs and were repeatedly encored.

The centennial commemoration exercises were held in the open air. A number of papers reviewing the century's history in the various professions and arts were read, but the outer line of the auditors could not hear them because of the bands and fakirs. A court of honor is erected in front of the court house. Its boundaries are marked by 14 white pillars, each 18 feet high, with caps circled by electric lights. The hotels and stores in the vicinity are brilliantly illuminated and there are many mid-way shows.

The Rev. A. J. Furman, pastor of the Baptist church and president of the Ministerial association, talked on church work. Joseph Moorehead of the Blairsville Enterprise, represented the press in the list of speakers, and the county school work was spoken of by County Superintendent J. T. Stewart. "The History of the Profession," was the title of the address given by Dr. J. M. St. Clair, secretary of the Indiana Medical society. One of the principal talks was made by Ex-Judge John P. Blair, who represented the Indiana county bar and gave an exhaustive review of legal life in this territory. The banking interests were represented by Maj. T. D. Cunningham of Blairsville, president of the First National bank there.

Tonight a fireworks display was held in White's field, south of town. Indiana presented the scene of a miniature mardigras. Tomorrow is old soldiers' day, and tonight it looks as if the crowds tomorrow will be even larger. The carnival will continue throughout the week.

Soldiers Go to Indiana.

Two guns and two section of Battery B, under Lieutenant Ryall, left East Liberty yesterday noon for Indiana. The platoons will take part in the celebration of the centennial there and are supplied with 200 rounds of ammunition. The battery will fire heavy salutes during the celebration.

PRINCIPAL ACTORS APPEAR ON STAGE

Attorney Byrd. Hargis said he saw nothing unusual in White's actions when he came out of the door.

"Did you see Curt Jett anywhere when the shots were fired?" asked Byrd.

"I saw Curt."

"Answer my question," said Byrd.

"No, I did not see him."

"Did you come out of the store after the killing?"

"No."

"Did Callahan?"

"No."

"Did you search the court house?"

"Did Sheriff Callahan?"

"No."

"Didn't you consider it your duty to search the court house?"

"I sent Ewen."

"Are you an uncle of Curt Jett?"

"Yes."

INTERESTED IN JETT'S DEFENSE.

"Are you interested in his defense?"

"Yes."

"Did you engage his attorneys?"

"No."

"Are you not paying them?"

"No. I have not paid them one cent."

"Do you intend to pay them?"

"Yes, I suppose I will if Curtis asks me to."

"Why are you interested in the defense of White?"

"Because he is innocent."

After a few more questions Hargis was excused by the commonwealth. The defense closed shortly after noon and Commonwealth's Attorney Byrd called a few rebuttal witnesses, closing about 4 o'clock.

Judge Redwine in instructing the jury said that if the evidence showed that Jett and White killed Marcum, it should bring in a verdict of guilty and fix the punishment at death or life imprisonment, but if there was a reasonable doubt they should acquit.

Commonwealth's Attorney Byrd, Thomas Marcum and Capt. D. D. Hurst will argue the case for the prosecution, while B. B. Golden, John P. O'Neil and E. F. French will argue for the defense.

EWEN LEAVES TOWN.

Capt. B. J. Ewen, fearing the Hargis people will assassinate him, has gone away, it is believed, to Stanford. He was in the military camp under a strong guard, but even there he might have been picked off by a skulking assassin and the officers of the camp advised him to leave the town. The members of his family are scattered about among friends since the burning of their home. The Ewen family is a large one and includes two grown daughters, Maude, aged 22, and Cora, 18. The other members of the family, excepting the wife, are: Clifton, aged 20; Bruce, 16; Mattie, 14; Jennie, 11; Katie, 7; Walter, 4; Pattie, 2. Clifton is at Mount Vernon, O.

The fund started for Ewen is rapidly growing and tonight the subscriptions of a dozen different towns in the state foot up more than $1,000. Ewen is a Mason an Odd Fellow and a Knight of Pythia. He belongs to the Christian church.

BETRAYED BY A BABY.

Furnishes Chicago Police Evidence on Which to Arrest Suspect for a Burglary.

CHICAGO, June 16.—(Special.)—"Baby" Willie McArdle, a five-year-old tot of Lake Forest, showed Police Chief Gordan, of the suburb, a strange coin which he said his friend "Joe" gave him.

The officer examined the gift coin and found it was a Chinese piece. He began thinking and as his memory brightened he remembered that recently the residence of Dr. Streeter had been robbed and a valuable collection of foreign coins taken with the loot. The chief also remembered that the tot's casual friend, "Joe," was one Joseph Ensign, who often gave the tot candy, a fellow long under suspicion.

The latter and several other fellows were suspected of having committed a number of burglaries in Lake Forest. However, there was no direct evidence against them until "Baby" McArdel showed the chief the strange coin. Ensign was arrested during the day and when confronted with the child's evidence broke down and confessed.

ENGINEERS' DISCUSSIONS.

Several Subjects Under Consideration at Regular Meeting.

"Drawing Room Practice" was the subject discussed last night at the regular monthly meeting of the Engineers' Society of Western Pennsylvania, in the society's rooms in Penn avenue. President Camp presided. Three papers were read, "Mechanical Drawing in the Modern Drawing Room," by George H. Follows of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company; "Drawing Room Practice for Manufacturing Companies," by J. L. Wadsworth, chief engineer of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, and "System in an Engineering Office," by W. E. Font.

The most approved plans for filing and arranging blue prints and drawings, both in the engineer's office and throughout the mechanical departments were discussed. Twenty-one new members were admitted to the society. It was decided to hold a combined smoker and steamboat excursion. The date was not fixed.

MAYOR HAYS STOPPED A GAME OF CRAP

Mayor Hays put his reform measures into practice last night when he took part in suppressing a crap game which was going on close to Councilman Peter Hermes' home in Boyd and Diamond streets, last night. William Curry, James Henry, Michael Haley and Nelson Roberts, all about 16 years old and from the Sixth ward, were shooting crap on the pavement. Mayor Hays was sitting on Mr. Hermes' porch and heard the boys making their wagers. He slipped into the house and telephoned to the detective bureau. He went back to the porch and awaited the arrival of the officers. Detectives Louis Neff and Harry Jones answered the call and hurried to Watson street. Mayor Hays sat on the porch and watched the young gamblers arrested. The boys were taken to the Central police station and charged with gambling. Later they were released on forfeits for a hearing.

POLLUTION OF STREAMS IS AGAIN FORBIDDEN

New Commissioner Starts Crusade Against Tanneries—Fish Wardens Named.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, June 16.—The state department of fisheries, which was created by the last legislature, has begun a crusade against the owners of tanneries in Pennsylania, who permit the refuse from their establishments to flow into the public streams.

Orders have been sent by William E. Meehan, chief of the department, to wardens and constables to report all tannery concerns in which the law of 1876 is being violated. As fast as the names of the owners are being received Mr. Meehan is sending formal notices to them to put in tanks to catch the refuse, under a penalty of $50 for the non-compliance within 30 days.

Mr. Meehan today announced the appointment of George Hamberger of Erie, Frank Flynn, Easton, I. Newton Gillan, Jr. of Landsdale and J. H. Harter of Bellefonte, as fish wardens at a salary of $45 a month, and Anthony Bauer of Wilkesbarre, George D. Shinnon of Philadelphia, William E. Schermerhorn of Tiona, W. E. Houseworth of Selinsgrove, Fred Julian of Emporium, Arthur M. Devall of Coudersport, William Counterman of Shoemakers, Henry Weidman, John L. Cope and Hugh Malloy of Freeman and Charles Durell of Wilkesbarre, as special fish wardens.

Mr. Meehan has also appointed Willard R. Black of Harrisburg, a stenographer in the department, and he will shortly appoint a clerk at a salary of $1,200; two regular wardens at $45 a month each, and a large number of special wardens.

CARVER-POPE WEDDING IN CHURCH AT SHARON

SHARON, PA., June 16.—(Special.)—Miss Mary Carver and Charles Edward Pope of Cleveland, O., were married this evening in St. John's Episcopal church, by the Rev. Frank J. Mallett. The bridesmaids were Miss Carver and Miss Clara Filer, Sharon; Miss Lane and Miss Walker of Pittsburgh. One of the ushers was George L. Collard of Pittsburgh. Mr. Pope is identified with the National Malleable Castings Company of Cleveland.

Killed by a Cave-in.

CANAL DOVER, O., June 16.—(Special.)—One man was killed, one terribly injured and a number of others had a narrow escape from death in a cave-in at the clay banks of the Salem Fire Clay Company at New Cumberstown. The recent rains loosened the clay and it fell, crushing to death Jacob Ley, aged 30, and terribly bruising and breaking the leg of George Limneck, 40 years old, of Fort Washington. Ley leaves a widow and one child.

Impaired Digestion

May not be all that is meant by dyspepsia now, but it will be if neglected.

The uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, sourness of the stomach, and disagreeable belching may not be very bad now, but they will be if the stomach is suffered to grow weaker.

Dyspepsia is such a miserable disease that the tendency to it should be given early attention. This is completely overcome by to make the journey will be greatly diminished, and the delegation will probably consist of a dozen members.

Inquiries in official circles everywhere elicit the assurance that the people are delighted with the action of the government, but conversations overheard in public places indicate that the people, especially those living outside the capital, know little and care little about the trend of national politics. One of the features in all the shop windows now is the display of large pictures of King Peter, freshly printed, the cuts having been brought from abroad. Two peasants were heard discussing one of these prints today. The first asked who it was.

"The new king, Karageorgevitch," replied the second.

"Why did they kill the last king?"

"I don't know. I think he had some trouble with the army."

"Suppose this one has trouble with the army?"

"They will kill him, too," came the unconcerned response.

It is believed the army will try to make secret terms with the new king by which it will retain the supremacy gained by the tragedy, but whether the king will agree to the conditions is uncertain.

One of the highest officials of the present government asked a number of foreign journalists what Europe thought of the way in which the Servian revolution was carried out. He was told bluntly that it was considered a brutal act. He thereupon explained that, from his point of view, the assassination of the king and queen was an act of mercy as by utterly destroying the dynasty instead of deporting the sovereigns the likelihood of a civil war was precluded.

GENOA, June 16.—King Peter expects today that the Servian parliamentary deputation will arrive here Wednesday and according to the present arrangements the departure of the king for Belgrade has been arranged for Thursday.

The czar has telegraphed to King Peter as follows:

Learning that the senate and skupsthina has formally proclaimed you king of Servia, I venture to express to your majesty sincere wishes for the prosperity of your country and the hope that God may come to your assistance in the enterprise you have undertaken for the happiness of your people. NICHOLAS.

LIPTON LEAVES LONDON CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS

LONDON, June 16.—Sir Thomas Lipton's last night in England, prior to his leaving for New York, was signalized by a large dinner at the Carlton hotel given in his honor by George T. Wilson of New York. Sir Thomas Lipton's speech, which was received with great enthusiasm, was full of confidence. "I hope to meet you all when I return," he said, "but with the difference that we shall have that 'blooming old mug' on the table in front of us."

Won Mrs. Roberts' Prize.

BEAVER, PA., June 16.—(Special.)—At the vocal contest in Beaver college tonight for the Mrs. E. P. Roberts' gold medal, presented by E. P. Roberts & Sons of Pittsburgh, Miss Marjorie Wickham of Beaver was the winner. Miss Margaret Secrest of Bridgeport, O., received honorable mention.

Convicted of Patricide.

WHEELING, W. VA., June 16.—(Special.)—Otho Gray, a 16-year-old colored boy, who killed his father, was today found guilty of murder in the second degree. The jury recommended him to the mercy of the court.

LISBON CENTENNIAL OPENS WITH CONCERT

Seventy Voices Sing, Accompanied by Grand Army Orchestra.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

LISBON, O., June 16.—The centennial observance of the settlement of this city opened tonight with a concert of 70 voices, accompanied by the Grand Army orchestra, of Canton.

The town is already in holiday attire, masses of bunting and other patriotic and attractive decorative devices being in evidence everywhere. Tom L. Johnson's big tent, capable of seating 8,000, is pitched not far from the business part of town, handsomely decorated, and equipped with a speakers' stand, together with a spacious floor in the center for the grand ball tomorrow evening.

Wednesday and Thursday will be the two most notable days in the history of Columbiana county. The annual meeting of the Columbiana County Pioneer association will be held in the tent tomorrow morning. A noteworthy feature of the centennial is the display of relics in Curlo hall, which has been established on the public square.

NO CHANGE IN PRICES.

Steel Plate Association at New York Decides to Adhere to Existing Schedule.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(Special.)—The Steel Plate association has concluded a series of meetings here without making any change in prices. It is considered practically certain now that the existing price schedule will be maintained without essential change for the rest of the year at least.

Members of the pool state that there is a slight falling off in large contracts for structural purposes, due largely to labor troubles, but that the demand for small contracts is increasing instead of diminishing. Independent of strikes the demand from large consumers is practically ahead of supply and the surplus stock is not large enough on old contracts to guarantee a store beyond a brief period. Demands for car and shipbuilding are still heavy and for early shipment orders small premiums have to be paid.

Members of the association are: Carnegie Steel Company, Federal Steel, North Bros., Tidewater Steel, Otis Steel, Cambria Steel, Pennsylvania Steel and some smaller concerns.

LYNCHERS THWARTED.

A Strong Guard of Militia Preserves Peace at the Maysville Court.

MAYSVILLE, KY., June 16.—For the first time in the history of Maysville court sits here under the guard of troops. The three negroes charged with assaulting John Farrow and his wife several months ago, were then taken to Covington, Ky., for safe keeping and were brought here today, for trial. More than 5,000 people awaited them and would have lynched them, but for the militia.

The first case called was that of Sanders, who is expected to confess in court as soon as the jury shall be empanelled, which was not completed when court adjourned. Troops are on guard tonight at the court house with a Gatling gun and at the jail with a Hotchkiss gun, while crowds surround both places.

Fatal Accident at Finleyville.

WASHINGTON, PA., June 16.—(Special.)—As a result of the runaway of two cars on the new Pittsburgh, Charleroi & Finleyville street car line, at Finleyville yesterday, Harry Hallam, aged 18, was instantly killed and John Green, colored, aged 20, was so badly injured that he may die.

Part of Bridge Collapsed.

EAU CLAIRE, WIS., June 16.—A section of the Madison street bridge approach went down under the weight of a large crowd of people tonight. Six persons were seriously hurt.

Burgess Keys Tired of Soda Suits.

Burgess Keys of Wilkinsburg last night requested the druggists and those who brought charges against them for selling soda water on Sundays, to settle their differences and let the agitation die out.

MINERS AGREE WITH OPERATORS

Convention's Action Averts a Threatened Strike in the Anthracite Field.

THE ENGINEERS ARE SCORED

Mitchell Says They Have Injured Themselves by Working Seven Days a Week. Increased Wages Coming to the Coal Dealers.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SCRANTON, PA., June 16.—There will be no strike in the anthracite region growing out of the refusal of the operators to recognize the credentials of the district presidents, Nicholls, Fahy and Dettery, selected by the joint executive board of the United Mine Workers as the miners' representatives on the board of conciliation.

The convention of the United Mine Workers today elected the three district presidents by districts as their representatives and the operators, through President George F. Baer of the Reading, announced that this action was satisfactory.

When the miners' convention adjourned Monday afternoon it was for the ostensible purpose of giving the committee on resolutions opportunity to frame a report embodying the sentiment of the convention as expressed in the motions and speeches of Monday afternoon's session. During the night and early this morning, Mr. Connell of the conciliation board on the one hand and President Mitchell on the other, communicated with one another through Dr. Charles P. Neill, who was sent here as a peace envoy by some members of the strike commission, and the result was a tentative agreement that if the miners in three separate district conventions elected representatives, those representatives would not be objected to by the operators.

When the convention opened this morning President Mitchell read the report of the committee on resolutions, providing for the election of conciliators by separate district conventions.

Some delegate moved and some other seconded that the report of the committee on resolutions be adopted. President Mitchell asked if there were any remarks. Not a word came in response. The report was adopted unanimously, but with absolutely no show of enthusiasm.

Delegate Gilday said he thought the resolutions didn't go far enough.

"Let us," said he, "put in some proviso that if they don't recognize these men now, that we will resume the conflict of last year."

"Such a proviso is not necessary," said President Mitchell, "as your representatives, I can tell you, will be recognized."

President Mitchell read a resolution directing that all grievances submitted to the committee on resolutions be turned over to the conciliators. The resolution was adopted.

In answer to an inquiry from one of the delegates, President Mitchell stated that no increase had been forthcoming for May under the provisions of the sliding scale because the "average price" of coal had not advanced to $1.55. The June price, he thought, would reach $1.62, and the miners would have a 2 per cent increase coming to them.

In commenting on a grievance presented by engineers, President Mitchell said: "As far as I can learn, some of the engineers ought not to get anything at all. They were granted a Sunday holiday by the commission, yet they work the seven days as formerly."

The convention elected President Mitchell as the representative of the miners at the hearings before the conciliation board.

A NATION'S NAVY THE REAL POWER

President Roosevelt Makes Significant Remarks at a College Luncheon.

TALKED ON FOREIGN AFFAIRS

After a Brilliant Ovation at the University of Virginia Commencement the Chief Executive Discussed His International Policy—Other Noted Speakers.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., June 16.—President Roosevelt, who was the guest of honor today at the seventy-sixth commencement exercises at the University of Virginia, gave publicly his views about our foreign relations while responding to a toast on "The United States." He advocated a greater navy so that all nations might respect our ability to care for and maintain a government of the distinctively American type.

The president's special train reached here at 11:30 a. m., and he was enthusiastically cheered as he was driven through the town to the university. After the preliminary exercises President Roosevelt made a short address in which he paid high tribute to Virginia and its university. He said in part:

The University of Virginia has stood for much in our national life. You stand for the production of scholarship, for the production of men who are to do work in the world. I feel honored in having given me the chance to speak to you today, and I can now feel that my trip from one ocean to the other is ended, and that I have come at the close to this place so fraught with memories, unforgettable memories for any man who has at all of most joy that an American president can go from one ocean to the other and from the gulf to the Canadian border and everywhere find himself at home among his own people.

At the conclusion of the exercises luncheon was served in the gymnasium, the president responding to a toast on "The United States." He said in part:

I want to say just one word to put in reference to our foreign relations. I want the United States to conduct itself in foreign affairs as you of Virginia believe a private gentleman should conduct himself among his fellows. (Applause.) I ask that we handle ourselves with a view always to wronging the weak and never to submitting to injury from the strong. (Applause.)

Another thing, a gentleman does not boast, bluster, bully, he does not insult others. I do not want us ever as a nation to talk of a policy which we will not back up. I do not want us ever to be untrue. Do not let us assume any position unless we are prepared to say that we have got to keep it. (Applause.)

There is one governmental instrument which is absolutely essential to our well-being from the standpoint of honor as well as from the standpoint of interest of the United States, and that is the navy of the United States. I believe that foreign nations wish us well, most certainly feel that we should, wherever possible, so carry ourselves as to make them continue to wish us well; but I think that the possession of a really first-class navy on our part is a powerful aid in helping them to continue to mean well by us. (Applause.)

I ask that there be no halt in the building up and keeping up of the United States navy, not because I wish war (I most earnestly wish and shall strive for peace), but because such a navy is the surest guarantee of peace, the best insurance against war, and if, which heaven forbid, war should come, the guarantee furthermore that that war shall end, leaving undimmed the record upon which is written the feats of Americans in arms. (Applause.) I ask you for your aid in continuing to build up that navy.

Capital Stock Increased.

DOVER, DEL., June 16.—(Special.)—The Gold Chariot Mining Company of Pittsburgh, which filed a certificate of incorporation here a year ago, today filed an amendment to the same by increasing the capital stock from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000. The incorporators are James McKnight, W. A. Magee of Pittsburgh and Gardner W. Kimball, Wilmington, Del.

Pianos Going Fast —AT— Hamilton's Sale

Nearly every instrument in Hamilton's splendid stock has been reduced in price for this sale. Prices have been cut deeply, away below the profit line. We simply have to make room for the two hundred high grade pianos we bought from a retiring manufacturer and which will shortly be shipped to us. Of course we received big price concessions on these instruments, but we are obliged to accept immediate delivery and they will have to displace a lot of our present stock.

That's why we have made prices so interesting that no one who is thinking of buying a piano can afford to let this opportunity pass.

This is not an ordinary piano sale.

The instruments that are being sacrificed are of widely known standard makes. We are selling new pianos, fresh from the factory—pianos whose name and value are known to everybody, at clearance prices. Among them are Smith & Barnes, Hamilton, Strohber, Willard, New England, Cable & Sons, Bladie, Langmann, McPhail (used), Schumann, Fischer and others.

Prices are $165, $120, $195, $210, $230, $260, $300 and $340.

The regular prices of these pianos range from $250 to $800.

Easy terms of payment will be arranged if desired. You may pay $25 cash and the balance at the rate of $10 a month on any of the pianos mentioned.

Several Grand Pianos.

Included in this sale are a number of baby grand pianos—both Fischer and A. B. Chase. Prices range from $385 up. They have all been used more or less. One of them has been used for four seasons; all the others for a shorter time. But all are in perfect condition. There is a variety of finish, including mahogany, oak, etc. As for the quality of these instruments it is enough to repeat that they are the product of the A. B. Chase and Fischer factories.

By all means come in and see how much money you can save by buying a piano at this sale. If it is not convenient to call send your name and address and we will send you detailed information.

LAWYERS URGING BROWN TO RUN

Many Members of Bar Association Petition Him to Run for Sheriff.

HE IS M'KINLEYS CHIEF CLERK

Has Been Connected With the Office for Twenty-one Years and Is Familiar With the Many Duties That Is Connected With the Position.

Many of the members of the Allegheny County Bar association have signed a petition requesting John Campbell Brown to become a candidate for sheriff. He is the present chief clerk under Sheriff W. C. McKinley.

So far the petition has been signed by over 300 of the members of the bar. It is headed by D. T. Watson and nearly all of the leading lawyers have signed it. Noah W. Shafer and C. C. Dickey are the promoters of the plan. They put the paper in circulation without the knowledge of Mr. Brown. Republicans, Democrats and Citizens have freely pledged their support.

Mr. Brown is asked to be a candidate for sheriff on any ticket that he desires, and the signers of the petition are pledged to support him. The formal presentation of the paper will occur the latter part of the week. Until then Mr. Brown does not feel at liberty to talk about his plans.

BUSINESS MEN ALSO FOR HIM.

In addition to the lawyers, a number of prominent business men have urged Mr. Brown to become a candidate. For 21 years he has been connected with the sheriff's office and the attorneys agree that he has a better knowledge of the law and practice pertaining to the office than they have. Frequently he is called into the courts and it is rare that the judges place him under oath before taking his statement.

Mr. Brown has always been a Republican. Whether or not he will seek a nomination on the Republican ticket is for the future to decide. Until the petition is formally brought to his attention, he hesitates to talk of his intentions.

Mr. Brown was born and raised in the South Side and lived there until three years ago, when he moved to the Nineteenth ward, where he now resides in Euclid avenue. He is a man in middle life. His long service in the sheriff's office, in various capacities, has brought him in contact with many people. They are all his friends, as he has always been courteous with the patrons of the office.

INTO A HORNET'S NEST.

Thomas S. Bigelow yesterday aroused the Sixth legislative district representative at a meeting of the old county committee. The head of the Citizens party remarked that the members should be grateful for the good work done by the Citizens county officials. This was too much for W. H. Muncey, who declared: "I cannot go along with that proposition. I want to register a protest and say that I am sorry for the work I did for these men. There were three of them who were not deserving of the offices they got."

James J. Booth explained the Fourteenth ward troubles. In an interview after the meeting he said that he thought W. H. Stevenson could not be re-elected a member of common council. Booth says Stevenson is planning to get a nomination on the Republican ticket. He also charges that Stevenson and W. J. Moore are trying to turn the Citizens party in the ward over to the municipal league.

When Stevenson was shown the Booth interview, he remarked, "Life is too short to talk about Bellicose Booth."

Bigelow says that there is no trouble in the Fourteenth ward.

The new Citizens party county committee will be organized this morning. Murry A. Verner will be elected chairman.

NEW NEGRO CLUB.

Colored Voters' Industrial and Political Union is Formed.

Thirty-five negroes gathered in the Franklin school house last night, and after two hours of oratory organized the Colored Voters' Industrial and Political union. The trouble grew out of the desire of every one at the meeting to be an official. During the course of the debate "Ajax" Jones announced that he was 56 years and two hours old and life was getting too short to fight "coons." Another colored gentleman accused an aspirant for the presidency with having sold his honor for 50 cents.

These officers were elected: John M. Clark, president; C. H. O'Donnell and "Ajax" Jones, vice-presidents; B. H. Brown, secretary and treasurer.

NEW MEMBERS ADDED AT ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting and reunion of the promoters of the League of St. Paul of the Cross for spreading the Catholic faith among non-Catholics, was held yesterday in the monastery church, Mt. Oliver. A solemn high mass was celebrated for the promoters and the living and dead members of the league. A sermon was delivered by the Rev. Father Michael, rector of the Church of St. Paul of the Cross. He gave an interesting review of the work accomplished during the past year. A number of members were enrolled.

Embarrassed on His Wedding Day.

On the eve of his marriage, William F. Helms of Allegheny was committed to jail last night by Alderman William Lang, for the larceny of a ring from Ray Young, who alleged in her information that she gave Helms the ring to keep for her, and that he refused to return it. Helms was much worried when a marriage license was found on him when searched at the jail. Later a friend appeared with bail and Helms was released. He returned to Allegheny in search of his promised bride, whom he was to marry yesterday.

To Make an Inspection.

The officers of the American Sheet Steel Company will pay a visit of inspection to the Dewees Wood plant, at McKeesport, this morning, prior to the extensive improvements that have been planned. It was expected that Charles M. Schwab would be in the party, but recent developments in the east concerning the United States Shipbuilding Company will prevent his being there. It has been planned to entirely reconstruct the old plant by the erection of new and modern buildings and the installation of additional machinery.

W. U. P. SENDS MORE GRADUATES

Large Crowd Witnessed Commencement Exercises at Carnegie Music Hall.

DEGREES WERE CONFERRED

Portraits of Famous Men Identified With the University Presented by Unknown Donors —The Award of the Special Prizes.

The commencement exercises of the collegiate, legal and engineering departments of the Western university of Pennsylvania were held last night in the Pittsburgh Carnegie music hall. The hall was crowded with parents, relatives and friends of the graduates.

The invocation was delivered by the Rev. Dr. John Crockar White, and the salutatory was by Miss Bertha Schuck. Portraits of the Rev. John Black, D. D., Judge Daniel Agnew and William Thaw, given by donors who do not wish their names made known, were presented. Dr. J. H. McClelland, a grandson of Dr. Black, made the address in presenting the Black portrait. He gave a brief history of his grandfather, who was pastor of the First Reformed Presbyterian church for 50 years, and was a member of the faculty of the Western University. Attorney W. H. S. Thomson presented the portrait of the late Chief Justice Agnew, an early graduate of the university. The portrait of William Thaw was presented by the Rev. Dr. Matthew B. Riddle. Mr. Thaw, Dr. Riddle reminded the audience, had given the university large sums of money.

The degrees were conferred by Acting Chancellor John A. Brashear, who called up each class in turn to receive the diplomas. Adam Stein, Jr., delivered an address on modern engineering, and Miss Mabel E. Morrow delivered the valedictory. The following are the recipients of degrees:

Bachelor of arts—Hugh Arthur, John Calvin Dietz, John Hammon, Jr., James Garfield Houston, Mabel Elizabeth Morrow, Bertha Charlotte Schuck, Louisa Mary Smith.

Bachelor of philosophy—Florence Irene Donahey, Harry Egbert Mall, Ralph Woodford Perry.

Civil engineer—Willis Boothe, Thomas Howard Brown, Frederick Thomas Fitzharris, Norman Dravo McCutcheon, George Guy Todd, George Fulton Turner, Charles West Waggoner.

Mechanical engineer—Edward Tudor Edwards, Emil Bieler Guenther, David Mathison Hogg, Harry Frederick Wahr, Charles Cecil Warne.

Electrical engineer—Samuel Renwick Dodds, Adam Stein, Jr., Winthrop Sargent Worcester.

Certificate of proficiency in chemistry—James Edgar Biggins.

Master of philosophy—Joseph Edward Calvert, Ph. B., 1900.

Doctor of philosophy—Lorain Fortney, A. B., LL. B., University of West Virginia.

Bachelor of laws—Joseph Henry Bialas, George Calvert Bradshaw, Nicholas Eltenhouse Criss, Robert James Dodds, Bernard Friedman, William Harrison Gastelger, Richard Hays Hawkins, Ph. B., Yale, 1900; Joseph Hall Hill, B. S., Princeton, 1900; Frank Washington Jarvis, B. S., Princeton, 1900; Dale Crawford Jennings, A. B., Yale, 1900; Augustine Martin Kossler, A. B., Pittsburgh College of the Holy Ghost, 1900; John Edgard Laughlin, A. B., Georgetown, 1900; William Ludlum Miller, B. S., Princeton, 1900; Samuel John McKim, A. B., Westminster, 1900; William Wallace Patterson, B. S., Cornell, 1900; Louis John Portman, William McIlwain Robinson, A. B., Princeton, 1900; David Aiken Reed, A. B., Princeton, 1900; Philip Brennen Reilly, A. B., Fordham, 1900; William Alexander Seifert, A. B., Washington and Jefferson, 1900; William Bell Secrist, A. B., Allegheny, 1900; William Huston Thompson, A. B., Princeton, 1900; Henry Bormetrigger Wassel, Ph. B., Bucknell, 1900; Thomas Watson, A. B., Yale, 1900; James Edward Hindman.

The honorary degrees conferred were as follows: Doctor of science, William Harrison Ashmead, assistant curator United States National museum, and Samuel Wesley Stratton, director United States National Bureau of Standards; Doctor of laws, James Callam Gray, vice dean Pittsburgh Law school, Western University of Pennsylvania.

Two sets of prizes were awarded: The chancellor's prizes in English literature, for the best general average in the sophmore and freshman years, went to Paul Coleman of the sophmore class and William Charles Reuter and Edward Kuhn Price of the freshman class. The senior prizes are based on the work done during the last three years of the course. These were awarded as follows: Classical, first, Mabel Elizabeth Morrow; second, Bertha Charlotte Shuck. Scientific, first, Florence Irene Donahey; second, Harry Egbert Mall. Engineering, first, Adam Stein, Jr.; second, Charles Cecil Ware.

"CRUCIBLE," A HISTORIC NAME CHOSEN FOR CLUB

Yale Professor, Guest of Acting Chancellor Brashear, Tells Origin of the Word.

"Crucible club" will be the name of the new social organization started so successfully at the Union club two weeks ago. With the formal adoption of the name its origin and significance have been discovered and add greatly to the value of the title.

Prof. Hasting of Yale university, who has been visiting Acting Chancellor John A. Brashear of the Western university, the president of the club, was told of the organization and the name that had been proposed, "Crucible." He said at once, "That is a good name. It has its origin in the days of the alchemists. The vessels in which they sought to work out by experiment that happy compound which would produce gold were marked with a cross, in Latin, 'crux.' The purpose of the cross was of course religious—to keep out the evil spirit and to welcome the good. From this mark 'crucible' sprang and it has come to be applied generally to the pots in which chemical compositions are made."

The new club will likely have three meetings yearly. The next meetings will be in October.

To Wipe Out Negley's Run.

A movement has been inaugurated in the East End board of trade to buy Negley's run, make a park of it and thus rid the East End of its only objectionable district. At a meeting of the board on Monday night W. S. Wakefield, in the absence of Homer Castle, read the report of the committee appointed by the board to investigate the district.

BOYS AND GIRLS' PICNIC HANGS IN THE BALANCE

Thirteenth Ward School Directors Disagree, and 400 Children May Suffer—MacMullen Wants the Citizens to Act.

Unless the school directors of the Thirteenth ward get together some time this week the 400 school children of the ward will be deprived of their annual picnic. John Conley and his adherents on the board refuse to recognize Anthony MacMullen as the president of the board, and MacMullen refuses to arrange for the picnic until the school directors recognize him.

A meeting was held yesterday to organize the board. There were present MacMullen, James Fallon, James Murray, James Mullaney and Patrick Hopkins. The first three claim that MacMullen was elected president of the board at their meeting on June 10, while the latter two claim that John Conley was elected, and refused to recognize MacMullen, so the meeting was adjourned.

The first meeting of the board for organization purposes was held on June 9. Twenty-six ballots were taken and when the last ballot was read the Conleyites claimed that their man had received four votes to MacMullen's two. This was contested, and it was impossible to take another ballot, so the meeting adjourned long after midnight. After that the Conleyites claimed Conley's election by a vote of 4 to 2.

To offset this MacMullen yesterday took Fallon and Murray before Alderman F. M. King on the South Side, and they both made affidavits in which they said that they had consistently voted for MacMullen throughout the entire balloting. As MacMullen voted for himself, his followers claim that Conley was never elected at any stage.

On the night following the long balloting another meeting was held at which Conley was absent. His two followers on the board were present and a vote was taken. There were three votes recorded for MacMullen and the two other directors, who were in a hopeless minority, refused to vote. The MacMullenites claim the election of MacMullen by parliamentary rules and the Conleyites say there has been no election.

Meanwhile the picnic of the South Side school children is in jeopardy. Last January Aliquippa park was secured for Tuesday, June 23, for the Thirteenth ward school children. Arrangements must be made for their outing this week. MacMullen will not make any move unless the other members of the board concur with him. From all appearances they will not do so. MacMullen stated last night that he is in favor of having the citizens of the ward take the school directors into court to decide who is president of the board, so that the children will not be deprived of their picnic.

DAVIDSON IS BANKER OF HOME TRUST COMPANY

Secretary of Real Estate Trust Company Resigns to Go With the New Enterprise.

Announcement was made yesterday that R. J. Davidson is the second vice president of the new Home Trust Company. Mr. Davidson yesterday presented his resignation as secretary of the Real Estate Trust Company to the board of directors. It was accepted and he will enter upon his new duties with the Home Trust Company about July 1.

In his new position Mr. Davidson will be the active banking head of the company. He has held with the Real Estate Trust Company a position of much the same character.

R. J. DAVIDSON.

Mr. Davidson entered the banking business when hardly more than a boy with the banking firm of G. S. Barker & Co., of New Brighton. He went then to the First National bank of Rochester. He became next cashier of the Coraopolis National bank. From there he went to the Farmers and Producers National bank of Sisterville, W. Va. In October, 1900, upon the organization of the Real Estate Trust Company of Pittsburgh he was chosen secretary of that company and has remained in that capacity until now. He is still a young man.

ONE ON SCAFFOLD KILLED.

Edward Beerman, a Wilkinsburg Painter, Fell 35 Feet—The Coroner's Cases.

Edward Beerman of No. 309 West street, Wilkinsburg, was killed yesterday by a rope of a scaffold breaking. His fellow workman, Frederick Allen, had a narrow escape from death. They fell about 35 feet below. Allen saved himself by grabbing hold of the rope with one hand and catching the roof of the building with the other, drawing himself upon it. Beerman was 26 years of age and married, and lived in Wilkinsburg for two years. He came from Butler.

The inquest in the death of Mary Mucenska, who was shot and killed by Albert Dobrydnio at No. 150 Plus street, South Side, on May 28, was held yesterday and the coroner's jury recommended that Dobrydnio be held for murder.

The inquest in the death of Fred R. Collins, who was found dead at Center avenue and Aliquippa street on April 7, will not be held Thursday. Coroner Jesse M. Mcgeary said yesterday afternoon that he had been asked to postpone the inquest for several weeks. Coroner McGeary said the detectives are looking for several witnesses they have been unsuccessful in locating.

Andrew Thomson, aged 36, a clerk of No. 101 East Robinson street, Allegheny, died at St. Francis hospital at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He had been taken there five hours before and the hospital report to the coroner gave the cause of death to be acute alcoholism.

Lorenzo Pinto, an Italian, 34 years old, of Port Perry, who was stabbed in an altercation with Guiseppe Di Renzo, also an Italian, a municipal "white wing," in Webster avenue Saturday night, died at the Homeopathic hospital yesterday morning from his injuries. Pinto was wounded three times in the abdomen. His assailant is in jail. Pinto was married and his widow and two children will arrive in this country from Italy Saturday.

Frightened by Mad Dog.

Scores of wedding guests on their way from the White-Savage wedding at St. Peter's Roman Catholic church, McKeesport, yesterday, were badly frightened by the appearance of a large white dog barking furiously and frothing at the mouth. Chief of Police Louis E. Rotsch, thinking the dog was mad, shot him.

Likely to Be Murder.

In an altercation over a woman Steven Johnson of No. 20 Scott street received a blow in the head with a wrench that fractured his skull and he is now lying in the Mercy hospital in a serious condition. It is alleged the blow was struck by Samuel Rodgers of No. 18 Scott street. Both men are colored and were intoxicated when their quarrel occurred. The fight attracted the attention of Quarantine Officer Harry Levi, who in his excitement pulled the fire alarm instead of the police call. The physicians say Johnston will die. Rodgers escaped.

The June Bride---Some of Her Belongings---Some Suggestions for Gifts to Her.

For the bride there is everything that the bridal trousseau should contain, from the daintiest of slippers to the most exquisite Paris hat. Those are the facts in a nutshell. Specifically we desire to call attention to French Lingerie for the Bridal Trousseau.

The tasteful, refined styles, and the artistic needlework of these dainty French garments, which, personally selected in Paris, are causing them to be appreciated this season more than ever, as essentials in the trousseaux of June brides.

Our lines have been chosen with great care. To show the extensive variety in these hand-made French garments we quote—

Nightrobes, hand-embroidered, $1.75, $2.75, $3.50; hand-made, exquisitely trimmed with lace, $3.75, $4.75, $5 and by easy gradation up to $75.

Petticoats, hand-made and hand-embroidered, $4.50, $4.75, $6.50; delightfully trimmed in many different ways with lace, $7, $8, $9 and on up to $65.

Corset Covers, daintily trimmed with hand-embroidery and laces, $1.75, $2.50, $2.75, $3.75, $4.25 and up to $25.

Chemises, either hand-embroidered or trimmed with lace, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2.25, $2.50 and up to $35.

Drawers; hand-made, $1.25, $1.75, $2.25, $2.50, $2.75, $3 and up to $21.50.

For making the bridal trousseau exceptionally complete we have fine French sets comprising nightgowns, chemise and drawers, each set more or less elaborately trimmed, according to the price, $23, $25.50, $30 and up to $175.

The materials employed in the making of the foregoing handsome garments are nainsook, batiste and linen, with such lace trimmings as real Valenciennes, Cluny, Torchon and Point de Paris.

Gifts for the June Bride.

Potteries and Art Wares are always commendable. Our third floor is brilliant with rich specimens of Pottery, Bronze, Marble and fine Porcelains. Their artistic and varied individuality is made to reflect almost equally the donor, the recipient and the artist who produced them. This quality adds equally to their significance and value for gift purposes.

Candelabra are very suggestive gift pieces—combining the ornamental as well as the useful.

On the third floor there are candelabra of brass, of bronze, of Austrian glass and of cut glass. There are, also, candlesticks of very artistic wares. At the Silver counter, main floor, there are Candelabra and Candlesticks of the less expensive silver-plated ware.

Women's Rough Straw Sailors, 50c Each.

If you bought them for $1 you would be getting an undoubted bargain.

New Rough Straw Sailors with broad brims, just arrived at the department yesterday afternoon. All white—all black.

The jauntiest runabout hat that a women can wear—extra good and very cheap. Ready this morning, Millinery Department, third floor.

Linen Robes, $7.50 Each.

Former prices $15 and up to $25.

There are just 20 of them—white embroidered and appliqued on such plain color grounds as natural linen, navy, gobelin, reseda and black.

The sale today is in Fifth St. cross aisle.

Wash Goods, Basement.

One of the most prominent special sales today is in the Basement—that of a great lot of fine wash goods bought in New York last week for great concessions and sold the same way.

In buying these goods it must be remembered that they are fine weaves and our prices for them are just about what you would pay for the common run of such goods.

7½c a yard, selling regularly for 15c. 1,225 yards of fine Printed Madras, a splendid fabric for outing suits.

12½c a yard, selling regularly for 18c. 1,250 yards of plain black fancy weave Batiste. The color of this is an indelible black.

12½c a yard, selling regularly for 25c. 2,100 yards of fine Madras Gingham.

12½c a yard, selling regularly for 15c and 18c. 2,000 yards of wash fabrics in fancy weaves, consisting of Batiste, fine French Lawns and drop stitch effects.

18c a yard, selling regularly for 30c and 35c. 1,250 yards of Silk Organdie, fancy striped Organdie and mercerized Batiste.

25c a yard, selling regularly for 50c and 60c. 1,000 yards of fine Swiss Plumetis. As this goods is 45 inches wide, 7 yards are sufficient for a dress pattern.

Light Weight Black Dress Goods. Reduced Prices.

Substantial reductions, seeing that the goods are black, and that it is very seldom they come into the clean-up time. Black is always staple.

50c a yard, reduced from 75c—50-inch wide Black Mohair. A rich and lustrous weave and a material that every woman has many uses for.

75c a yard, reduced from $1—50-inch wide Canvas Etamine, a light and airy weave. Nothing like it for Summer wear.

75c a yard, reduced from $1—50-inch wide Black Cheviot. Now the name suggests something heavy, but this is a very light weight, prepared expressly for Summer wear.

Anderson's Scotch Materials and Their Less Prices.

As a matter of course, the announcement that the famous weaves of D. & J. Anderson, the noted Scotch manufacturers, would be sold at our imported wash goods counter, beginning yesterday morning, for much less than customary prices, naturally created the liveliest of interest in that section of the main floor.

The collection is not of the handful order, but large enough to suit everyone who likes plenty of variety.

D. & J. Anderson's splendid Zephyr Ginghams and Madras, styles selling regularly for 40c and 45c a yard, sold here yesterday as fast as they could be cut from the piece for 25c a yard. Excellent choosing for today.

D. & J. Anderson's fine Scotch Madras—woven figures, borders and Persian stripes—selling regularly for 65c a yard and up to $1.25, sold here yesterday at a lively rate for 50c a yard. There will be good choosing today.

Handsome Hosiery.

The Stocking Store, main floor, is just in receipt of new lines of women's and children's Black Lisle Stockings in embroidered and open-work effects; also Gray and White Lisle Stockings, with similar designs, and a special number in black with white polka dots. The prices are 25c, 50c, 75c, $1 and on to $2 a pair.

By way of a special at 18c a pair, worth 25c, the following are announced: Women's black German lisle Stockings, open work and embroidery; children's black lace and white lace Stockings.

Clean Your Panama for $1.

Maybe you have forgotten that last Summer we cleaned Panama hats—as a matter of fact we introduce something of a revelation in the cleaning of Panama and all other straw hats. Ready for you now—quick work—and good.

Telephone or leave orders at Glove counter.

Other than Panama Hats don't cost so much to be cleaned, 50c.

Wednesday, June 17, 1903.

Blair Scott of Portland, Ore., is an observant gentleman. Returning home from a tour of the east, he has submitted to an interview in which he says Pittsburgh is the most progressive city in the country. He found here every evidence of prosperity, energy and expansion and predicts for the city a magnificent future. Compared with Pittsburgh, Mr. Scott said, the other cities he visited appeared quiet, for here everything was going under tremendous pressure. It is gratifying to have Portland thus enlightened upon an important subject, and when Mr. Scott comes here again he shall have the freedom of the city.

An important meeting of the corporations committee of councils is scheduled for today. The business to be considered is the ordinances of the Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio railroads, affecting the elevated road in Duquesne way and the new passenger depot at Water and Smithfield streets. Both are desirable improvements and the franchises should be granted on fair terms. By fair terms we mean that just compensation should accrue to the city for the privileges to be granted, the amount of that compensation having been fully discusssed in the columns of The Gazette at previous times when the subject was under discussion. The corporations committee should see that such compensation is included before recommending the ordinances for passage.

A terrible account is that of the killing and maiming on the railroads of the United States. Last year 73,250—8,588 killed and 64,662 injured. Not a large proportion of the total were passengers. The majority of those killed were neither passengers nor employes, but the foolhardy people who persist in getting upon railroad tracks in front of the locomotive. The majority of the injured were employes, the death list in that section being smaller since the general introduction of train brakes, automatic couplers and side rods on freight cars. To prevent the largest loss of life the remedy will be to fence in every foot of railroad and to impose heavy fines upon all persons who trespass upon the right of way. That measure will cost something, but it will be less expensive than providing funerals for the victims who walk the tracks.

It is not surprising to have the news from Servia that the new king can be nothing more than a figurehead—a puppet in the hands of the military conspirators who assassinated his predecessor. King Peter has few personal adherents in his country. The army is powerful. The military leaders are wholly unscrupulous, and if the new king should show a disposition to control affairs, as Alexander did, would have no hesitancy about ordering Peter's removal by the same means that were employed in Alexander's case. It has been generally conceded that King Alexander and Queen Draga were a bad pair, but there is ample reason to believe the military oligarchy in control is much worse. It is a pity the state cannot be ruled by one of the European powers, but their jealousy of each other forbids, and the military conspirators at Belgrade have taken full advantage of the fact. There will be more trouble when they cease to agree among themselves.

Our old friend, Bourke Cockran, who has treated the British lion's tail to many a twist in his time, was given a hearty welcome at a banquet on Saturday evening by the Irish members of parliament, at which, we are informed, he endeavored to enlighten his hosts as to the iniquity of protection, with special reference, of course, to Mr. Chamberlain's proposition. Inasmuch as millions of Irishmen are prospering in the United States as a result of the opportunities given them by the American policy of protection, and inasmuch as it has been a favorite thought among Irish home rulers when home rule is attained to give protection to Irish industries, it is something after the nature of sweet bells jangling out of tune for Mr. Cockran to sit at table with the Irish Nationalists and extol what has been termed "the British system." It seems to have been all taken in good part, however, but that was probably out of pure love for "our Bourke," who is fully as eloquent and entertaining when he is wrong, which is often, as when he is right, which is seldom.

A story that has had extensive circulation in the press pertains to investigations made by Profs. Bumstead and Wheeler, under the direction of Prof. J. J. Thomson of Cambridge university, to discover the relation of radio-activity and water. The item contained little that is new, but flourished a sensational and wholly unwarranted suggestion that the experiments were leading toward the derivation of commercial power from the radio-activity of water. Nothing could be more nonsensical. It has been known for months that freshly precipitated rain is appreciably radio-active, and one of the attaches of the Washington weather bureau determined that newly fallen snow has the same property. Rain water soon loses its radio-activity, and that fact led to the supposition that the radio-activity was obtained from the air. The scientists who are working in New England have learned that water from a well 1,500 feet deep is radio-active and also that water from a large reservoir has the property. Their discovery has no connection with commercial projects, but is in the domain of pure science. Many substances are mildly radio-active, apparently, and knowledge of the fact is valuable in the study of unexplained phenomena, but not in the production of light, heat and power.

The Hungarian Crisis.

Premier Szell announced his resignation to the Hungarian diet yesterday and requested an adjournment until a new cabinet could be formed. This crisis has been long pending. The opposition to the Szell government has created uproar and riot in the chamber on many occasions, the kernel of the matter being Hungarian opposition to Austrian or Germanic domination. The bone of contention that has finally caused the downfall of the cabinet has been the army bill, and is part of the struggle to extort from Austria military concessions. Hungary wants to develop a thoroughly national army and to break loose from Austrian tutelage. It began the same way in 1848, and to carry out the analogy the Croatians have risen in revolt against Hungary, just as they did in 1848, when, if they did not save, they at least improved the Austrian position.

Apparently the Croatian movement has been well thought out. The leaders have perceived clearly the antagonism between Hungary and Austria and have seized the opportunity to strike in resentment against the domineering attitude of the Magyars toward the Slavish peoples. They have probably not counted upon any active assistance from Vienna, but it is reasonable to suppose they felt sure of a sort of benevolent neutrality in that quarter. They have certainly increased the difficulty of the Hungarian predicament, and it may be assumed have contributed to the downfall of the Szell ministry.

The end is not yet. Austrian politicians who had counted upon the Crostian uprising to frighten the Magyars into dropping opposition to the budget and military bills failed to take account of the obstinate disposition of the Hungarian. So far from capitulating, his suspicion that Austria may have encouraged the Croatian revolt made him more determined than ever to defeat the budget and military bills and prevent renewal of the Ausgleich, or agreement with Austria. Premier Szell's resignation has been forced as a punishment for his attempt to govern without a budget, and as the Croatian revolt grows the feeling becomes more bitter. Ultimately the whole Austro-Hungarian empire may be involved in war. Croatia and the Slavs in general will never be satisfied until they obtain at least financial independence of Hungary, and the Magyars will not be content with less than industrial independence of Austria. Really the situation in Austro-Hungary is hardly less threatening than that in the adjacent turbulent Balkan states.

The Law and the People.

The case of the city administration against the old soldier (that is its real aspect, though its form in the courts is the old soldier vs. the mayor) is apparently vested in whole or in part on the provision of section 4, article 6 of the state constitution, that "appointed officers, other than judges of the courts of record and the superintendent of public instruction, may be removed at the pleasure of the power by which they have been appointed." Of course, if this constitutional provision is held to apply the old soldiers are out and the mayor is exempt from punishment under the statutes. Also, if it applies any and all employes of the city "may be removed at the pleasure of the power that appointed them," regardless of civil service provisions made and provided by statute or by ordinance. As the city solicitor interprets the constitution, the law of the mayor's relations with city employes is all under the mayor's hat. As it was with the German justice of the peace, so it will be with his honor, that "dose pooks is not the law; I am the law," with emphasis on the personal pronoun. If the statute for the protection of the old soldier in the service of the people fails before the quoted provision of the fourth section of the sixth article of the constitution, the relations of honorably discharged veterans of the civil war with the city administration are those the mayor assured them to be when the names of almost a full company of them were rubbed from the payroll, but how that can relieve the administration of the odium of the transaction is not yet apparent. If the statute fails and there remains only the constitution, it is to be noted that the constitution does not declare that the appointing power shall remove, but may remove at pleasure. If the people had not seen virtue in the preference in public employment given to the old soldiers the statute would not have been enacted. It was the pleasure of the people that the veterans be protected, if it be the pleasure of the appointing power to remove them the circumstance that the constitution sanctions removal, while it nullifies the will of the people, does not render it non-existent. It remains something to be reckoned with, and it depends wholly on the public interest in the welfare of the saviors of the union whether the case in the courts shall be superseded in the public forum by the case of the people vs. the power that removes old soldiers from office at its pleasure.

As has been said before, the question is more than a mere matter of interpretation of either statute or constitution. It is a question of public policy and of the moral obligations of the public, not a question of the power to do, but of the higher duty of the public to men who served it in the smoke and flame of battle. If the public feels that it owes such a duty to these men it will not feel that it has been well served by its agents who turn aside from its fulfillment. The constitution and the laws which, if they do not compel the retention of the old soldier in office, do not forbid it, require and make mandatory many things that are neglected. It would be better, perhaps, to be diligent and attentive to these than to spend time searching the constitution for authority to snap administration fingers at statutes in regulation of the civil service that are designed to keep out politics and partisanship.

A Strike Averted.

The action of the miners' convention at Scranton yesterday removes all present fear of another strike in the anthracite coal fields. The convention, under the guidance and through the counsel of John Mitchell, adopted resolutions which dispose effectively of the disputed question concerning the appointment of members of the conciliation board. It will be recalled that the recent coal strike commission, created by President Roosevelt, provided for a conciliation committee, three members to be selected by the various unions in the coal fields, to which questions were to be submitted. When the time came to create this board the coal operators objected to the manner of selection by the miners. The hitch in the proceedings toward an amicable adjustment of the difficulties after the plans laid down by the coal commission threatened at one time to reopen the whole difficulty and precipitate another lockout. Happily this result has been averted by the action of the Scranton convention, despite its unfavorable aspect on Monday, which unanimously adopted resolutions providing that each district should vote separately on the election of representatives on the conciliation board. The convention passed another resolution which will go far toward preventing a recurrence of the troubles that have arisen over the terms of the coal commission's findings. It provides that hereafter all grievances arising on either side shall not be debated by the parties thereto, but shall be passed over immediately to the conciliation board.

This action of the miners' convention would seem to remove all the obstacles in the way of giving the plans devised by the coal commission a fair and impartial trial. Its adjustment of the threatened difficulties must be credited to the sound advice of President John Mitchell, who steered the meeting into practical and useful channels. This is not the first instance, but one of the most conspicuous, which proves that John Mitchell is the right man in the right place. Another strike at this time and when there is so much friction among labor unions in other branches of trade might have led to consequences of disastrous character. That unionism has blundered fearfully in some particulars during the troubles this spring is shown by the fact that even its strongest defenders, like Clarence Darrow of Chicago, are asking questions and making prophecies as to its ultimate shipwreck. The action of the Scranton convention is doubly gratifying, showing that the wisest counsel within the ranks of unionism is disposed to steer it away from the rocks and shoals that seem to threaten its stability.

Odd Election System.

Germany's new election law was put into operation yesterday and results are said to be favorable to the Socialists. The new law is an adaptation of the Australian system in the method of voting, but whatever of merit it might have is nullified by the ludicrous system of registration that obtains under other laws, which permit an elector to vote in any district where he happens to be on election day.

For example, a commercial traveler from western Germany, who finds himself in an eastern province on election day needs only to prove his qualification for voting at home to be accorded the privilege of voting where he is. This laxity is naturally taken advantage of by sending voters from sure districts into doubtful districts to vote. In ordinary practice the colonizing is done two or three weeks in advance to get the electors on the polling list, since rushing them in on the day before election in large numbers is likely to cause discussion, and it is within the power of the reichstag in any case to order a new election.

In the election of yesterday the reports say the new method of voting proved very satisfactory. There was no delay at the booths. Voters understood the marking of their ballots and were expeditious in doing so. But it is charged the Socialists sent many electors from their strongholds in Berlin to districts outside where there was a chance to win. This action was probably the cause of the "Socialist gains" reported from the early returns. To the American mind this feature of the German election laws cannot fail to appear ridiculous. Colonizing and repeating are perpetrated in our elections, despite the infliction of severe penalties when the crime is detected. If such things were openly allowed, as they are under the German system, there would certainly be heavy emigration from Pennsylvania to New York and Maryland just before important elections, and from Texas and other southern states to Kansas, Colorado, Indiana, Illinois or Ohio. We do not believe German elections can be very accurate indications of local sentiment.

A Better Way.

A man likes to know something about the thumb that is stuck in his soup plate. Similarly he may like to have information concerning the means used to moisten the label that is stuck on his loaf of bread. Better still, he may prefer to take his bread without a label, and then he will not be disturbed with thoughts of the moistening process to which the label may have been subjected to make it adhere. A reported demand on the part of the journeymen bakers that every loaf of bread shall wear an adhesive label as proof that it is the finished product of a bakery that employs union labor exclusively brings up this subject. There have been strikes, it is said, at some of the small bakeries because of the reluctance of the owners to use the label. The objection of these people is to the character and meaning of the label, perhaps, but the consuming public may have another objection. It is aware of the popular method of treating a postage stamp to make it adhere, and with malice toward none and charity for all it would rather have its bread plain and undecorated than bearing on its surface anything suggestive of postage stamp treatment. Can't this thing be compromised? If bread must be marked to show that it is union bread, why not stamp it in the mold, as it were? The manufacturers of crackers and biscuits send them out with an impress made in the bakery. If our bread must be marked to show that it is union made, let it be done with fire. Before the bakers' union makes an issue of this thing let it consider it in all its bearings and devise a plan that will shun even the appearance of evil while achieving the end sought.

LIPTON'S NEW RACER.

Sir Thomas Lipton's latest thing in the yacht line has arrived at New York, and that it is a pretty good sample of the British designer's art is well recognized by this time. The coming of Shamrock III. begins to bring home the fact that very soon the America's cup will again be in the balance, and it will be awarded the best yacht after the races have been sailed. The past week or two have given the people on this side great confidence in the Reliance, and, whatever may be the merits of Shamrock III., the belief is general here that the Reliance is a better vessel. Its victories over the Columbia and the Constitution have been so decisive that it appears that the rate of progression in American shipbuilding has been maintained, allowing even for the slipup two years ago, when it seemed that the Constitution did not show the superiority it was expected to have over the Colombia. That the races will be closely contested goes without saying, and at this early date the only thing to say is, may the best boat win!—Baltimore News.

+ + + +

The Shamrock is said to be a fine boat and a marked improvement over her predecessor. Sir Thomas expresses great confidence in her qualifications as a cup lifter, and the English press, although rather chary, owing to past experiences, of making any boasts, adopts a generally hopeful tone in commenting on the Shamrock's chances. This being the case, it will be rather too bad to disappoint our good friend, Sir Thomas, and his fellow-countrymen. The fact remains, however, that in the minds of most Americans who know anything at all about yachting, the races already are as good as won by the American boat, and the cup as safe as though it were nailed down with spikes.—Syracuse Herald.

+ + + +

Whether the Shamrock III. and her owner come for defeat or for victory they are welcome. If the American Reliance prove not vain the victory will be the more appreciated because won from the worthiest of competitors. If the Shamrock III. prove the better yacht or be more skillfully sailed, the defeat will leave no sting, because inflicted by the worthiest of competitors. Therefore all American yachtsmen, and the American people generally, with to the Reliance and the Shamrock III. nothing but good wind and weather, and may the best yacht and the best men win!—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

+ + + +

All the Shamrock family are now on this side—grandmother, mother and daughter—Shamrock II. having been in American waters ever since the last international race. Shamrock III. will immediately enter the interest of the yachting fraternity, and through many days to come more or less learned opinions on her model, rig and supposed capabilities may be expected. Numerous tests have proved her a fleet and reliable boat. Such also Reliance appears to be, and with favorable conditions a great race can be anticipated. The New York yachting people profess to think the cup is safe. Perhaps so—but if it is to be lost, it can hardly go to a better sportsman than Sir Thomas, who has done about all that one Britisher can be asked to do in seeking to carry home the long coveted trophy.—Buffalo Courier.

+ + + +

The Shamrock III. is probably the most perfect racing machine that has been sent across the Atlantic. She represents the fruits of a long experience of failure, as well as the belief of her owner and builder that this experience has been profitably availed of. On the other hand, we feel that the skill of our Yankee builders has kept pace with the advance made on the other side, and that the Reliance will be found to be as much faster than the new Shamrock as the Columbia was faster than Shamrock II.—Boston Post.

+ + + +

Sir Thomas Lipton comes across the sea this time as though he was a little more in earnest than ever before. Two sloops, a steam yacht and a tug came over with his colors, while Shamrock II. was already here. Sir Thomas will arrive himself next week. He is a plucky sportsman and has the good will of the American people, though they do not want to see him take back the prize which he seeks.—Philadelphia Press.

Lipton's New Shamrock.

The small fleet sent over by that honest and assiduous friend of American sport, Sir Thomas Lipton, reached New York harbor after a prosperous voyage by way of the Azores. The arrival of Shamrocks has come to be an event almost as regular and periodically certain as that of the vessels of any of the other transatlantic lines. The novelty has worn off, but the interest is just the same. And so is the welcome, both for the boat and its owner when he shall follow.—New York Sun.

The Quiet Observer.

ERASMUS WILSON.

Who builds the railroads and canals
But furriners?
Who helps across the streets the gals,
But furriners?
Who in de caucus has de say,
Who does de votin' 'lection day,
Who discovered U. S. A.,
—Frank T. Easton.

And still they come—come by ship loads, and boat loads, and train loads, with still more to follow.

Well, let them come.

Isn't that what this country is for? Is this U. S. A. not the place where the new man, the composite, or representative man of this planet is to be brought forth?

Have you ever thought of the ages consumed in preparing for this great event? These ages were consumed in developing perfect types of different races, such as the Teutonic, the Celtic, the Anglo Saxon and the Latin.

* * * * *

It required many generations to establish these and other types, in all of which were found some of the elements of the coming man, but in no one were they all combined. The most highly developed of these several types are the Englishman, the German, the Frenchman, the Irishman, the Scotchman and the Spaniard.

Having been confined within narrow limits for many generations, and prevented from intermingling in a social way by reason of race antipathies, war, lack of ready means of communication, and no special inducements to draw them away from their homes, each nationality went steadily on developing its characteristic traits and growing stronger by the survival of the fittest.

Nor was there any place known where the various types of men could meet on common ground until after the discovery of America, nor was it practicable for them to meet here until after the country had been opened up, a stable Democratic government established and the land prepared for the reception of the people of all nations.

* * * * *

Through intermarriage of different types we get a type different from the originals. A Scotch-Irishman is neither a Scotchman nor an Irishman. The product of English and German type is neither English nor German, but something new and, maybe, better. A dash of French blood enlivens the slow, plodding German, while a drop or two of Irish blood gives wit and vivacity to the phlegmatic English type.

Thus it is that the new man, the composite of the established types, will possess the sturdiness of the German, the stolidity of the Englishman, the vivaciousness of the Frenchman, the wit of the Irishman, and the steadfastness of the Scotchman.

It is this mingling and commingling of established types of men that will lead to the development of theo typical American. As yet he is only in the first stages of his evolution, and it will be many generations hence before his type has been fully developed and finally established.

But when the work has been completed and the typical American stands up before the world, rounded out, finished, he will be the sum of that which was fittest to survive in all the ages past—the image of God, who created him through a long and wondrously wise process, which we call evolution.

* * * * *

All there was of Greece and Rome that was fit to survive, and of the civilization that preceded them as far back as the Pharoahs, and Moses, and Abrahma, and Noah, even unto Adam, will be represented in the typical American.

This country at present represents the best men and women in the world. True, many of those who come from abroad are ignorant and very poor, yet they will be of far more worth than would be the rich and cultured whom they leave behind, for they bring comparatively pure blood and will give us healthy, hardy children, when we can educate, train and develop into good citizens, which could hardly be done so readily with the children of the high-born and wealthy.

Give America the raw material and it will do the rest.

That we are getting, and will continue to get more or less bad stuff is to be expected—it could not be otherwise, but we will get rid of it in time—in God's own good time.

What a think of the future of America—your land and mine. Not only queen of the nations of the earth, but the sum of all that has preceded us, intellectually, politically, commercially and religiously. What greater pride than to be an American?

Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said,
This is my own, my native land.
—Sir Walter Scott.

* * * * *

The new man of the new may be quite different from the new man of the then. In fact, there are several types of the present new man, all different, and it will require some time to lick them into shape—the shape of the typical American.

One of the types of the new man has been cleverly outlined by Frederick Presberry in the following sketch:

"Man that is born of woman is of few days and full of microbes. He hoppeth out of bed in the morning and his feet are pierced with the tack of disappointment. He walketh through the streets of the city in the pride and glory of his manhood and slippeth on the banana peel of misfortune and unjointeth his neck. He smoketh the cigar of contentment, and behold! it explodeth with a loud noise, for it was loaded. He slideth down the bannister of life and encounters many slivers of torture. He lieth down to sleep at night and is stung by the mosquitoes of annoyance, and his frame is gnawed by the bedbug of adversity.

"What is man but the blind worm of fate? Behold, he is impaled upon the hook of despair and furnishes bait for the leviathan, death, in the fathomless ocean of time. Sorrow and travail follow him all the days of his life. In his infancy he is afflicted with the worms and colic, and in his old age he is afflicted with rheumatism and ingrowing toenails. He marryeth a cross-eyed woman because her father is rich, and findeth that she hath not sense enough to fry the festive chuck steak. His father-in-law then monkeyeth with options and goeth under.

"What is man but the tumor on the neck of existence? He playeth the races and betteth his all on the brown mare because he hath received a tip. The sorrel gelding winneth by a neck. Behold, he runneth for office and the dead-beat polleth his leg over and anon and then voteth for the other man. He exalteth himself among the people and swelleth with pride, but when the votes are counted he findeth that his name is mud. He boasteth of his strength in Israel but is beaten by a red-headed man from the Bloody Third. He goeth forth to breathe the fresh air and meditate upon the vanity of all earthly things, and is accosted by a bank cashier with a slight draft for $500. A political enemy-Beth in wait for him in the market place and walketh around him, crowing like a cock.

"Verily, man is nothing but a wart on the nose of nature—a bunion on the toe of time—a freckle on the face of the universe."

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, June 16.—If it was only a week ago that, as told in this column, a Cherry street tough told the policeman who had arrested him that there would be some shooting when he got out of prison. He emphasized the threat by advising the policeman to look out, because Cherry street men kept their word in such matters, before the negro shot McFarlane in the criminal court building yesterday he said that he would never go to prison for policy, and that he would as soon go to the electric chair for something he had done as be imprisoned for what he hadn't. Then he blazed away at McFarlane, the officer of the Anti-Policy society, and to make sure of his work, fired a bullet into the heart of his dead victim as he lay on the floor. New York is tired of thugs like the members of the Cherry street gang and this policy writer, Rogers or Spencer, for he goes by either name. If Rogers or Spencer is not hurried to the electric chair before time softens public indignation, it will be a great disappointment to the law-abiding element of this community.

Searching Policy Players.

Detectives are searching "poke" players for weapons. Every known policy man has had to pass through the hands of a plain clothes policeman in the last few hours, and there is an assortment of "guns" and "razors" at headquarters taken from suspects which could have furnished forth a dozen murderers on occasion.

The Smallest Garden in New York.

Although the average New Yorker is city-bound to an almost suffocating degree, he usually has rural desires. This is well illustrated in the busiest part of Columbus avenue, where a cobbler has one of the smallest gardens on Manhattan island. He has a little areaway in front of his diminutive shop, with paving stones, seamed and uneven by the heat of many fierce summers. An unpromising place for a garden, surely. But the cobbler is an enthusiast in agriculture, so he has made a bed of rich loam about a foot in width all around the stone space, and in this bed has raised a crop of radishes that are refreshingly red and crisp-looking. The cobbler watered the bed regularly all though the month and a half of drought, and the seeds responded to his loving care by bursting forth into blossom and healthy root in good season. It is not many New Yorkers who can dig up radishes from their own gardens for their daily use, but this cobbler does it, under what might be regarded as most unpromising conditions.

"Steeple Paul" Plays Dizzy Engagement.

The Flatiron skyscraper afforded entertainment to Broadway today. It was not in the usual way, by the mishaps of people trying to get around the windy corner at Twenty-third street and Broadway, but through the performances of "Steeple Paul," who climbed the flagstaff on top of the building and calmly painted the pole, while hanging on by teeth and eyelashes some 300 feet above the street. He did the work in about an hour and a half, and at any moment in that period he could have been blown off like a toy balloon but for the tenacity of his grip. His wife watched him from a neighboring roof and was undisturbed as "Steeple Paul" himself. She has seen him make thousands of dizzy climbs and is used to taking an off chance of finding herself a widow any day.

Excited About Morgan's Home-Coming.

Wall street chose to excite itself today over the circumstance that J. P. Morgan will sail from Liverpool for New York on the Oceanic tomorrow. Some of the bear gossips of the street said he is hurrying home on account of complications in the money market. Those profound financial philosophers who occupy the old-fashioned banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co., at Broad and Wall streets, say poohpooh to this. Mr. Morgan told them when he went away that he would sail for home on June 17.

New York Causes Lots of Cackling.

Now that Prof. Thompson of the agricultural department at Washington has figured out that every family in New York city consumes an average of four eggs a day, some persons are wondering where all the eggs come from. The farmers in Long Island, New Jersey and elsewhere in the vicinity of the city say they cannot raise enough eggs for their customers at home, much less send them in appreciable quantities to the New York market. It is understood that New York gets most of its eggs from Ohio and Pennsylvania, so that perhaps the cost of transportation accounts for their uniformly high price.

Two Kinds of Lamb.

New York housekeepers have awakened to the fact that there are two kinds of lamb on the market just now. They are spring and winter lamb. Chops of spring lamb cost from 25 to 30 cents a pound, while winter lamb chops bring 22 to 25 cents. Butchers have a way of foisting winter lamb on you if they can. This may be a hint to Pittsburgh as well as New York.

Walking Off Excessive Avoirdupois.

At this season the "show girl" regards herself as a most important factor in stage amusement. Most of the plays running on Broadway now are musical comedies and all employ show girls. These beauties are afraid that their pulchritude may be lessened by excessive avoirdupois, so it is a common thing in the early mornings to meet a group of show girls, in rainy day skirts and carrying smart English canes, walking swiftly, with a fair heel and toe stride, along the pathways of Central park or on upper Broadway.

Mudlarks at American League Park.

It was rather sloppy at American league park today, but there was a game there, nevertheless. Fortunately the two teams, Chicago and New York respectively, are as good mud larks as was River Pirate, the horse that beat Hermis all the way around the track at Gravesend last Friday.

Gates Harried by Interviewers.

John W. Gates arrived on the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm today with Mrs. Gates. He looked very well and he said he felt as well as he looked. He was interviewed on every imaginable subject on which he might be expected to express an opinion and on many that he was not likely to know anything. He was asked whether he smoked $4 cigars; whether he had lost a fortune on the English derby; whether he had come over to settle the difficulties of the shipyard trust; whether it was true that the "western crowd" had been hard hit in the recent bear movement, and whether he thought it would rain tomorrow. He fenced most of the questions good naturedly, denied everything in a general way and said that while he smoked $4 cigars you must believe only one-sixteenth of what you hear. It is understood that W. J. Bryan will be asked by wire the significance of Mr. Gates' last remark.

Charley's Watch Case.

"Don't forget that this is my birthday, Charley, and I am expecting a gold watch from you."

"Yours is a mackintosh from me," replied Charley as he kissed his wife goodby for the day. "It is more useful in this climate."

Then he wended his way down town, and in his daily toil forgot for a time that there was any such thing in the world as a birthday. He left the office at 4 o'clock, and as he was boarding his car he remembered that it was up to him to purchase that birthday present.

"I'll get a little fun out of this anyhow," he decided as he entered the jeweler's store. He soon found a watch to suit his taste and his purse, then secured a box that looked big enough to contain a mackintosh or two, and proceeded to fill it up with paper, with the watch hidden in the furthermost corner.

"There'll probably be tears and all sorts of a dump time before she gets to the bottom of this," he mused, "but look at the fun making up after the row."

Straight for the car he started, but fate and an old chum who lits town occasionally halted him. He was walking the straight and narrow, when he felt a slap on the back and turned to face his old pal, Jackson, whom he had not seen since his marriage a year or so ago.

Only High Places Appeal.

"Tickled to death to see you, old man. Got in too late to catch you at the office, and I am going out in the morning. Let's have a drink and a good long talk."

No man in the world is expected to decline an opportunity to ruminate in the past for a few moments, and even a birthday must take a back seat once in awhile. That explains Charley's acceptance of Jackson's invitation, and they were soon sitting in a quiet corner in a "thirst palace." Charley was hugging close to the box as they talked.

"It's a present to my wife," he explained. "It's her birthday."

"Here's to long life and happiness for Mrs. Charley," proposed Jackson, and they drank standing.

Soon they reached the stage of "Tills one's on me." "No, it's on me." Then Jackson remembered that he had not seen Pete. Pete was his favorite dispenser, and it wouldn't do to be in town twelve full hours without a call on Pete. So Charley lugged his box around to Pete's place, and there had to be one all around, the first being a "tin-roof." Pete being so glad to see the boys again. Then Charley remembered another place where the greatest thirst destroyer of the age was concocted, and Jackson had to be put next. They were seen together in several places after that, but there are some things that neither Charley nor his old chum can recall.

The First Awakening.

How it happened is not quite clear, but Charley awoke the following morning with a thirst that he only supposed to be acquired at sea in an open boat by shipwrecked people three days out. How his wife knew what he needed it is not my province to explain, but he only had to reach out his hand, and in a moment the ice water pitcher was empty, and the water was boiling in his interior department. Then came his wife. She had reached his heart through his stomach, and he was sorry—they usually are the morning after.

But Charley was there to make good. He pointed to the box.

"I didn't need a mackintosh," Mrs. Charley exclaimed. "And I didn't think you meant to bring me one."

"You might at least look at it," he said petulantly.

And she opened the box just to please him. Bit by bit the paper was taken out and unfolded to see that nothing was missed, and at last with a cry of joy she undid the watch.

"You're the dearest fellow in the world," she exclaimed, taking her eyes off the watch long enough to hand him a kiss.

"There never was a moment I didn't think of you last night, and I'll never do it again, dear—that is I mean I won't come home as I did last night," he told her.

More Breakers Ahead.

After his wife left the room, Charley decided he would see if he were able to sit up. He was really in better shape than he thought, and "out for the fire bells and street car gongs ringing in his head he was in pretty fair shape. He got into his clothes, then began a search for something in the shape of coin. Not one cent was left. But in his search he discovered another watch.

"A whole week to another pay day, and dead broke," was the ghastly fact that ran around among the street cars and hose wagons in his head.

Then a bright idea struck him. He could realize on the second watch. After getting ready to go downtown he borrowed car fare from his wife, and promising to be good, was let out the front door.

When lunch time came he looked into his pocket for the watch, only to discover that he had left it on the dresser. A brother clerk loaned him a dollar, and Charley consoled himself with the vow that he wouldn't forget the watch next morning.

"What I would like to know," he confided to the man from whom he borrowed the dollar, "is where I got the money to buy that second watch. I remember being about all in financially, and I know I only had one watch then."

Another Hard Blow.

Charley was feeling nearly right—as near as could be expected under the circumstances—when the clock struck four, but it had been an awfully long day. He was glad to go straight for the car, and nothing in the world would have dragged him down the pike then. His old companion R. E. was with him to the limit.

"No more for me," was the full burden of his song, and the car wheels seemed to be telling the rails what a glorious thing a water wagon is.

And when he reached home, his wife was at the door to greet him, smiling and happy. She showed him her watch, and it somehow looked different from the one he had purchased such a little while ago.

"Don't it beautiful?" she asked. "I found that other watch you brought me, and I took them both down to the store and traded them for a better one."

Charley didn't faint. He looked really pleased.

"I'm lucky she didn't think I had bought that second watch for some one else," was the thought that struck him, and all other considerations were indeed of minor importance.

STEEL COMPANY DEAL IN COURT

Frank Donner Asks W. H. Donner for an Accounting of Stock.

ABOUT $200,000 IS INVOLVED

History of the Sale of the Union Steel Company to the United States Steel Company Set Forth in an Equity Suit.

Attorneys D. F. Patterson and John C. Bane, representing Frank Donner, yesterday filed a bill in equity in court of common pleas No. 1 against William H. Donner, asking for an accounting of stock valued at about $200,000, which the plaintiff claims he is entitled to under an agreement with the defendant. The action grows out of the sale of the Union Steel Company and its affiliated corporations to the United States Steel Corporation, and this transaction is set forth in detail.

It is asked that William H. Donner be declared the trustee of Frank Donner for stock in the Union Steel Company, the Union Improvement Company and the River Coal Company and for the interests of the plaintiff in the stock, holdings and property of the Republic Coke Company and the Donora Mining Company, and for freight vessels, etc., purchased out of the funds of the Union Steel Company. It is prayed that William H. Donner be ordered to make a discovery of the matters in the bill, and that he shall account for all money, stocks and property held by him as trustee for the plaintiff; to pay all of the dividends, money, profits and property held by the defendant, as trustee, over to the plaintiff, and that the defendant be decreed to deliver to the plaintiff proper certificates for certain stock.

ORGANIZATION OF THE COMPANIES.

The bill first gives the details of the organizations of the companies of which William H. Donner is president. The Union Steel Company was incorporated November 13, 1899, with a capital stock of $1,000,000, of which William H. Donner was the owner of 2,500 shares of the par value of $100 each. The company's mills are at Donora. The Union Improvement Company was incorporated April 28, 1900, with a capital stock of $100,000, of which William H. Donner was the owner of 500 shares, par value $50 each. This company has laid out lots at Donora. The River Coal Company was incorporated July 3, 1900. The charter fixed the capital stock at $1,000. After its incorporation the company became the owner of valuable land in Washington county and other sections of the state, and William H. Donner, it is said, became the owner of a one-quarter interest in the corporation. The plaintiff states he believes its holdings are worth $720,000.

The bill then sets forth that during the year 1500 William H. Donner, from time to time, solicited the plaintiff to become an employe of the Union Steel Company in the capacity of manager. The plaintiff was unwilling, it is said, unless the owners of the company would sell him stock to the par value of $50,000. William H. Donner, it is declared, then promised the plaintiff that he, the defendant, would make an effort to secure for the plaintiff as nearly as possible the number of shares desired, and if he failed to secure the stock from others he would personally sell the plaintiff a portion of his own holdings. Pursuant to the agreement, it is averred, the plaintiff went into the employ of the company and continued the service until December 15, 1902.

In he month of March, 1901, it is stated, the plaintiff agreed to buy from William H. Donner shares of stock in the three companies mentioned, at par, to the amount of $25,000. It is alleged the plaintiff paid to the defendant $12,500 on account, and later the balance of $12,500, the latter acknowledging the payment of $25,000. The stock alleged to have been paid for is as follows: Union Steel Company, 227-1 shares; Union Improvement Company, 45-40-1 shares; River Coal Company, 227-1 of one share.

NEVER GOT CERTIFICATES.

It is alleged that William H. Donner represented to the plaintiff that the certificates for the capital stock of the three companies had never been issued to the owners of the said stock; that the certificates had never been issued to the defendant; that it would probably be some time before the certificates of stock would be issued; that he could not deliver the certificates purchased from him, and that all that he could give the plaintiff was the receipt for the money, promising that as soon as the certificates were issued he would deliver them to the plaintiff.

Frank Donner declares that from time to time he inquired as to the issuance of the certificates, but that William H. Donner represented the certificates had not been issued and failed to deliver them to the plaintiff.

It is declared that after the purchase of the above mentioned stock, that William H. Donner and the other owners of the stock of the Union Steel Company bought the Republic Coke Company, the purchase money being paid out of the funds of the Union Steel Company, William H. Donner becoming the holder of one-quarter of the stock of the coke company, which had a capital stock of $12,000, divided into 240 shares. The plaintiff says he does not know the exact amount that was paid for the coke company, but has been informed that since the latter part of 1902 the stock holdings and property have had a value of not less than $2,880,000.

The plaintiff says that in the summer of 1901 William H. Donner and the other stockholders of the Union Steel Company bought iron mines in Minnesota and in Michigan, and in December, 1901, they organized the Donora Mining Company, the purchase money for the mines, it is said, and for the organization and transaction of the business of the mining company, having been paid out of the funds of the Union Steel Company. The plaintiff says he does not know the exact amount that was paid, but he has been informed and believes that since the latter part of 1902 the stock, holdings, etc., had a value of not less than $4,000,000.

UP IN THE MILLIONS.

It is charged that out of the funds of the Union Steel Company William H. Donner and the other stockholders bought certain lake vessels, used for shipping ore, the value of which, it is alleged, in the latter part of 1902, was not less than $500,000.

The bill then continues:

The plaintiff is informed and believes and therefore avers, that on or about December 15, 1902, said defendant, William H. Donner, joined with the other owners of stock of the said Union Steel Company and the said River Coal Company, in the sale of all of the stock, property and holdings of the Union Steel Company, said River Coal Company, said Republic Coke Company and said Donora Mining Company, including the stock owned by the plaintiff therein, and in the sale of said freight vessels, including the interests of the plaintiff therein, to the United States Steel Corporation, at an aggregate price of about $22,000,000. The plaintiff does not know, and until he has discovery from said William H. Donner, will be unable to state either the exact amount of the profit that was realized by said William H. Donner and said other persons, on account of said sale, or the exact amount that is due to the plaintiff on account of the profit on said sale; but the plaintiff is informed and believes that the aggregate profit realized by said William H. Donner and said other persons, on account of such sale, was upward of $7,800,000; that the portion of said profit that was received by said William H. Donner, including the share thereof belonging to the plaintiff, was upward of $1,875,000, and that the share of the profit belonging to the plaintiff is about $182,500.

It is then alleged that the stock in the Union Improvement Company purchased by the plaintiff, is still retained by William H. Donner, and that he has received the moneys, dividends and profits arising therefrom, amounting, it is said, to about $18,000.

Frank Donner in conclusion says he has been advised and believes that the defendant became trustee for him for the stock of the Union Steel Company, the Union Improvement Company, the River Coal Company, of the holdings, etc., of the plaintiff of the Republic Coke Company, the Donora Mining Company, and for the interests of the plaintiff in the freight vessels, etc. In conclusion credit is given to William H. Donner for $40,000 paid the plaintiff.

MUST OBEY THE LAW.

Gov. Pennypacker Insisted on New Acts Being Bound as Specified.

HARRISBURG, June 16.—(Special.)—Gov. Pennypacker today received the first bound copy of the pamphlet laws of 1903 from State Printer Ray. It is the first copy of the laws for many years that has been bound in full sheep, as required by law, an inferior and cheaper kind of leather having been used for the purpose in former years.

Governor Pennypacker's wishes in the matter are responsible for the binding of the laws as required, he having insisted that full sheep be used. The volume has 400 less pages than the volume containing the laws of 1901.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(Special.)—Russell Sage will this year pay personal taxes upon an assessment of $2,000,000. This is due to a mistake which Mr. Sage made in the date when he could finally appeal to have his assessment corrected or reduced.

MOST SENSATIONAL REMNANT SALE IN YEARS!

Joyce's Semi-Annual Remnant Sale (with its tremendous response the instant the doors were thrown open) will be followed up today and the balance of the week with still DEEPER AND MORE WONDERFUL REDUCTIONS!

Last year's movement was such a success that we knew, in order to beat it, it would be necessary for every department to knuckle down to the hardest kind of work and make next to a miraculous cut in prices. But not even the most sanguine member of this house ever dreamed of creating such electrifying results as have made the past two days' sale the marvel of mercantile history!

Mammoth stocks have been placed all through the house to fill the counters, shelves and tables left bare during the first hours of this GREATEST OF ALL SALES. THE DRY GOODS DEPARTMENT PRESENTS AN EVEN MORE FASCINATING SCENE THAN AT THE INAUGURATION OF THE SALE. Our great force of additional salesmen worked like beavers and have filled every gap with tremendous reserve supplies which were too enormous to put on display the first day.

The sale's soul-stirring values in the very newest ideas in Ladies' Tailor-Made Garments, etc., cannot help but make this the outshining event of all history! And every department—Ladies' and Gentlemen's Furnishings, Millinery, etc.—offers powerful incentives of the supreme merit. We're giving the public the benefit of those splendid purchases which were the "talk in wholesale circles"! We're proving with FACTS too convincing to permit of the least argument that JOYCE'S COMPLETELY UNDERSELL ALL LOCAL COMPETITION!

Ask the thousands who filled the departments Monday and yesterday!

INVESTIGATE THESE PRICE-MARVELS WHICH ARE DRAWING THOUSANDS TO JOYCE'S REMNANT SALE OF

LADIES' MADE-UP GARMENTS

You can purchase a strikingly handsome gown at a price which wouldn't cover the cost of the fabric. A great percentage of this loss, however, rests with the manufacturers who didn't make provisions for the stagnation which was caused by the unseasonable weather. We could hold on to this stock till next season and sell at almost double the prices that are making this sale famous—but it's contrary to our policy. WE ARE POSITIVE IN OUR POLICY OF SWEEPING OUT ALL GOODS WHILE THE STYLES ARE AT THE HIGHEST NOTCH. Read the following items and you'll not be surprised that up-town dealers are so wrought up over our movements.

WABASH DOES THE HONORS

Delegates to the Great Fest Express Appreciation of Courtesies—Inspiring Battle Cry Joined in by the Natives—Distinguished Musicians Arrive.

[From a Staff Correspondent.]

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—Pittsburgh captured St. Louis today. The special train over the Wabash with 400 members of the German singing societies of Allegheny and Cambria counties, reached this city at noon. It was one of the first trains to cross the Mississippi over the Eads bridge since the flood overwhelmed East St. Louis.

About an hour later another train with 100 singers from Wheeling arrived. Committees representing the local German singing societies were at the depot to welcome the visitors. The Pittsburgh delegation, with flags flying, marched to its headquarters, Social Singers hall, Choteau and Mississippi avenues. In default of bands, the delegation halted at a number of the busiest downtown corners, where they recited the following yell with all the vigor of 400 lusty voices, "Hurrah, Hurrah, Hurrah, Race, Pittsburgh is the only place! Music, art, iron, steel, coal and glass—kind that's real, Wabash is coming to help us Pittsburgh boys. Wabash, Pittsburgh, zoom!"

St. Louis citizens were not slow to learn the words nor backward in joining in the yell so that at times there were suggestions of a Servian revolution, less the bloodshed, in the scene. Upon reaching the hall preparations were begun for the komniss given this evening at which the Pittsburghers were the hosts and St. Louisans the guests of honor. The affair began at 8 o'clock and four hours were spent in songs, story and oratory, only interrupted by the cheerful clink of beer mugs.

GRATEFUL TO THE WABASH.

The Pittsburghers had a lively and enjoyable time on their special train. They left one long trail of melody from Pittsburgh to St. Louis. At times very high speed was reached. Between Danville and Decatur, Ill., a stretch of 71½ miles was covered in 78 minutes, which is the record for a train of 13 cars. At Decatur early in the morning the Wabash management had 80 gallons of coffee ready for the travelers and it was served to them in souvenir steins.

At a formal meeting held later on the train, with Prof. Emanuel Schiffe as president, a resolution was adopted warmly commending the Wabash railroad for the care taken of the delegates and for the comforts and luxuries provided. It was also decided as the sense of the entire delegation that The Pittsburgh Gazette be considered the official saengerfest organ of the Pittsburgh, Johnstown and Wheeling singing societies.

The thirty-first national saengerfest opens tomorrow in the liberal arts building in the Louisiana purchase exposition, the temple of music not being sufficiently near completion to hold it there as originally intended. It is estimated here that 40,000 visitors will be present, of whom 8,000 will be singers. In addition to the societies from Pittsburgh, Wheeling and Johnstown, delegations have arrived from Buffalo, Cleveland and Cincinnati and 1,000 men are expected in the morning from Chicago. As all the guests wear the saengerfest colors, yellow and white, St. Louis is taking on a picturesque appearance.

NOTED MUSICIANS ARRIVE.

The men of Theodore Thomas' orchestra have arrived from Chicago. The great orchestra leader sends the entire band of 80 men. Max Bendix is once more in his first place as leader of the violins or "concert meister."

From Cincinnati the entire Cincinnati orchestra, 60 men, founded by Michael Brand and continued by Dr. Van Der Stucken, has arrived. To these 140 men have been added the 91 players under Mr. Ernst, who least season were known as the Choral Symphony orchestra of St. Louis. Tonight 200 men were on the new stage in Liberal Arts hall when the last rehearsal of the reception chorus of the St. Louis players took place. Mme. Katharine Fleischer-Edel, soprano; Mme. Louise Homer, contralto, Herr Willi Birrenkoven, tenor, and Herr Max Lohning, bass, have arrived.

The saengerfest board of management has decided that all the flags brought into town by the visitors be kept under special guard from the moment of their arrival. These flags in many cases are very costly affairs; the one of the Cincinnati Liederkranz having been made in Germany after designs furnished by the Cincinnati school of art. All these flags must, according to the regulations of the saengerfests, be placed on the platform during the feats of German song, as the insignia of competition. There is a militant aspect in "Das Deutsche Lied!" (the song of Germany), which this exhibit of song trophies is intended to typify.

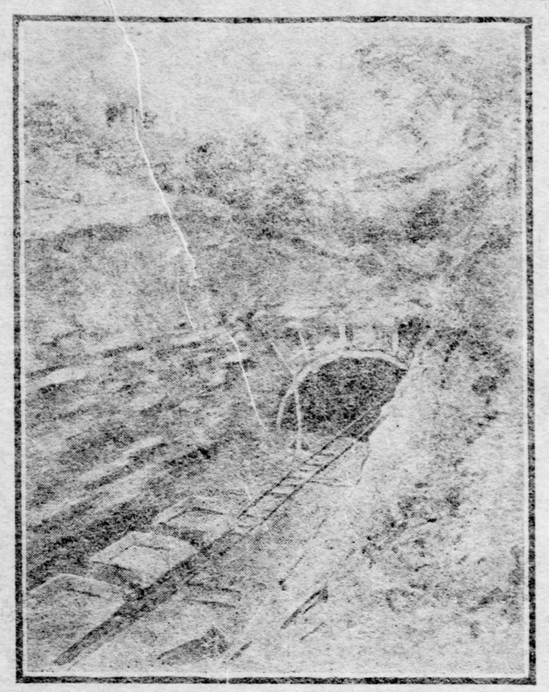
TROLLEY TUNNEL IS BEING PUSHED FROM WEST LIBERTY END



Work on the Mt. Washington trolley tunnel, from Carson street, on the South Side, to West Liberty, is being rapidly pushed. The bulk of the work is being done from the West Liberty end, as there is more room to dispose of the dirt and rock taken from the tunnel. From the point at which the men are now working, on the West Liberty side, to the mouth of the tunnel at that end is a disance of 1,400 feet. The dirt is removed in cars propelled by a rope attached to a motor engine. The engine pulls three cars up in less than two minutes. The length of the tunnel is to be about 2,800 feet; of this there yet remains nearly 1,200 feet to be dug away. The accompanying photograph, taken by a Gazette photographer, shows the mouth of the tunnel from the West Liberty side. The picture was taken from a hill on the right side, facing the entrance, and about 30 feet above the level of the tracks. The drilling is done by compressed air.

CONTESTED FOR A PRIZE OFFERED BY THE KAISER

Closing Concert of the North Eastern Saengerbund Given Last Night.

BALTIMORE, June 16.—The last concert of the triennial Saengerfest of the Northeastern Saengerbund of America, was given tonight in Armory hall, in the presence of an audience which compared favorably with that of last night, when President Roosevelt made his address. Six thousand singers were on the stage, and the numbers, both vocal and instrumental, were rendered artistically.

The audience was enthusiastic, especially over the singing of the "Kaiser prize song." This was sung by the societies contesting for the kaiser prize, as follows: Arion of Brooklyn; Columbia of Philadelphia; Junger Maennerchor, Philadelphia; Philadelphia Quartet club, Philadelphia; Saengerbund, Brooklyn.

The social event of Saengerfest week was a banquet at the Germania Maennerchor hall tonight, when the Saengerfest association entertained 600 members of the Eichenkranz of New York, the Concordia of East Brooklyn, and the Junger Maennerchor of Philadelphia. Tomorrow there will be a public parade of the singing societies, the military from Fort McHenry and marines from the Prairie and Topeka heading the line of march through the principal streets.

NEW FACTORY LAW TO BE STRICTLY ENFORCED

Inspectors Will Warn Officers About Issuing Permits for Child Labor.

All the factory inspectors in the state have been instructed by the state factory inspector to notify all aldermen, justices of the peace and notaries public of the law regarding the employment of children under 16 years of age in factories, department stores, etc. The new law stipulates that, when an alderman, a justice of the peace or a notary public issues a permit for a child to work in a factory or store, such person authorized to issue the same must be shown a certificate of the birth or baptism of the child, the child must write his or her name on the certificate, and in no case must a permit be issued for a child under 13 years of age.

The instructions are most emphatic, and anyone violating the law will be dealt with severely. The deputies are also instructed to see that no women or girls are employed in stores more than 12 hours in any one day, nor more than 60 hours during any week. This part of the law is being grossly violated by some firms, but a stop will be put to such violation at once. The women and girls are to blame for not notifying the deputies when they work longer hours than the law stipulates.

Gardener Fought Foul.

PORT HURON, MICH., June 16.—Mike Ward of Sarnia, Ont., was given the decision over Gus Gardener of Philadelphia in the third round here tonight by Referee George Siler for fouling. Ward had Gardener outpointed and Siler cautioned Gardener several times.

THE DEATH ROLL

William R. Hughes.

William R. Hughes died yesterday at his home, No. 5121 Hatt street, Homewood, aged 54 years. He was well known in the western part of this state, having been for many years identified with extensive lumber operations in the Allegheny mountains.

Mr. Hughes was born July 30, 1829, at New Alexandria, Westmoreland county. His parents were Thomas Hughes and Hannah Rogers, of Welsh stock, whose ancestors were among the early settlers in Western Pennsylvania. When he was 4 years old the family moved to Marion, O., where he lived the healthy life of a boy on a farm until he was 21 years of age. At that time he returned to Pennsylvania and engaged in the lumber business at Ebensburg and later at Wilmore.

At the outbreak of the civil war Mr. Hughes organized a company of mountaineers and went to the front with them as their captain. When this company was disbanded he returned home and organized and equipped another company entirely at his own expense. At the end of the war he took up his business again and until 1875 was one of the best known lumbermen in the state.

He was married December 25, 1851, to Rachael Ritner, a daughter of Peter Ritner, one of the pioneers of the iron industry, and a niece of Joseph Ritner. Had Mr. Hughes lived therefore, he would have celebrated his golden wedding anniversary this year. His wife survives him.

He retired from active business in 1875 and until three years ago made his home in Ohio. For the last year he had been in poor health and a month ago contracted pneumonia. From this he recovered, but his heart became affected and this weakness was the cause of his death.

Besides his widow Mr. Hughes is survived by three sons, Thomas H., George R. of Philadelphia, and Everett L., of Clairton. Thomas H. Hughes is with the firm of Haight & Freeze, brokers. In this city, but is better known as the former manager and acting superintendent of the Postal Telegraph Company.

The funeral will probably take place at the house on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The interment will be at Homewood cemetery.

Thomas Malley.

Thomas Malley, 49 years old, an employe of the Pittsburgh bureau of police from 1889 until about two months ago, died yesterday at Cambridge Springs of consumption. He served as a patrolman, sergeant, lieutenant and pawn clerk in the bureau. For several years past Malley resided in Greenfield avenue, Twenty-third ward, where he was active in Republican politics. He had been living at Cambridge Springs with his wife for some months past, in the hope of benefiting his health. His remains will be brought to Pittsburgh for interment.

George French.

George French, 57 years old, died at Ligonier, Pa., yesterday. Mr. French resided with his son, Frank French, No. 3018 Penn avenue, and about two weeks ago left Pittsburgh for the mountains to benefit his health. Mr. French went to East Liberty from England about 20 years ago. For 30 years he conducted a tobacco store in that part of the city, but retired from active business five years ago. He was a member of the Calvary Protestant Episcopal church. The body will be taken to the residence of his son this morning. Frank French is the only survivor.

William T. Shainer.

William T. Shainer, 29 years old, died at his home in West Homestead yesterday morning. Mr. Shainer was a member of Homestead lodge, No. 941, I. O. O. F. He was a pattern maker in the Mesta Machine Company. His widow and parents survive.

Obituary Notes.

Carroll St. John, a banker of Huntington, W. Va., died suddenly in the Adirondacks yesterday. He was a brother of the late John P. St. John of New York.

John H. O'Connor, 34 years old, died at his home, No. 345 Sixth avenue, Homestead, yesterday after a long illness of consumption. He was single and is survived by three brothers.

Jane M. Hugg, the oldest resident of Peters township, Washington county, Pa., died yesterday, 78 years old. She was a member of Bethel United Presbyterian church and of the Women's Missionary society. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Eleanor Thompson of Hookstown, Pa.

Okey Johnson, ex-Judge of the West Virginia supreme court of appeals and professor of criminal and constitutional law in the West Virginia university, died in Bellevue hospital, New York, yesterday. He had been ill for two years and went to New York two weeks ago to be operated on. For a quarter of a century Judge Johnson was one of the best known of the public men of West Virginia.

Joel Blayney, a prominent citizen of West Finley township, Washington county, Pa., died at his home yesterday, aged 74. He was a prominent hotel man of Washington and a leading Democrat. He is survived by the following children: Mrs. W. A. Egan, Claysville; Mrs. W. R. Gillam, West Alexander; Mrs. Joseph Guiser, Washington; Dr. Charles Blayney, Philadelphia; Albert Blayney, Dallas, W. Va., and Edward and Rice Blayney, West Alexander.

DR. LINES IS CHOSEN BISHOP OF NEWARK

ORANGE, N. J., June 16.—(Special.)—By a bare majority of the clerical vote the Rev. Dr. Edwin Stevens Lines, rector of St. Paul's, New Haven, was elected bishop of the diocese of Newark today on the fifth ballot. The Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann of Orange withdrew before nominations were made. The convention fixed the salary of the bishop at $6,000.

STATE CAN NOT YET DEMAND TAX

Must Wait a Year With Other Claimants in J. O. Brown's Estate.

CAN THEN ASK FOR INVENTORY

Hope of Legatees and Creditors, Pinned to Collateral Inheritance Tax Clause to Disclose Features of Estate, Are Dispelled.

Some of the legatees and creditors of the late City Recorder J. O. Brown have been hoping that the state would try to collect a collateral inheritance tax, and thus compel the executrix, the recorder's widow, to file an inventory.

Mrs. Brown, is not required by the recorder's will to file an inventory, and no proceedings can be brought against the estate before the close of the year dating from Brown's death. And so it is that the state has no more right in demanding the collateral inheritance tax than any other creditor. It must wait until the year is up. At least that is the interpretation of the situation as it is viewed at the office of the county register of wills, the register being the state's fiscal agent in the collection of collateral inheritance taxes. Although Mrs. Brown, by the terms of the will, is not required to file an inventory, she must file one when the register, as the state's agent, demands it. Until the year is up the creditors and legatees must therefore postpone the satisfaction of their curiosity, unless the executrix of her own motion gives the legatees the information they desire.

The legatees and certain creditors of Brown, have all along been hoping to learn in some indirect manner of the condition of the estate, some of the creditors desiring to know whether the securities, which he promised them for money borrowed, are in existence, and some of the legatees desiring to know whether the stocks he willed to them have been found.

Coroner Jesse M. McGeary said yesterday that the inquest into the death of Brown, his uncle, would not be held until some time in July, after the report of the chemical analysis of the vital organs has been made.

James R. P. Brown is still busy hunting testimony to aid him in the test of his brother's will, which, it is supposed he intends to bring. He has learned of several city employes who claim to have loaned J. O. Brown money, but he says he has been informed that some of them may be discharged from the city service if they make the debt known. Mr. Brown says he has no doubt that this is a false impression, as the city administration is not interested in the settlement of his brother's estate.

"I know the names of several," said he, "but as long as they prefer not to have their names made public, even though their reason is unreasonable, I will not divulge them. The names of others, who do not care, have already been made public."

SIX TROLLEY COMPANIES AND BANKS CHARTERED

Many Western Pennsylvania Concerns Incorporated Under State Law.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, June 16.—Six trolley companies and 26 other corporations were chartered today by the state department. The bulk of these new concerns are conducted by Western Pennsylvania syndicates. The list of western companies chartered follows:

The Cleveland, Chardon & Meadville Street Railway Company, capital $18,000, to build a line from North Shenango, Crawford county, to Louisville, three miles; W. C. Warner, Cleveland, O., president.

The McKeesport Street Railway Company, capital of $42,000, to build seven miles of road in the city of McKeesport; T. C. Jones, of McKeesport, president; W. B. Peterson, J. D. O'Neill, T. D. Gardner, George Altmis, C. P. Kalbaugh and J. J. Bedell, McKeesport.

The McKeesport & Clairton Connecting Railroad Company, $40,000, to build a line from Market street and First avenue, McKeesport, to the borough of Clairton, four miles; president, J. D. O'Neill, McKeesport; directors, W. B. Peters, T. D. Gardner, C. T. Kalbaugh, J. J. Bedell, George Altmiller, J. M. Douthitt, McKeesport.

Elwood City Improvement Company, Ellwood City, capital $25,000; directors, R. C. Stiefel, Ellwood City; J. H. Nicholson, G. S. Garrett, Pittsburgh.

Alexander Coal Company, Madera, Clearfield county, capital $9,000; directors, Roland D. Swope, Curwensville; Clinton R. Alexander, Clearfield; Henry B. Swope, Madera.

Brady water Company, East Brady, Clarion county, capital $5,000; directors, M. H. Fetzer, George L. Rankin, Greenville; George A. Lukehart, Dubois.

The Western Butter & Meat Company, McKeesport, Pa., capital $5,000; directors, Homer Gill Raymond, William A. Wittemann, John K. Shelley, McKeesport.

Finleyville Brewing Company, Union township, Washington county, capital $25,000; directors, W. H. King, M. C. Morrison, H. T. Klein, Finleyville.

Homewood Savings & Trust Company, Pittsburgh, capital $10,000; directors, William F. Ansermyer, William B. McFall, George R. Dorman, Thomas T. Lowman, Clyde O. Anderson, Harris C. Morto, George W. Flowers, Pittsburgh.

Afro-American Mercantile association, Pittsburgh, capital $5,000; directors, F. H. Ross, Eaton Russell, G. G. Turdley, James H. Jackson, W. G. Thornton, W. W. Brown, James Robinson, Henry Jones, Alexander Barbour, A. S. Carey, Samuel Cee, Thornton Dyer, A. J. Scott, John A. Lewis, James F. East, Pittsburgh.

Swissvale, Braddock Realty Company, Braddock, capital $20,000; directors, Nathaniel Green, William H. Ferguson, Robert C. Smith, Edward A. Stroud, Robert P. Dickson, Swissvale; Wesley M. Holmes, Wilkinsburg; Samuel H. McClure, Braddock.

Wheeler Improvement Company, Connellsville, capital $20,000; directors, Rockwell Marietta, Clair Stillwagon, A. D. Sosson, J. M. Grey, William Dull and Tarimer Stillwagon, Connellsville.

Tube City Real Estate & Improvement Company, McKeesport, capital $10,000; directors, John R. Deegan, John K. Graham, Pittsburgh; Fred S. Gleason, William F. Culgen, Charles J. Palmgreen, McKeesport.

Silberberg, Atha & Adler, incorporated, Pittsburgh, capital $75,000; directors, Albert Silberberg, S. Howard Atha, Eugene Adler, Pittsburgh.

Pennsylvania Savings bank, Pittsburgh, capital $100,000; incorporators, A. S. M. Morgan, Thomas MacNeil, Sr., Lewis T. Brown, R. M. Davis, Joseph S. Seaman, Pittsburgh; Samuel P. Harbison, Allegheny.

Two new traction lines, for which charters were granted at Harrisburg yesterday, will be built in the Monongahela valley as soon as the rights of way granted through McKeesport are granted the corporations by the councils of that city.

At a meeting of the officers and directors of the two companies last night in McKeesport, County Recorder J. Denny O'Neil, who presided, stated that the streets wanted by the company in McKeesport will not be made public till the ordinances for right of way are presented to councils. He said the line of the second company will probably be extended in the near future, as the charter grants a 16-mile radius.

Sleeper to Deer Park, Md., Via B. & O. R. R.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad will inaugurate sleeping car service between Pittsburgh and Deer Park, Md., on June 19, and continue the service throughout the season. Sleeper will leave Pittsburgh Friday night at 9 o'clock, returning leave Deer Park Sunday night, arriving Pittsburgh 6:15 Monday morning.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

Streams of inquiries have been pouring in to all our offices each hour since yesterday's announcement. It doesn't take any tremendous push to convince investors that city-improved property next door to a half-mile of new Westinghouse industries is a good thing. Persons who have noticed how Westinghouse markets are swelling and spreading to all parts of the world know that they are "playing wise" by getting in early. Object lessons are all around them. The spreading Westinghouse markets will make spreading Westinghouse factories, and every time a Westinghouse factory spreads the value of the adjoining property also spreads. Shrewd people will see at once what this present remarkable spread of the Westinghouse Electric Works will do for the

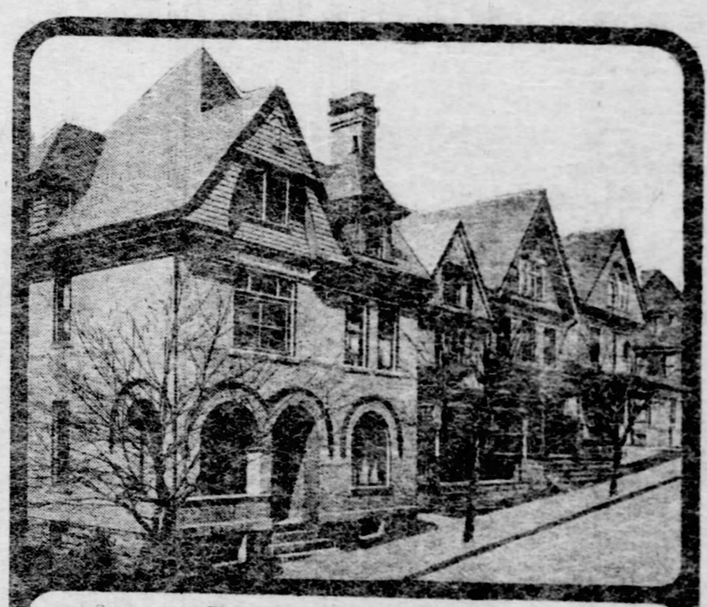
ELECTRIC PLAN OF LOTS AT TURTLE CREEK

Sale Starts Sat. June 20th.

The Sewickley of the Westinghouse Valley

Fifty Lots at Cost Price.

Residences on Grant Street, leading to Plan, where property is $80 to $100 a front foot.



Grant Street, near Plan, where property has advanced 66 per cent in the last six months.

Maple Avenue, principal street through Plan, a point near the great new street improvement work.

Mrs. M. C. Miller's Residence, which adjoins south side of Plan, surrounded by magnificent grounds.

Corner Grant Street and Maple Avenue, one square from Plan.

Mrs. E. W. Boyd's residence, adjoining northeast corner of Plan and held at $10,000 an acre or $30,000 for three acres.

PROPERTY ONLY EIGHT MINUTES' WALK FROM WHERE 5,000 MORE WORKMEN WILL SOON BE EMPLOYED:

Our property is but eight minutes' walk from the works of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, where the half mile of new Westinghouse industries are now being built. It is 12 minutes' walk from the Westinghouse Airbrake Company and 15 minutes' walk from the Westinghouse Machine Company. The Pittsburgh Railways Company's Second Avenue traction cars, marked Wilmerding, run within two squares of the property. The East Pittsburgh and Wilkinsburg Yellow Car Line, which runs out Fifth avenue and Forbes street, will be extended close to the property in about August or September. This will give the property two street car lines to Pittsburgh, in addition to an excellent suburban passenger service on the Pennsylvania Railroad. Fifty-six trains stop daily at Turtle Creek station and make the journey to the Union Depot, Pittsburgh, in 26 minutes to 37 minutes. The schedule time to Pittsburgh on the traction cars is 55 minutes, only 15 minutes longer than it takes to run from many parts of the East End to Pittsburgh. The distance from Turtle Creek Borough to Pittsburgh is just 12 miles, the same distance that Sewickley is from Allegheny.

The town has a population of 6,000, having doubled itself in three years, and would be 30,000 today had it been possible to purchase this property years ago.

LOTS $25, $50, $100 $150, TO $950

All the lots are 25x100 feet and deeper, except on Maple Avenue, where they are 30x100. Most of these have alleys back of them. On the best streets there are building restrictions.

Some of the lots are 200 feet deep. You will be able to build on both ends of these, as they front on two streets.

—TERMS—

Five Per Cent Down, Balance Two Per Cent Per Month. No Interest, No Taxes; Fifteen Per Cent Discount for Cash When Paid Within Sixty Days.

YOU GET PAVED, SEWERED AND GRADED STREETS, CITY WATER, GAS, FINE SCHOOLS AND EVERY CITY CONVENIENCE:

A thoroughly modern public school building and an exceptionally fine High school, three banks and churches of all denominations are within a few squares of the plan. More than a dozen business blocks of high-grade construction and numerous handsome residences adjoin the property. The town has miles of well-paved and sewered streets and an efficient Fire Department and excellent police protection.

On the western side Turtle Creek is joined by East Pittsburgh and on the eastern side by Wilmerding. This gives a compact commercial city of 20,000 people. In every direction except one the valley is hemmed in by hills too wet even on their tops to form good building ground. The only available level section broad enough to afford the Westinghouse principalities ample room to spread out is the magnificent plateau which is now in our possession. Shrewd investors will not overlook this fact. By watching it carefully, they will see that there is no other property in the entire Pittsburgh district which will grow so rapidly in value. If they stop to pry into the records of the majority of the rich men who live in this vicinity they will find that nine-tenths of them have accumulated the major part of their wealth by purchasing Wilmerding, East Pittsburgh or Turtle Creek real estate and reselling or leasing it. Cases are not rare where Turtle Creek people started in with only a few hundred dollars 10 years ago and are today worth from $50,000 to $200,000.

In going from Pittsburgh to ELECTRIC PLAN property take the Second Avenue Cars, marked Wilmerding, anywhere on Fourth Avenue, between Market and Grant Streets, or Pennsylvania Railroad Trains at Union Depot and get off at Turtle Creek.

You can secure further information, free car tickets, free train tickets, etc., by applying on the property to the Turtle Creek Land Improvement Company, or to the Company's regular authorized Agents, as follows:

CURLEY DID NOT KILL FLAHERTY

Was Acquitted of Charge of Manslaughter Which Followed a Fight.

MRS. WARNER WILL INHERIT

Judge Miller Declares Anti-Nuptial Agreement Without Consideration, is Invalid—Letter from Another Woman Helps Wife to Get a Divorce.

In criminal court, yesterday, Michael F. Curley was tried and acquitted on a charge of involuntary manslaughter, made as the result of the death of William Flaherty, who died in the Homeopathic hospital May 6, last, from a fractured skull. A few days before death Flaherty was seen with Curley and several other men in Penn avenue and Cecil alley. The supposition was he had been struck during a fight and that his head hit a stone when he was knocked down. Attorney Rody P. Marshall represented the defendant.

Charles Ward pleaded guilty to charges of perjury and bigamy, and was sentenced to the workhouse for three years on the first charge and one year on the second. The sentences to run concurrently. Ward made oath that he was single in taking out a license to wed Margaret J. Smith, when his wife Catharine E. Ward, was living.

Other pleas of guilty were: C. F. Hensel, larceny, sentenced to the workhouse for four months; Charles Brown, unlawful wounding, one year to the workhouse; Franklin Margule, larceny of some clothing from the Panhandle railroad, six months to the workhouse; John Tweedel, entering a building, etc., sent to the Huntingdon reformatory; Hugh Trax, misdemeanor in assisting a number of persons to escape from the East Pittsburgh lockup, 10 days to the workhouse; George Gibson and Martin Conroy, escape from the East Pittsburgh lockup, 10 days each to the workhouse.

Judge J. J. Miller in orphans' court handed down an opinion in the matter of the adjudication of the estate of the late Dr. E. S. Horner, deciding that an anti-nuptial agreement without any consideration than contemplated marriage is invalid. The court calls attention to the fact that no case and no authority has been found which sustains an anti-nuptial contract where some provision has not been made for the wife, and also declares that in such a transaction whereby the husband obtained a possible benefit, equity raises a presumption against the validity of the contract.

The report of the commission in the divorce case of Lillian M. Wilson against Eben Gates Wilson includes a letter written by a western young woman to whom the respondent, it is said, was affianced after the separation from his wife. The letter was received by Mrs. Wilson from Kathryn Campbell, of No. 118 South Nevada avenue, Colorado Springs, in which she inquired whether the Eben Gates Wilson, who was to marry her, was the husband of the Mrs. Wilson to whom she was writing. The letter continues thus:

"I am very sure he is a single man. He told me at one time that he had never been married and that at another he was, and that his wife's name was Lillian McCord. I ask you for God's sake to answer me."

Photographs of Wilson were exchanged between the two women, and the last heard of Wilson, it was testified, was that he was in jail in Chicago for wrongfully obtaining money from Lottie Evans.

DONEHOE RETURN LOST.

Papers Left in Court Could Not Be Found—True Bills for Murder.

The grand jury, yesterday, after its presentment to court, adjourned until July 6. Among the bills returned were a number charging murder. The body adjourned without taking action on the return made of Select Councilman P. J. Donehoe, Wharfmaster John Koch and Edward Schmershall, by Constable Peter Nock of the Fourth ward, in which they are charged with selling liquor illegally. The original return when wanted for presentation to the grand jury could not be found, and yesterday the constable made a second return. The original return was turned over to the district attorney's office by the clerk of court and a receipt taken, but when the processes were issued it was again taken to the court room and then disappeared. District Attorney Haymaker took all those who handled the paper to task. He said that this will do the defendants no good, as he will see the next grand jury acts on the cases.

The grand jury recommended after visiting the morgue that a female attendant be employed.

It also reported in favor of a bridge across Chartiers creek, at McKees Rocks, the cost to be borne by the county. The Ohio Connecting Railroad Company and the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

The true bills for murder were: Louisa Pearson, charged with killing her husband, Joseph Pearson, with a revolver during a fight between them at their home at Esplen, on May 22, 1902; Edward D. Thomas, charged with the death of Elmer Hart, who was killed by a gunshot in the Jefferson hotel, Jefferson township on June 3, 1903; Pietro Vizzeri, charged with killing Dominico Priola, with a revolver, in Washington street, March 14, 1903; Nicholas Glazner, charged with the death of Margaret Hall, at No. 412 Atwood street, February 10, 1903. Other true bills returned were:

Felony, George Bernard; larceny by bailee, Felix Bullifiant; misdemeanor, Edward Bishop, Jr., James Dickson, Alice Powell, Thomas Powell, Andy Petso; assault and battery, Morris Conners, Daniel Kunze, Mary Riggi et al; felonious assault and battery, Geat Farmer, Dan Winfield; aggravated assault and battery, W. Grabowski, Robert Thompson, Howard Thompson; larceny from the person, Thomas Lacey; false pretenses, Henry Leina; larceny, M. J. Neberer, James Pinck, John Siddick, William Wilson, William Fixon; illegal sale of liquor, John Putzglavaty, Kate Wagner; keeping a gambling house, John Patzglavanty; keeping a disorderly house, Kate Wagner.

The ignored charges were: Aggravated assault and battery, H. H. Allen; selling liquor illegally, Mary Butler, Walter E. Beyers (2); forgery, Paul Brigham; larceny, A. B. Longacre, John Patterson, J. S. Rosenthal; keeping a gambling house, etc., Walter E. Beyers; misdemeanor, Charles Linquest, George Mickinist, Max Naughton; forcible entry, J. B. Cox; assault and battery, Frank Fish, George J. Farrow, W. M. Kent, Bridget McHugh; fraud, William Feldman; felonious assault and battery, F. H. Laughline, William Reynolds.

Motion to Quash is Made.

City Solicitor Rodgers has made a formal motion to quash the indictment against Mayor Hays, charging him with a misdemeanor in discharging Samuel Moore, an old soldier, from the employ of the city. The city attorney alleges that the indictment does not show any offense under the law, and under the constitution the mayor had the power to remove Moore from his office.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

The second call on the general argument list will be taken up in court of common pleas today, and all cases disposed of without fail.

Fred Schumann took out letters of administration on the estate of Caroline Gurd. Attorney J. W. Collins has charge of the estate.

The will of Henry Stockmann was filed and letters taken out on the estate by Catherine Stockmann. Attorney J. M. Goehring represents the administratrix.

In the United States district court Martin E. Griffith, a physician of Manor, Westmoreland county, filed his petition in bankruptcy. His liabilities are given as $7,272 37, unsecured, and his assets as $200.

The Dollar Savings Fund and Trust Company of Allegheny took out letters of administration on the estate of Agnes R. Irons, whose death and that of her son and daughter occured within a few hours of each other. Attorney Walter M. Lindsay represents the trust company.

A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed by Samuel Loop, the McKeesport Ice Company and Nielson, Morris Company, all of McKeesport, against Henry Bangert of the same place. It is alleged he committed an act of bankruptcy in permitting John Jackel to obtain a preference through legal proceedings.

By the will of John J. Hartling of Edgeworth, John, Chris, Albert and Edward Hartling, sons of the decedent, are cut off with a bequest of $1 each. The remainder of the estate goes to Henry Hartling, another son, the testator in his will explaining: "It being justly due him or taking care of me in my last days."

Petitions in bankruptcy were filed by Benjamin W. Smith, a wall paper dealer of Braddock, who gives his liabilities as $4,022 68 and assets as $1,983 80, and by James H. Ross, a merchant tailor of Ridgway, Pa., who gives his liabilities as $4,182 74 and his assets as $10,350. Of the assets $10,000 is represented by insurance policies.

G. A. R. MEMORIAL HALL SITE IS CONSIDERED

Committee from Soldiers' Organization Meet With Commissioners.

S. M. Duvall, H. H. Bengough, Fred Buechler, J. W. Boyd and William Cramp, a committee representing the G. A. R., and Charles F. McKenna, Frank L. Blair, J. Milton Ray and T. D. Evans, a committee from the Union Veteran Legion, met County Commissioners Mercer, Evans and Clark yesterday, to discuss the matter of the proposed soldiers' and sailors' memorial hall. The committees presented the commissioners with a full report of the actions of three grand juries and the order of court, and afterwards discussed the matter of a site, without deciding on any particular place.

The disadvantage of a downtown site is the enormous cost. The hill district was not considered because of the lack of street car facilities, and the East End was thought to be too far from the center of the city. The South Side was not mentioned. It was decided to have the organizations of soldiers appoint a committee on site, which will meet with the commissioners and definitely decide on a proper place for the memorial.

Allegheny is early in line for the honor. A number of old soldiers of that city called upon Mayor Wyman, with a request that he start a movement to secure the hall for Allegheny. Their spokesman was George I. Rudolph of Abe Patterson Post No. 88. The delegation suggested that the mayor interest the city councils and the business men, with a message or proclamation to the effect that the square at Ohio and Federal streets, now used as a park, be donated to the county commissioners upon which to erect the memorial. They said the building would then cost nearly $1,000,000, and would be a great honor to Allegheny. The mayor promised to consider the matter and give the delegation an answer this week.

Carnegie Wants New Foundry.

Citizens of Carnegie will endeavor to raise $100,000 in order to induce a company of which George Hogg is a member, to erect its new foundry in the town. At a meeting of the Carnegie board of trade, Monday night, Mr. Hogg stated that his company looked to the citizens to raise this amount. A committee will be appointed by President B. M. Goldsmith to solicit subscriptions to the fund. After the meeting the board held its annual banquet, at which the music was furnished by the High School Glee club. In his address of welcome, delivered at the banquet, President Goldsmith stated that the immediate needs of the borough were a hospital and a safe passage over the railroad crossing in Chartiers street.

HILL DUMP PAYS LARGE PROFITS

Councilman Stevenson Says $5,000 is Realized by Delay of a Contract.

PENALTIES TO BE COLLECTED

Attack on Contractor McQuade of Lauler Booth Faction of Citizens Party—New Turn Given to Fourteen Ward Politics.

Common Councilman W. H. Stevenson made a discovery yesterday, which he proposes to use against his opponents in the Citizens party of the Fourteenth ward who are trying to drive him out of local politics. Stevenson claims to have unearthed a plan which he estimates has netted some one in the neighborhood of $5,000.

He announces his intention of having an investigation by councils, whereby he hopes to make James H. McQuade, a contractor of the Fourteenth ward, pay heavy penalties for the alleged violation of a contract to build a park on the site of the old Bedford avenue basin, and to prevent McQuade from using the basin as a dumping ground.

Stevenson learned yesterday that contractors excavating for large buildings downtown, and elsewhere, were dumping earth and other material in the Bedford basin, and that 25 cents a load was being charged for every load dumped there.

Contractor McQuade admitted last evening that he allowed contractors to dump in the Bedford reservoir and that he charged contractors for this privilege. He said he had the contract to fill the basin and grade it for a small park, and claimed the right to collect money for the use of the basin as a dump by other contractors.

LOOKED OVER THE RECORDS.

Councilman Stevenson visited the mayor's office yesterday afternoon and an inspection of the records revealed the fact that the contract for the conversion of the Bedford basin into recreation grounds was given to McQuade about a year ago, and expired on September 30, 1902. The contract also contains the provision that the contractor shall pay $25 for each day that the completion of the work is delayed beyond the time specified in the contract. McQuade was awarded the contract at $1,400.

Stevenson said that he would introduce a resolution at the next meeting of councils to instruct the director of the department of public works to collect the penalties, which amount to over $6,000, and to stop the dumping in the basin. Stevenson says that contractors excavating for buildings buy printed tickets which entitle them to dump earth and other material in the reservoir at 25 cents a load, and that the contractors supply their teamsters with these tickets. A ticket is given to a man at the reservoir whenever a teamster hauls a load to the place to dump.

STEVENSON PRODUCED A TICKET.

Stevenson exhibited one ticket which he said had been given him by a teamster. The ticket read: "Good for one load at the B. B. D."

McQuade was asked for a statement yesterday, and he did not deny that he is filling up the reservoir and charging for all material dumped in there. He said the job had not been completed within the time specified in the contract because he had been stopped, but he would not say who stopped the work. He said: "There was some delay about signing the contract last summer, and I was stopped after I began. They cannot collect any penalties from me under these conditions. My contract is to fill the grounds up and to make a playground out of it, and there is no harm if I wish to charge contractors who use it as a dump."

McQuade has been paid $800 by the city for work supposed to have been done. The contractor belongs to the Lauler-Booth faction in the Fourteenth ward which is opposing Stevenson's control of the Citizens ward committee and his re-election to councils.

SHARES THE FORTUNE WITH ROOSEVELT

Robert B. Scott Included Among Heirs to Vermilyea Estate of New York.

IS A CLERK AT LOCAL HOTEL

Property Was Granted to a Company of Twenty-Three Men in 1666, Among Them Being an Ancestor of the Pittsburgh Heir.

H. B. Scott.

Since the announcement that a valuable estate in New York will revert to President Theodore Roosevelt and other heirs, it has developed that Ralph Benton Scott, at present a clerk at the Duquesne hotel, is included in the list. He has been notified that attorneys have been looking up the descendants and finds that he will come in for about one-seventieth part of the estate.

The heirs state that records show that in 1666 a grant of what is now a portion of Manhattan above the Harlem river, was made to a company of 23 men. One of these was named Vermilyea, who is said to have been an ancestor of the claimants.

It is discovered that Mrs. Hettie Benton, who was a Miss Vermilyea, was a great grandmother of Ralph B. Scott. She married the Rev. Walter Benton, a pioneer of New York, who migrated to Indiana in 1819. To this union was born a daughter, and she married a James H. Scott. Their first son was named James H., after his father, and he was the father of Ralph B. Ralph's father died a few years ago, which adds to the trouble in establishing his claim as an heir.

A prominent lawyer of New York has been detailed to look after the heirs to the property, and so far he has found 79 who are entitled to equal shares. Mr. Scott had been night clerk at the Duquesne hotel. About two months ago he left for Buffalo, where he continued in the hotel business until Monday, when he decided that Pittsburgh had brighter prospects for him and returned, securing a position at the Duquesne as day clerk.

COMPENSATION FOR THE DUQUESNE WAY GRANT

Pennsylvania Railroad Will Offer Annual Sum at Meeting of Committee Tonight.

Chairman George W. McNeil of the joint corporations committee of councils, which meets tonight to consider the railroad ordinances of the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore & Ohio railroad companies, stated last evening that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company would offer an annual compensation for the franchise to build an elevated line in Duquesne way, but he did not know definitely what the amount would be. He said the company ought to pay literally for such a franchise.

Chairman McNeil stated that he did not think the company would agree to relinquish its claim against the city for improvements in the vicinity of Union station as compensation for the Duquesne way franchise and other grants the company is asking.

Robert Pitcairn, resident assistant to the president of the Pennsylvania railroad, called upon Director F. M. Bigelow, yesterday, and the two discussed the pending railroad ordinances.

LEAGUE GAMES TODAY.

Brooklyn at Boston.
New York at Philadelphia.

A crowd of 7,100 yesterday afternoon watched the Pirates take the second game from the Chicago team, and thus give themselves a clear title to second place. The score of yesterday's game was, Pittsburg 6, Chicago, 3.

The contest was a fine one, from the spectators' point of view, and there were enough sensational plays to keep that large crowd on the top wave of enthusiasm during the afternoon. The most sensational play was made by Tommy Leach in the seventh, when, with Slagle on first by reason of a base on balls and Casey at bat, the latter landed on one of Phillipe's curves and started it on a line for left field. As the ball neared Leach he bounded into the air, caught the ball and then had plenty of time to double up Slagle at first. The play was most sensational, and the cheers that followed were both loud and long.

Jack Taylor, who has been a Pirate hoodoo for many seasons, was in the pitchers' box for the visitors, and Manager Selee figured on a victory, as the champions have only won three games from Taylor in as many seasons. It was not Taylor's turn to pitch, but he was anxious to head off the Pirates and volunteered his services. It must be said for him that he pitched a fine game, but the champions managed to bunch just enough hits to bring in sufficient runs to win. The support given Phillipe was splendid, there being but one mistake made, a low throw by Tinker, but it was responsibles for one of the Pirates' runs.

Deacon Phillippe was also called on to pitch out of his turn, because Eddie Doheny is nursing a sore arm. The majority of the spectators had not forgotten that ninth inning rally of the Chicago team on their last visit here, when nine hits and nine runs were made off the deacon's delivery in the ninth inning. Phillipe had not forgotten that awful inning, either, and he started out for revenge yesterday, and he got it all right, aided and abetted by his fellow players, who furnished grand support, particularly Leach and Phelps, whose fielding was little short of phenomenal.

The game started off as if the visitors were going to walk away with the victory, and there was no one among the spectators. They accumulated three runs in the second inning, and they looked as large as the Santos-Dumont airship for four innings. Bransfield started them on the way to their three runs by making a bad toss to Phillippe on Evans' grounder, the runner going to second, and he went to third on Harley's infield single. Harley stole second, and Evans scored on Kling's three-bagger to left center. Kling brought in the third run on Taylor's fly out to Sebring. That ended their scoring, although they were in position for runs at different times, but fast work by the Pirates killed their chances.

The fifth inning was reached before the locals showed any desire to dally with Taylor's curves. In this inning Leach led off with a base on balls and Ritchey plunked up a fly back of second which Evers and Tinker got under after a long run. Phelps made a pretty bunt and filled the bases. After a consultation between Tinker and Taylor the Chicago infield played in, and that's where the mistake was made, Deacon Phillippe placed a "Texas leaguer" back of second on which Leach and Ritchey scored and Phelps reached third. Phelps brought in the fourth run on Beaumont's fly out to Jones in middle field.

In the sixth Wagner reached first on Evers' wild throw, went to second on a passed ball and scored on Ritchey's two-bagger to fright. In the eighth Wagner led off with a two-bagger to middle and scored on Leach's beauty of a three-base hit to the same field. Tommy scored on Phelps' fly out to Harley. The score:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Patsy Donovan and his tribe of Cardinals watched the game from the grandstand. The Cardinals were on their way east and stopped over to break a long journey and to get a glimpse of two real ball teams at work.

Yesterday's victory made the Pirates' eleventh straight win, which is a record for the team as well as the season's record for the league. The best record heretofore held by any Pittsburgh team was ten straight victories.

Hans Wagner in the fourth inning gave an exhibition of base running that stirred up the enthusiasm of the spectators. Hans reached first by forcing Clarke at second, and he at once proceeded to steal second and on the next pitch he was off like a shot and stole third as slick as a whistle.

Tommy Leach's three-bagger in the eighth inning was a terrific smash and had it not been that the second baseman had come in deep middle field the hit would have easily been good for a home run. The soft ground stopped the ball and allowed the fielder to get it and roll Leach on third base.

The visitors were given an object lesson in team play by the Pirates in the seventh inning when Sebring and Beaumont both started after Taylor's fly. It looked as though there would be a collision, but Manager Clarke cried out for Sebring and quick as a flash Beaumont dropped to the ground and Sebring made the catch.

That play contributed by Tommy Leach in the seventh inning was of the kind sometimes read about, but very seldom seen. The ball left Casey's bat like a shot and was headed for left field, but Tommy went high into the air and shoving up his gloved hand pulled it down, and then had plenty of time to throw Slagle out at first.

When Manager Clarke reaches Philadelphia he will probably carry with him a nice present for brother-in-law "Chic" Fraser. It was "Chic" who pitched such a magnificent game against the Giants yesterday, and it was brother-in-law "Chic" who smashed out a home run and won the game for the Quakers in the twelfth inning.

After Tommy Leach had completed his sensational double play in the seventh inning the crowd cheered the little fellow to the echo and in the following inning a man dressed in the uniform of a traction employe, chased out on the field and handed Tommy a handful of coin which the occupants of the left field bleachers had contributed for his clever play.

A party of jolly Germans occupied the two private boxes in the east wing of the stand and they kept the other box occupants in good humor by singing "Hilee, Hilee" whenever a Pirate contributed a hit or a good play. In the seventh inning when Leach put up his great double play the warblers sang their favorite selection a half dozen times and the crowd cheered them.

The work of Umpire Moran yesterday was not much of an improvement on his showing of the day before and many of his base decisions were open to criticism, while his judgment on balls and strikes was very bad. In the eighth inning he showed that he was exalted by getting himself mixed as to which ball to put in play and the spectators as well as the players laughed at his predicament.

In the third inning Jones of Chicago drove the ball into left field and the hit should have only been good for a single, but as Clarke stooped to gather the ball in, it took a bad bounded and avoided his clutch, Jones getting an extra base thereby. Clarke's friends in the left field bleachers who are the most exacting critics in the land, got back at Capt. Fred by yelling "Wake up and get into the game."

The Chicago team stands in need of a heady field captain to direct plays. On Monday the Pirates were handed three runs by stupid work on the part of the players, who got into a mix up as to which one should take a fly ball, and yesterday there was a repetition of this when Tinker and Evers got into a mix up and allowed Ritchey's fly to drop safe. A captain to call out who should take the ball is what the team needs.

Bransfield did not display the best of judgment in the second inning after gathering in Ever's not grounder down by first base. It looked as if he had plenty of time to get over to the base himself instead of waiting for Phillippe to cover it, and Fred Clarke's admonition of "Come boys, get into the game" was a timely one. Bransfield's toss to Phillippe was wild and that error started the Chicago team to its way to three runs, all of which were scored in that inning.

During the Pirates' preliminary practice Leach and Bransfield changed places and the work of both players furnished the spectators with a great deal of amusement. Tommy is so small that the players had hard work gauging the throw to first base and the little fellow was kept jumping to get the throws. At third Bransfield acted much like a fish out of water, and was completely at sea on ground balls. These players had better stick to their regular positions where they are stars.

Hans Wagner has not been doing any hitting in the last two or three games and the Carnegie boy was worried over the loss of his batting eye. He tried hard for a hit on his first three times at bat yesterday but failed to get the ball safe. When Hans appeared at bat in the eighth inning he shifted his position fast for him and to the surprise of his fellow players and the spectators he cracked out a beauty of a two-bagger to middle field. It might be just as well for Hans to keep on batting left handed.

WINS HIS GAME.

Fraser in Twelfth Gets a Remarkable Homer Off McGinnity.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—Fraser's home run hit to left in the twelfth inning gave the home club a victory over New York today. It was a pitchers' battle from start to finish. Fraser's hit has never been equaled here but once, when Delehanty three years ago made a similar drive. The local management has signed Pitchers Williams of Chicago and Washburn of this city. NEW CONTENDER.

The Picket Covers Derby Distance in Sensational Time of 2:33.

CHICAGO, June 16.—The positive announcement that Irish Lad will not be sent from New York to run in the American Derby has left Savable a top heavy favorite for the race Saturday. The price is 2 to 1. The race is still an open proposition. A new contender loomed up today in The Picket. He was given one of the most sensational workouts ever performed by a derby candidate. In a trial this morning he went the full derby distance, one mile and a half, with about 120 pounds up, in 2:33—the time Easter Hat ran in when he won. been made in the derby. Robert Waddell, the winner in 1891, holds the derby record of 2:33 4-5.

As The Picket has never won a race and will thus get an allowance of seven pounds, his workout brings him into the limelight. The fractional time of the workout follows: One-eighth, :12½; quarter, :24 2-5; three-eighths, :37 4-5; half mile, :49 2-5; five-eighths, 1:02 1-5; three-quarters, 1:14 1-5; seven-eighths, 1:28; one mile, 1:40 1-5; mile and eighth, 1:53; mile and quarter, 2:06 4-5; mile and three-eighths, 2:20; mile and half, 2:33. His price was cut 8 to 1. The prospects are that about 12 horses will go to the post.

LACKS PITCHERS.

Yale, However, Will Have Seasoned Twirlers Next Year.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(Special.)—All games that Yale has lost in her leading baseball contests this year have been due to the lack of pitching material. Bowman, the freshman, has been kept in the box till he weakened, and there was no substitute able to fill his place. Since Carter was graduated eight years ago Yale has had no pitcher of first-class ability.

Next year there is a different outlook, for Yale will have Bowman back; Jackson, the former Exeter pitcher, who left college because of illness this spring, and Mackay, the former George Town pitcher, who is in college, but not eligible under the one-year residence rule.

As a result of Saturday's game Yale men have been forced to respect more than ever the never-say-die spirit of old Nassau, which fights till the last man is out—to the last second of play is over. C. P. GRENEKER.

GARDNER AND ROOT.

Winner of the Fort Erie Fight Will Meet Fitzsimmons.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(Special.)—Jack Root and George Gardner are training hard for their fight for the lightweight championship, which will be decided at the Fort Erie club on July 4 in the afternoon. Gardner buckled down to work Thursday last at Buffalo, while Root has started training in Chicago.

The battle should be one of the best of the year. The winner will probably be matched with Bob Fitzsimmons. Fitzsimmons is certain in his desire to meet the winner, and the man who is lucky enough to catch the referee's eye and the long end of the purse on July 4 will have Ruby Robert for a contender.

P. A. C. Wins Twilight Game.

At Friendship park last evening P. A. C. took the National Transit Company team into camp in the first twilight game of the season 12 to 2. Ike Lawrence pitched the first four innings for P. A. C. and displayed fine form, allowing the visitors but two singles. Bill Coleman occupied the rubber for the balance of the game and gave a fine exhibition of curves and shoots. Score:

PIRATES START ON SECOND EASTERN TRIP

Manager Clarke Took Sixteen Along—Ritchey Is Under the Weather.

Manager Fred Clarke and his Pirate crew of 16 left last night over the Pennsylvania railroad for Boston where on Thursday they open their second eastern series. The players, with the exception of Ritchey, were in the best of shape, and happy, over being safe in second place and within touch of the Giants and first place.

Ritchey was suffering with a badly disordered stomach and played in yesterday's game when he should have been in bed. Before the game the second baseman complained of not being well, and Manager Clarke wanted him to lay off for the remainder, but he refused, although notwithstanding that he was hardly able to hold his head up he put up a splendid game, making some stops and throws that brought forth cheers from the spectators. Just before the departure of the train President Dreyfuss produced a quart of brandy which he turned over to Hans Wagner, who is to be Ritchey's nurse, and he was instructed not to be sparing with the medicine.

Manager Clarke was accompanied by his wife and little daughter Helen, who will go as far as Philadelphia where they will visit relatives. At the depot the Clarke family held a little jollification meeting over the achievement of Brother-in-law "Chic" Fraser, who won the game for the Quakers with a home run in the twelfth inning. Fraser was in this city on Monday and had dinner with the Clarke family, and he told brother-in-law Fred there he owed the Pirate's pitching and he was going to hand it to them yesterday, and he kept his word.

Manager Clarke said just before the train started that the Pirates are going after every game on the trip, but he refused to commit himself as to the number of games the team may win. President Dreyfuss did not go east with the team last night, but he will join the boys in Boston on Thursday. The local club owner denied the story published yesterday that Falkenberg and Merritt had been turned over to the Worcester club. Falkenberg has gone to Worcester to see friends a few days before going he secured the consent of the local club officials to allow him to pitch a game or two just for the practice it will give him. President Dreyfuss also stated emphatically that both Falkenberg and Merritt are still members of the Pittsburgh club. The one Pirate left at home is Catcher Harry Smith, who is still nursing a very sore finger.

MONEY FOR ALL.

Winning Team Each Night at Colosseum Races Will Be Rewarded.

As an incentive to the riders to extend themselves and try to capture each lap and mile, the Colosseum management has decided to reward each team in next week's six-day meet according to the distance covered each night.

Sixteen riders are entered, who will be divided into eight teams, and the total amount of prize money is $3,500. The team riding the largest number of laps each night will receive $20; $2 will also be paid for each mile (estimated at 44 miles per night) and grand finish prizes for each night will be $30, $20 and $10, to the first, second and third teams.

This figures $168 per night as intermediate money, or $648 on the week, it not being necessary to pay the grand finish money on Saturday night. This leaves a balance of $1,552, which will be divided 25, 20, 15, 12, 10, 7, 6 and 5 per cent to the different teams, according to their positions at the finish of the week.

The three-cornered motor paced race Monday night, which brings together Freeman, Nettling and Walthour, figures in the grand paced championships.

CHALLENGER SELECTED.

The Kolutoo Will Go After the Canadian Cup.

MANCHESTER, MASS., June 16.—The Manchester yacht Kolutoo has been selected, tentatively, to be the challenger for the Seawanhake cup now held by the Canadians. The fifth race of the series to select the challenger was not sailed today owing to bad weather and the committee in charge decided to call it, the Kolutoo having shown decided superiority under conditions of wind and water over the other boats. The other Manchester boat, Vampire, was such a good second, however, that she may be sent to Lake St. Louis with the Kolutoo, after alterations in her have been made.

The Kolutoo won three of the four races sailed, losing one to the Vampire by two seconds because of misjudgment in overstanding the finish line. The Frontenac, Atalanta, Dulce and Medea, the other contesting boats, were outclassed.

Wisconsin Crew Gets Shelter at Poughkeepsie.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 16.—The Wisconsin crews were today given the storehouse at the Bucksye dock for a boathouse, this settling the little unpleasantness which arose last evening over the matter. The Wisconsin's new shell arrived today from Boston.

Ideal water conditions prevailed and all the crews of Columbia and Pennsylvania took full advantage of it, the Wisconsins not having their boats ready to go out. The Pennsylvania eight had a brush for a couple of miles in which the 'varsity crew won.

NEW WAGON RECORD.

Lou Dillon Went a Fast Mile at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, O., June 16.—At the Matinee races of the Gentlemen Driving club at Glenville this afternoon Lou Dillon, owned by Dr. Ida G. Billings, made a new world's record to wagon of 2:06¾, the former being 2:07, by Lucille, also owned by Mr. Billings. The last quarter in today's race was made in 29¼.

WON ON MISPLAYS.

Isbell's Blunders Gave Griffith's Team a Victory.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Misplays aided the Greater New Yorks in winning from the Chicagos today. It was an even break between Griffiths and White, each man pitching a good game. A muff and a fumble by Isbell gave the locals their only run. The game was marked by brilliant fielding. Score:

WILL ORGANIZE AN INDEPENDENT

Bricklayers to Form an Organization to Be Affiliated With Building Trades Council.

CONTRACTORS TO SUPPORT IT

Backbone of the Fight Between the Bricklayers and Stone Masons Broken Yesterday by Business Agents Taking the Matter in Hand.

An independent association of bricklayers is to be organized immediately. That such a move was on was stated exclusively in The Gazette last Friday. The forming of the union will be facilitated by an understanding between the Building Trades' council and the Builders' league.

The indications are the fight between the bricklayers and stone masons will gradually decrease until all the men are at work. It is probable that two organizations will be maintained the same as with the carpenters.

The fight between the bricklayers and stone masons was given a severe blow yesterday morning when the business agents held a special meeting at which a resolution was adopted condemning the action of the Bricklayers and Stone Masons' International union and pledging support to the Stone Masons international union.

There was appointed a committee to meet the officials of the Builders' league, consisting of Henry W. Legleitner, president of the council; T. B. McDonald, business agent of the painters, and George Miller of the stone cutters. The committee is said to have made a proposition to the league officials that the crafts affiliated with the building trades are willing, and will work with any bricklayers the contractors see fit to employ, providing they are union men, and that the contractors will pay the same wages as paid the B. M. I. U. men before the fight began. The men will be permitted to work on a Building Trades' council card and must form an organization, independent of the B. M. I. U. and affiliated with the Building Trades council.

Several questions were asked the committee by the contractors present. The committee would not agree to furnish the men. The contractors would be expected to do that part of the work.

After the conference between the committee and the Builders' league, the latter went into executive session to consider the proposition, but did not give out what action was taken. It is thought the contractors will accept the proposition of the Building Trades' council.

One of the officials of the Builders' league said that the proposition of the Building Trades' council must be submitted to the contractors directly involved; namely, the brick and stone contractors. He intimated, however, that it would be accepted.

In the Labor World.

The strike of the miners at the Spring Hill coal works was declared off yesterday when the men agreed to accept the company's offer of 72 cents a ton. The men went out two months ago for 80 cents.

The conference of the Tin Workers' International Protective Association of America and the American Tin Plate Company ended yesterday. The wage scale for the year beginning July 1 was signed. It is the same as was in vogue last year.

An association of local express and delivery men has been formed. The following officers were elected: President, W. J. Wantzer; vice president, F. K. McKenzie; secretary, J. W. Parker; treasurer, J. M. Sims. It was decided that no expressman will call for goods after 4 p. m.

KNOX ASKED TO DECIDE.

Can the Government Complete Cruiser Galveston at Expense of Trigg's Sureties?

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Attorney General Knox has been asked for an opinion as to the right of the navy department to complete the cruiser Galveston, at the Norfolk navy yard at the expense of the sureties of the failed Trigg Shipbuilding Company at Richmond, Va. Meanwhile work on the vessel is delayed. Some of the sub-contractors oppose removal of the boat unless their claims against the Trigg's are settled.

The war department has an unfinished hydraulic dredge at the Trigg works and will await the attorney general's opinion before action.

SCENE OF MANY MURDERS HAS BEEN DEMOLISHED

The "Bowery" district in McKeesport, where houses by the hundreds are being razed to make way for the new tube mills, has become a mecca for sight-seers. The place is thronged every evening by persons interested in the transformation going on.

A large portion of the ground has been cleared and where hundreds formerly resided, but few families still make their home. They will be driven out within a short time. "Red Row," which has a record of five murders and hundreds of lawless events to its credit, was demolished yesterday. The Riverside public school has also been torn down.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES AND PROGRAMS AT COLLEGES

CANTON, O., June 16.—(Special.)—The commencement of the commercial department of the Canton High school was held this evening. The class address was delivered by H. A. Cavanaugh and Mrs. Frank Baird, president of the board of education, presented the diplomas. The evening's program was composed of the following literary productions: "Andre and Hale," Ross Marberger; "The Southern Negro," Roy Unger; "Public Opinion," Lewis White; "The Sentiment of Loyalty," Sadie Pontius; "Bunker Hill," Clara Nigman; "Waves," Bertha Bowden; "The General's Client," Edwin Booth; "The Doom of Claudius and Cynthia," Virginia Hugenot; valedictorian; Katherine Kell. There were 31 members in the class.

XENIA, O., June 16.—(Special.)—At the exercises commemorative of the 50th anniversary of Antioch college, founded by Horace Mann, Chaplain George Collier, U. S. A., founder of the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Orphans Home, made an address in delivering the diplomas to the graduates.

MT. PLEASANT, PA., June 16.—(Special.)—The annual contest of the Mt. Pleasant institute took place last evening and the following were awarded medals: Miss Hazel Cox, piano; Miss Myrtle Hoy, elocution; Miss Edith King, vocal.

GROVE CITY, PA., June 16.—(Special.)—The class day exercises of Grove City college were held today with the following program: Piano duet, Ethel Ashton, Bullion, Anna Huston, Calcutta, Martha Pettigrew, Rural Valley, H. A. Dickey, Bells Landing; president's address, by C. E. Bovard, of Tarentum; history, A. G. Sterbitz, Livermore; declamation, George A. Sutton, Harrisville; prophecy, Helen Carlin, Grove City; optimist, Mina Kohlmeyer, Clintonville; oration, W. P. McConkey, Grove City; poem, A. W. Roberts, Columbia; pessimist, J. Herron Miller, Zelienople; artist, Frank C. Masson, Grove City; valedictorian, Margaret Robinson, New Castle; class song.

A reception was held by the art department from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m., the rooms being crowded with visitors desirous of seeing the paintings of the pupils in this department. A particularly noteworthy event was the exercises held by the music department tonight in Carnegie hall. The musical director is Herr Hermann Poehlmann, late professor in the Royal Conservatory of Music, Dresden, Saxony. He was assisted by Frau J. Poehlmann-Stech, who sang the aria from "Il Phrophet" and also assisted her husband in a duet entitled "Love's Philosophy."

The graduates this year are Misses E. Ashton and M. Pettigrew and H. Dickey of Pennsylvania, and Miss A. Huston of Ohio, who, with the exception of Miss Pettigrew, who was ill, rendered selections from the masters. A soprano solo by Miss Grace Stover and a violin solo by Miss B. Blayney, a post-graduate, added to the occasion.

ALLIANCE, O., June 16.—(Special.)—Trustees of Mount Union college this afternoon re-elected Richard Brown of Youngstown, president; Silas J. Williams, Alliance, vice president; Prof. J. L. Shunk, secretary, and Isaac H. Brownfield, Uniontown, Pa., trustee. Dr. Albert B. Riker was re-elected president of the college, and the resignation of Dr. William Soule, department of science, was accepted.

The intercollegiate debate tonight between Buchtel college of Akron and Mt. Union, which had the affirmative of the question, "Resolved, That labor unions should be compelled to incorporate," Mt. Union was represented by D. W. Kurtz, Stanley Wilson and W. D. Shilts; Buchtel's debaters were B. F. Haftinger, F. G. Swanson and C. C. Carlton.

SHARON, PA., June 16.—(Special.)—The commencement exercises of the Sharon High school were held tonight in the Morgan opera house. The graduates are Helen Riddell, Anna Greggs, William G. Everhart, Chauncey E. Brockway and George Gibson.

MEADVILLE, PA., June 16.—(Special.)—Daniel Dorchester, Jr., of Pittsburgh, delivered the address before the Phi Beta Kappa this evening in connection with the commencement of Allegheny college. The class day exercises also took place today. The town is filled with friends and alumni of the college.

WOOSTER, O., June 16.—(Special.)—One of the topics discussed by those who attended the commencement exercises of Wooster university today was the probability of Lane seminary being transferred to this city, to be conducted in connection with the university. It was stated that the board of trustees would listen to a proposition looking to the transfer. A number of the trustees insisted that as far as they knew there was nothing in the story. Another topic discussed was the statement that President Holden had tendered his resignation some days ago because a deficit of $40,000 was not being met, but that he withdrew it with the understanding that money would be raised. The trustees announced that $40,000 of the required $40,000 was still unpledged. There is no question but that the money will be raised. The musical event of the week took place tonight in Memorial chapel, when the Oratorio chorus gave a fine production of Gounod's St. Cecelia's mass, with local singers as the soloists. The Hon. John A. McDowell, ex-member of congress, was elected to the chair of pedagogy.

MORGANTOWN, W. VA., June 16.—(Special.)—The regents of the West Virginia university today elected J. N. Callahan, lately of John Hopkins university, professor of history, and W. K. L. Fleming of Columbus university assistant professor of history. Prof. Callahan succeeds Prof. E. F. Fast, who resigned.

VICTIM DIES WITHOUT REGAINING CONSCIOUSNESS

WILMINGTON, DEL., June 16.—(Special.)—Miss Helen S. Bishop, the school girl who was assaulted yesterday, it is alleged, by George White, a negro, died this afternoon without regaining consciousness. White was held for court. He is now locked up in the county workhouse charged with both murder and assault, for either of which the penalty in this state is death.

MANUFACTURERS OFFER REFUSED

LITTLE DEMAND FOR GLASS

Manufacturers Will Meet Again Today to Consider Another Proposition. Labor Disturbance Is the Prime Cause of the Offer Being Rejected.

On account of the labor disturbances in various parts of the country, the National Window Glass Jobbers association turned down the proposition of the associated manufacturing concerns to sell 300,000 boxes of glass at 88 per cent off the old list. The option to take this amount of glass expired yesterday, and President W. T. Gray, representing the jobbers, met the officials of the American Company, the Federation Window Glass Company and the Independent Window Glass Company, at which he informed them that the jobbers were not in a position to take any more glass.

The meeting took place in the Farmers Bank building. President James A. Chambers of the American Company was out of the city and could not attend the meeting. This company was represented by William Loeffler, vice president, and E. I. Phillips, secretary. Leopold Mambourg, secretary, and W. L. Monro, treasurer, represented the Federation and C. P. Cole, president, the Independent.

Prices were not discussed. The manufacturers had previously decided to give the jobbers 300,000 boxes at the price mentioned and the jobbers were to decide by yesterday whether they would accept them. The reply was as stated. The meeting was of short duration.

The failure of the jobbers to take the glass offered and open negotiations for a larger purchase may lead to complications in the window glass market. It is known that the jobbers are short on some popular sizes and are delaying in buying from the three principal producers in the expectation of getting cheaper glass from the outside independent manufacturers who continue to operate their factories after the three big companies close.

The manufacturers will hold a meeting this morning. President Chambers is expected to be present. It is thought the manufacturers will make a better proposition to the jobbers. Mr. Gray will remain in the city until after the meeting, and should a better offer be made he will be called into conference with the manufacturers.

The situation is in a perplexing condition. President Gray said last night that during his 20 years' experience in the window glass business he had never found business so dull and so little demand for glass, which fact, he thought, was due to the cessation of building operations on account of the many labor troubles in many cities. President Cole said that difficulties might affect the time in starting the next fire. He thinks the next fire will not be started until the wage question and labor disputes have been settled.

Wiley and Staff Coming to Town.

Gen. John A. Wiley and staff will be in Pittsburgh Monday on their way to Somerset, where they will go to mark out the camp to be occupied by the state militia during the annual encampment.

Ingram to Have Bond Issue.

KEENAN FACTION WAS BEATEN TWO TO ONE

Official Returns Show Increase in Vote for Dotyites in Westmoreland County.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

GREENSBURG, PA., June 16.—(Special.)—The official count of the Democratic primaries on Saturday was completed today and the totals indicate that the Doty victory was greater than was estimated from the unofficial returns. The Keenan faction is beaten two to one.

The result was: Poor director, Herman Hamil, Mt. Pleasant township, 4,075; J. Q. Truxal, Southeast Greensburg, 3,427; W. W. Martz, Salem township, 2,012; George W. Megray, Latrobe, 2,034; jury commissioner, Michael Shoup, Greensburg, 2,756; H. H. Byers, Hempfield township, 1,643.

According to the returns the Dotyites have a majority of the county committeemen, which assures them control of the organization. The committeemen number 225, and it is claimed that 168 of them are Doty supporters. In some sections of the county primaries were not held, and Keenan men will be appointed on the committee.

SIX BUSINESS HOUSES ROBBED AND $500 TAKEN

NEW CASTLE, PA., June 16.—(Special.)—Burglars early this morning robbed six business places and escaped without leaving a clue, after getting $500 and $1,100 in notes. The places robbed were the H. C. Jensen furniture store, the White & McKinney wholesale notion store, the City Shoe Store, H. R. Dunlop & Sons' plumbing shop, the New Castle Transfer Company, and W. C. & R. B. NEW CASTLE BLACKSMITH HAS INVENTED AIRSHIP

Proposes to Compete With Santos-Dumont at the St. Louis Exposition.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., June 16.—A. Bratchie, a blacksmith, is the inventor of an airship which he believes will fully solve the question of aerial navigation. He has been experimenting for years. He is having the invention patented and will exhibit it at the St. Louis exposition next year and strive for the $100,000 prize offered for the successful airship.

The inventor says three things alone are essential to successful aerial navigation: base of control, counter action, and generated force. He believes his machine has them all.

His balloon is controlled entirely by two levers. One governs its course and the other controls its elevation. He says any motor which will propel a bicycle or automobile will suffice for his airship, and claims to be able to rise directly in the air and suspend the machine at any desired elevation. He is securing patents in foreign countries.

THIN FOLKS MADE FAT.

The Way Mi-o-na Works Its Wonders. Guaranteed by Schilling Bros. Co., Penn and Frankstown Aves.

In these days of physical culture and health foods, one would hardly expect to see any thin, weak, emaciated people, but in spite of all this nearly every other person you meet is thin and scrawny.

Good, healthy flesh can only be gained by the use of the proper food, together with natural action of the digestive organs. Nine people out of ten, in order to weigh as much as they ought and to be perfectly healthy, should use Mi-o-na, the great flesh-forming food and digestion regulator. Weigh yourself before commencing to use these little tablets and see how your weight increases.

Mi-o-na does not contain a particle of pepsin, the basis of the ordinary dyspepsia remedy and which never made a cure of dyspepsia. Mi-o-na has valuable flesh-forming properties, tones up and strengthens the digestive organs, helps digest the food and absolutely and permanently cures the worst forms of dyspepsia.

Schilling Bros. Co., the popular druggists, have sold in the last few weeks a great many packages of Mi-o-na, every one with their personal guarantee to refund the money if it did not give satisfaction, and they have had less than 2 per cent apply for a refund. Just think of it, less than 2 out of every hundred dyspeptics in Pittsburgh who have been using Mi-o-na found that it did not restore health and increase their weight. You run no risk whatever in buying this remedy. If you are not perfectly satisfied with the results Schilling Bros. Co. will return your money.

CARTER'S TERM NEARING AN END

The Former United States Army Engineer Will Be Liberated Next December.

HE NURSES SICK PRISONERS

Warden of Leavenworth Penitentiary Confers With Attorney General Knox. Says Convicts Did Splendid Work in Aiding Sufferers During Recent Flood.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 16.

Maj. R. W. McClaughry, warden of the United States penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., was today in consultation with Attorney General Knox with reference to the management of the penitentiary and appropriations for the continuation of work on four new cell houses now building. Maj. McClaughry informed the attorney general of the extent the penitentiary suffered by the recent floods. The losses will aggregate many thousands of dollars. A crop of several thousand acres of wheat was destroyed and many acres of corn so badly damaged that replanting will be necessary. He made a fine report of the way the prisoners worked to aid the flood sufferers. The prison bakeries turned out thousands of loaves of bread daily for the destitute and some of the prisoners worked day and night at the ovens.

There are about 1,000 prisoners at Leavenworth, the most interesting of whom is former Capt. Oberlin M. Carter of the Engineer corps of the army, convicted of defrauding the government while in charge of river improvements in Georgia.

"Carter will leave Leavenworth about December 1 next," said the warden. "His sentence was for five years and he will get 10 months off for good behavior. He has not served all of his sentence, as proceedings in the courts resulted in a delay of several months after the approval of the court-martial's finding, which counted as part of the sentence.

"When he entered the penitentiary he was a nervous wreck and slept but little. He is in good health now and will leave the prison very slightly changed in appearance. The only visitors he has received since he came to Leavenworth were his uncle, Capt. Carter of Illinois, who served in the civil war; his brother, a dentist in Chicago, and his attorney, Mr. Stone, also of Chicago.

"I have been told that Carter will accept an offer to go into mining in New Mexico, where his uncle has valuable mining properties. He has put in a large part of his spare time in reading works on mining engineering. A large number of the convicts are Indians from the Indian territory, where consumption is more common than among white people, and many of them are sent to the hospital with that fatal disease. Carter nurses them well and encourages them with kind words. He insists that he is an innocent man and declares that he will devote the rest of his life, if necessary, to obtain a vindication in the courts."

HOME BADLY NEEDED FOR CHILDREN'S SOCIETY

Much Good Work Is Done, but Lack of Means is a Great Handicap.

The Children's Home society needs a new home and needs it badly, as the present quarters are entirely too small to care for those taken in charge without taking into consideration the many applications that have to be partly neglected.

The annual meeting of the society was held yesterday afternoon in the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal church. In the report of the state superintendent, the Rev. W. Henry Thompson, he said that during the last year, ending March 31, the society had received 91 children; had placed and replaced in homes, 68; had returned for placement, 12; adjusted to relatives, 14; number in care during year, 130; died, 5; on hand, 43. At the beginning of the year 27 were at the home. The receipts for the year, which were obtained by popular contributions, were $8,196, with current expenses $8,028, leaving a balance in the treasury of $168. Mr. Thompson said the present home in Potter stret, East End, has only a small capacity and a much larger place is needed, for which he hoped to raise $25,000. The present home is rented. The work, he said, is yet in its infancy, as the society constantly is besieged with appeals to which they could not respond on account of lack of means. A state appropriation is hoped for, as they have not, as yet, received any state aid. A short address by the Rev. Hastings H. Hart of Chicago, followed.

The society was founded in 1883 in Illinois by the Rev. M. V. B. Van Arsdale. During the first year 40 children were placed in homes, with the result that a society was formed known as the "American Educational Aid Society," which title was afterward changed to "The Children's Home Society."

Since the society was organized 18,000 children have been placed or cared for in the United States, and during the last year 3,467 had been handled, with reports from four societies lacking.

When a child is received into the home, a careful inquiry is made into its parentage, with a design of discouraging neglect or evasion of parental obligations. A record of the child is kept until it is out of the care of the society by correspondence and visits by the local advisory boards. If it is found necessary a child is removed from one home and placed in another. All the children that are placed are given to families under written agreements that they shall be well taken care of.

New York Policeman Reprimanded for Using Excusably Emphatic Expletive.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(Special.)—Confusion and agitation swept the Brooklyn police force today. The cause was that Policeman Stevenson was on trial charged with saying "damn" while "in uniform and on duty."

The cause of Cassius Reguius's downfall was his love for birds. The policeman was on duty near the Crescent Athletic club grounds. Millett, a club member, playing golf on the grounds, discovered a small boy despoiling a robin's nest. Mr. Millett was lecturing the boy when the policeman came up. When Stevenson saw the situation he said:

"A boy who would kill a robin ought to have his d—n head shot off."

Mr. Millett was shocked at such a rude sentiment.

"Oh, my, don't say that," remarked Mr. Millett.

Then unashamed Policeman Stevenson replied: "I will say what I d—n please and I think you are butting in."

That was the final stroke for Mr. Millett and he reported the policeman. Before a commission today the policeman was severely reprimanded.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

Nearly 400 men are now employed at the Calumet and Arizona mine. The statement is made that enough ore has been blocked out to run the smelter at Douglas for five years. The ore is understood to be running more than 20 per cent copper and one stope samples 50 per cent copper.

The Calumet and Pittsburgh is sinking a double compartment shaft and has found some good ore. The prospecting shaft is down 900 feet, and there is every prospect that the mine will be a good producer.

On the Lake Superior and Pittsburgh property two shafts are down about 1,000 feet each. Work is somewhat delayed by a heavy flood of water, but it is expected that the ore body will be struck within a couple of hundred feet.

The Tonopah-Albemarle Gold Mining Company has recently been organized. The home office is at Campbell, N. Y. The corporation owns 12 claims, which adjoin those of the Mizpah Extension and the properties of the Butte-Tonopah. The company is capitalized on the basis of 1,000,000 shares, 440,000 of which is treasury stock.

The stimes plant by which losses in the treatment of Con. Mercur ores are to be abated will go into commission on July 1.

Spokane Review: Shenault McKibben of Elk City, Idaho, is in the city. He is a heavy stockholder in and superintendent of the mines owned by the Thunder Mountain Gold Company, of which C. E. Skinner of Pittsburgh is manager. He said: "A. E. Gallagher another of the stockholders in our properties, will be in the city Wednesday from the east. We are here to put in a five-stamp mill at our mine. Idaho mining properties generally are looking good to us, as well as to many other eastern capitalists who are now in our vicinity and arrive almost daily. We are, with one or two exceptions, Philadelphia people. The Thunder Mountain Gold Company's property is located 87 miles east of Stites and 10 miles east of the famous American Eagle mine. The American Eagle is showing up wonderfully. Now strikes three weeks ago showed ore running $4,000 a ton. It is now prepared to ship a large amount of ore to the smelter. Many other properties are being rapidly developed in this vicinity. That of the Crooked River Gold Mining Company is showing evidence of prosperity. It is now running an electric plant, has a 20-stamp mill on the ground and 50 more stamps in Chicago ready for immediate shipment. It is in the hands of Butte, Mont., parties."

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Spot tin advanced 12s 6d in London to £130 10s, and futures were £1 10s higher at £128 5s. Locally the market was firm, with inside prices a little higher; spot being quoted at $28 3-25@28 50. Copper was lower in London, declining £1 2s 6d, with spot closing at £57 12s 6d, while futures were 10s 6d lower at £56 12s 6d. Locally copper remained nominally unchanged at $14 50@14 75 for lake and electrolytic and at $14 00 for casting. Lead was 1s 3d lower at £11 5s in London, but here was unchanged. Spelter declined 2s 6d to £20 10s in London, was nominal here at $6 25. Iron closed at 52s 6d in Glasgow and at 46s in Middlesboro. Locally iron is lower and more or less nominal at $19 50@20 50 for No. 1 foundry, northern; $19 00@19 50 for No. 2 foundry, northern, while No. 1 foundry, southern and No. 1 foundry, southern soft, are quoted at $19 00@19 50. Warrants are nominal.

WIFE WAS KIDNAPED.

Cuban Woman Who Was to Meet Husband at Pier in New York Is Missing.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(Special.)—Somewhere in New York there is a young Cuban woman, who cannot speak a word of English, and who, according to her husband's story to the police, was kidnaped last Sunday upon her landing here from the Ward line steamer.

Roderigo Linares, the husband, is a member of the All-Cuban baseball team. He came to New York Sunday to meet his wife. Upon reaching the steamer pier Linares found that he was too late. As the little Cuban woman could not speak English she was much relieved to make the acquaintance on the steamer of two Americans, who talked with her in her own tongue, and two men offered to assist her in finding the house of a relative and she left the pier in their company.

STRAP-HANGERS GROW STRONGER DAY BY DAY

Wilkinsburg People Joined the Organization—Sub-Stations Considered.

Rapidly the Strap-Hangers' league is becoming stronger. Scarcely a day passes but that headquarters is besieged by persons who wish to join. Yesterday a delegation came in with about 200 names of persons who signed during the last two days.

At other places in the suburbs and in the city many persons are unable to come to headquarters, and for their convenience a solicitor will be sent. They will appear at all principal works. It is expected that the solicitors will secure at least 3,000 names by that method.

Another meeting of the executive committee of the league will be held in a few days to further consider plans to increase the membership of the organization. It is contended that the solicitors are unable to get the signatures of the women without making a house-to-house canvass. This would entail considerable expense.

A plan to be considered is to establish sub-stations at different suburbs. These will be open one day a week, thus giving all persons a chance to affiliate with the organization.

MOVEMENTS IN TRADE.

ONE THOUSAND NEW STEEL CARS FOR THE PITTSBURGH & LAKE ERIE RAILROAD

The equipment of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad received a substantial addition yesterday by the arrival of a consignment of steel gondolas from the Standard Steel Car Company. They constitute part of an order which was placed some time ago for 1,000 cars of this type with the Standard company, the first delivery of which was made a week ago. So far 800 of the 1,000 cars have been turned over to the railroad, and it is expected that the remaining 200 will be finished the present week.

The gondolas are of the latest model, with twin hoppers, have an actual capacity of 95,000 pounds, and are built at a cost of about $1,100 apiece. Within the last two years the railroad has acquired 2,750 of these cars, of which 1,750 were built by the Pressed Steel Car Company. The rapid growth of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie's coal and coke carrying business has taxed the road's supply of cars to the limit and necessitated this recent purchase.

There have also been completed at the American locomotive works, at Schenectady, N. Y., five passenger engines of the Atlantic type, at a cost approximating $16,000 each, which are due to leave Schenectady for Pittsburgh next Friday. They are for use on fast trains of the through service, which has been greatly improved by the new schedule, which went into effect last Sunday. The total expenditure by the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie for these latest additions to its equipment, is about $1,200,000.

Valley and Panhandle Statements.

The comparison of earnings and expenses of the Buffalo and Allegheny Valley division of the Pennsylvania railroad for April, 1903, and for the four months ending April 30, has just been issued. It shows for the month an increase of $74,894 in the gross earnings and of $32,827 in the net earnings. The expenses increased $41,567. For the four months there was an increase of $221,813 in the gross earnings and of $5,711 in the net earnings, the expenses increasing $216,102.

The regular monthly statement of the Panhandle, issued yesterday, shows that the gross earnings of $74,894 in the gross earnings and of $32,827 in the net earnings. The expenses increased $41,567. For the four months there was an increase of $221,813 in the gross earnings and of $5,711 in the net earnings, the expenses increasing $216,102.

The regular monthly statement of the Panhandle, issued yesterday, shows that the gross earnings for April were $265,465; the operating expenses increased $238,686, and the net earnings $26,819. January 1 to April 30 the gross earnings increased $43,768, while there was an increase in the operating expenses of $108,455, leaving a decrease in the net earnings of $114,686.

New Week-End Tickets.

Beginning with next Saturday, and continuing through the season, the Pennsylvania Company will sell "week-end" excursion tickets from Pittsburgh, Allegheny, Sewickley, Rochester, New Brighton, Beaver and Beaver Falls to Erie, North East, Conneaut Lake and Ashtabula at low rates. The tickets are good for Saturday trains to these points and to Sunday trains to Ashtabula, returning on Monday. The increasing popularity of the above resorts and the demand for round-trip rates, at or below the price of single fare tickets, are responsible for the offering by the railroads of these inducements. The prices of the week-end tickets are $3 to Erie, $2 25 to North East, $2 50 to Conneaut Lake and $2 50 to Ashtabula.

Faster Time To Detroit.

By a change in the schedule of the Michigan Central railroad, the Detroit sleeper on train No. 405 leaving the Union station over the Fort Wayne route at 2:20 p. m. eastern time, will arrive in Detroit at 7:20 p. m. the following day, 25 minutes earlier than formerly. From Cleveland to its destination the car is hauled over the line of the Michigan Central.

Railroad Notes.

N. K. Hoffman, chief clerk to the general superintendent of the Pittsburgh & Erie, is out of town for a few days on a vacation.

Robert Pitcairn returned yesterday from Chicago, where he went to attend a meeting of the grain rates committee of the American Railway association.

R. R. Bentley, general baggage agent of the Pennsylvania lines, is in Canada attending a convention of general baggage agents of that country and the United States.

The Bessemer & Lake Erie railroad has begun work on a new freight yard at Grove City, which will facilitate the handling of the heavy ore trains between the Pittsburgh district and the lake.

BARGE FLEET ALL OUT.

Four Millions of Bushels of Coal Passed Shallow Points—One Mishap.

The rivermen were favored with more water than they had calculated on from the amount of rainfall. Over 140 barges were sent down the river yesterday, which makes the total shipments for the short rise over 250 barges, carrying almost 4,000,000 bushels of coal. The getting away of this amount of coal on such a short, shallow rise is the reward of patience. For weeks rivermen have been ready to grasp the slightest opportunity and what water did come was utilized to the fullest extent.

The Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Company figured heavily in the movements. It sent out 250 barges with scarcely an accident. The Enterprise sank a barge and grounded another yesterday at Lisbon Island. For a short time the town which were coming behind were delayed, four blasting was resorted to and a channel was soon made at the expense of losing the coal. The steamers which took coal out yesterday were the Joseph Walton, Josh Cook, Jim Wood, Vallent, Invincible, Pacific No. 2, R. S. Wood and the Tremado. These steamers had 97 barges of coal and five model barges loaded with steel rails from John Moore and C. C. McKinley sent the fleet and right on the river superintending the maneuvering of the steamers.

The Harvester, owned by the A. R. Bird Coal Company, took in barges safely through the 7-foot stage at Davis Island dam last night with 11 feet and the river was falling.

The Kanawha was the down-river packet to leave. There were no arrivals except the Woodward from Morgantown. The Keystone State is on the way up, running on the Virginia 4 schedule, and the other Cincinnati packets will begin their regular trips.

The board of United States engineers, which is inspecting the work on the local rivers, went to Wheeling yesterday after looking over the dams in the upper Ohio river. The inspection of the Monongahela dam occurred Saturday. Capt. W. L. Sibert, local United States engineer, is one of the party.

The local steamboat inspectors received a circular letter from the department of commerce yesterday. All other reports are to go to the new department, as they have been placed under the charge of George B. Cortelyou, secretary of commerce. The inspectors formerly were under the treasury department.

The present condition of the river makes the rivermen hopeful. It was predicted yesterday that a good coal stage would yet be reached and that it would come by Sunday. About 15,000,000 bushels of coal would be moved to southern ports in a few days if such conditions should come about.

District Attorney Too Hasty.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(Special.)—Spencer, the negro who shot Charles McFarlane in the criminal courts building here yesterday, will be tried June 30. Recorder Goff said today that the district attorney had shown too much haste in arranging for a trial next week.

WEISSER, LOW & CO., 435 AND 437 MARKET STREET, PITTSBURGH

NEWS OF THE HOME AND THE SOCIETY WORLD

SOCIETY

A WEDDING took place in Turtle Creek last evening that was of interest to many Pittsburgh persons, the bride being related to several prominent Pittsburgh families, including the Thaws, Mrs. E. P. Jones and others. The ceremony was conducted in the United Presbyterian church of Turtle Creek and the bride, Miss Olive Hunter, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Hunter, was surrounded by a bevy of maids. Frank Hunter Slick was the bridegroom. The marriage ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. William C. McCulloch, and the church was filled with guests. It was one of the handsomest weddings ever held in Turtle Creek. The decorations were elaborate and consisted entirely of tropical plants and white flowers, roses and lilies. Miss Martha Belle Cooper of Johnstown was the maid of honor, and the four bridesmaids included Miss Della Stadler of Mt. Vernon, O., Miss Mary Guilbreath of Baltimore, Miss Eleanor McMasters Stewart of Braddock and Miss Mary Hunter, the last two being cousins of the bride. Little Gail Baisinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Webster R. Baisinger of Neville street, and Marion Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Grant Anderson of the East End, were the flower girls, while Master William Hunter Anderson was the ring bearer. The best man was Percy Allen Rose of Johnstown and the ushers, Dr. John McMasters Stewart, G. E. Mitchell, James R. Boyd and Harry R. Jones.

The ceremony at the church was followed by a large reception at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hunter, where the decorations were also tastefully arranged in green and white. The bride wore a beautiful wedding gown of white mousseline de sole with a full court train and trimmed with Irish point lace. She wore a veil and her shower bouquet was composed of white bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The thing old which the bride carried was a lace handkerchief carried by her mother on her wedding day and which was a gift from Mrs. B. F. Jones.

Among the guests at the wedding last evening, and later at the reception for the bride and bridegroom, were Congressman John Dalzell and Mrs. Dalzell, who have opened their home, the Wissahickon, at Hawkins station for the summer. Dr. and Mrs. Slick left late in the evening for a wedding trip, which will include Washington, Baltimore and Old Point Comfort. After their return they will make their home with Dr. and Mrs. Hunter in Turtle Creek. The bride received a superb collection of wedding gifts. Among them were an immense cut glass punch bowl and cups from Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Schwab, while Mr. and Mrs. Alva C. Dinkey gave a handsome colonial hall clock.

Jordan—Handley.

A handsomely appointed wedding was solemnized last night at the home of the bride, Miss Elizabeth Anna Jordan, in Washington avenue, Carnegie, when Miss Jordan became the wife of Marion Love Handley of Avalon. The bride was unattended. The ring service was used and the ring was borne by Miss Harriet Hussey, the 3-year-old daughter of Dr. E. G. Fisher of Carnegie, who looked fairy-like in her beautiful white gown. The ushers were Harry Nesbitt of Pittsburgh, Howard Morrison of Bridgeville, Dr. Frank Herriott and James Duff of Carnegie.

The bride wore a gown of crepa colored crepe de paris over white silk, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses tied with chiffon ribbon. The ushers wore boutonnieres of white and green, those being the wedding colors. The officiating minister was the Rev. Dr. J. M. Duff, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Carnegie, who was assisted by the Rev. Mr. Dunlap of Avalon, the bridegroom's pastor. The wedding march was played by Miss W. J. Simms of Ben Avon and the marriage was solemnized in the library, which was elaborately decorated with palms and flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Handley will take a short western trip after which they will occupy their new home in Washington avenue, Carnegie.

Anniversary Garden Party.

The first anniversary of the establishment of the Infants' Home and Maternity hospital, in the old Bissell mansion, Ashton avenue and McCandless street, will be celebrated Saturday afternoon and evening, by a garden party and bazar which will be conducted at the institution. Specially attractive features have been designed for the affair. The institution has been very successful during the last year and many improvements have been added, making it a thoroughly up-to-date establishment. Saturday afternoon one of the attractions will be a handkerchief which Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt kindly donated. It will be sold as a souvenir of the first lady of the land.

The entertainment will be conducted under the direction of the board of managers, which has provided conveyances which will meet at McCandless street and Ashton avenue all those who will go out to the entertainment. There will be special music. The board of managers includes Mrs. G. Fisher, chairman; H. Christy, treasurer, Mrs. Florence R. Wade, secretary; Mrs. M. A. Woodstock, Mrs. Laura G. Shroin, Mrs. Henry Jackson, Mrs. Koskel Solomon, Mrs. Mary Lyle, Mrs. Martha Ritchey, Miss Etta Van Gorder and Dr. Amelia A. Dranga.

Weddings Today.

Home weddings will predominate in today's social calendar and all will have the pretty accessories which belong to these favorite affairs of the June time. Miss Edith L. Scott and Lewis Montenico of Memphis, Tenn., will be married at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Augustus Barrie, in Irwin avenue, Squirrel Hill. Seven o'clock is the hour set for the marriage of Miss Eleanor Selene Seebick, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Seebick of South Fairmount street, East End, and Dr. Frank Kenworthy, a young physician of the East End.

The marriage of Miss Katherine Estelle Weisell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Weisell of Wightman street, Squirrel Hill, to Albert Edward Murphy of Shady avenue, East End, will be a morning ceremony in the Roman Catholic church of the Epiphany, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Regis Canevin officiating.

Some Future Entertainments.

Mrs. John G. Bennett will give a large progressive euchre at the Country club tomorrow afternoon.

Tomorrow afternoon Mrs. Alfred W. Duff and Miss Boyd of Wilkinsburg will give a large at home at their residence on North avenue and Center. The hours will be from 3 o'clock until 5.

Mrs. Daniel C. Noble will be hostess at a large garden party Friday afternoon at the Country club, entertaining for three brides, Mrs. Walter Stewart Lang, Mrs. W. Stewart Lacock and Mrs. Robert Pitcairn Watt.

Additional Committees.

The managers of the lawn fete which will be given at the Home for Aged Women, Penn and Trenton avenues, tomorrow, have been notified that the Fourth Avenue Presbyterian church of Allegheny will have a supper table. It will be in charge of Mrs. Thomas L. Rodgers.

A special effort will be made to make the grounds very attractive this year. The decorations will be elaborate and at night the place will be illuminated with electric lights. The committee having this matter in charge is headed by Mrs. S. E. Long. Her assistants are Mrs. S. Donaldson, Mrs. Jean S. Sands, Mrs. Donald Shaw, Miss Etta L. Clock, Miss L. P. Campbell, Donald Shaw, Morton Stevenson, Lee Clark, Paul McKnight, Thomas McIntyre, Walter McIntyre, Templeton Smith and Paul Cochran.

Cooper—Weible.

A handsome home wedding was held last evening in Edgewood, the bride being Miss Mary Katherine Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel S. Cooper of Myrtle avenue, and the bridegroom Dr. Elmer E. Weible of Homestead. The marriage was solemnized at 7 o'clock by the Rev. William R. Farmer, pastor of the Edgewood Presbyterian church. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Jane Torrance Cooper, as maid of honor, and Miss Irene H. Bason and Miss Anne Walker were the bridesmaids. There were three little flower girls, Rebecca Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Miller of Edgewood; Rebekah Botsford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Botsford of Pittsburgh, and Jane Craig Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Miller. Dr. John H. Weible, of Canton, O., was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Dr. Ambroise B. Geho of Pittsburgh and Edward F. Jamison of Swissvale.

The house was prettily decorated in green and white, with occasional touches of pink. The bride wore white crepe meteor trimmed with duchess lace. Her veil was fastened with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids were all gowned in white crepe over silk, the bridesmaids carrying bouquets of pink roses and the maid of honor white roses. After the wedding supper Dr. Weible and his bride left for New York and will sail tomorrow for a three months' tour of Europe. They will be at home after October 15 in Munhall. Dr. Weible is a graduate of the Western University of Pennsylvania and his bride was educated at Hollidaysburg.

Deming—Ostrom.

SALEM, O., June 16.—(Special.)—This afternoon at 2 o'clock a pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs. John Deming, in Lincoln avenue, when her daughter, Miss Caroline E. Deming, became the wife of John M. Ostrom of Pittsburgh. The ceremony was performed in the presence of 125 guests, by the Rt. Rev. G. Mott Williams, bishop of Marquette, Mich. Mr. Ostrom is a well-known mechanical engineer. His bride is from one of the oldest families in Salem. A number of guests from Pittsburgh were present. Mr. and Mrs. Ostrom will be at home in Westminster street, Allegheny, after August 15.

Wooden Wedding Celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Kable have issued invitations for a reception in celebration of their fifth wedding anniversary on Thursday evening, June 25. It will be conducted at the home of Mrs. Kable's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Elk, who have just moved into their new house, No. 7719 Kelly street, and the celebration will also be a housewarming. Incidentally it will also be a reception to the incorporators of the Commercial Glass Company, Inc. The invitations were issued on thin wooden boards to convey the suggestion of a wooden wedding anniversary.

Savage—White.

The wedding of Thomas V. White, city engineer of McKeesport and Miss Elizabeth Savage of Clairton, took place yesterday at St. Peter's Roman Catholic church, McKeesport, the Rev. Father Joseph McCarthy of Elizabeth, officiating. Nuptial high mass was conducted by Father McCarthy. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride in Clairton and last night Mr. and Mrs. White left on a wedding trip to eastern cities.

Visiting at Green Lawn.

Mrs. Robert Earl Humphreys is visiting Miss Myra Boyd at Green Lawn, the home of Henry J. Heinz. Mrs. John L. Given of New York is also visiting her father, H. J. Heinz, and Miss Burton of Louisville, Ky., was a guest of Miss Boyd last week. Miss Boyd giving a dinner for her on Saturday. Miss Burton returned home this week.

Eyth—Eichenlaub.

BUTLER, PA., June 16.—(Special.)—Miss Elizabeth Eyth and Florenz Eichenlaub were married this morning at St. Peter's Roman Catholic church, by the Rev. Father Jacob Romedfanger. Among the guests from a distance were Mrs. Ida Spaulding of Jeannette, Prof. Babst of Rochester, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe of Great Belt.

Carnegie Pupils' Recital.

One of the most interesting musicales of the season in Carnegie was given at the Carnegie library music hall last evening, by the pupils of the Misses Mary and Margaret McConaughy of Carnegie. An interesting feature of the entertainment was the playing of Miss Margaret Fisher, who is but 7 years old.

Wilson—Crawford.

A large and handsome home wedding of last evening was that of Miss Mae Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Wilson of Jeannette street, Wilkinsburg, and James Stoner Crawford. The ceremony was solemnized at 8 o'clock, the Rev. Dr. Eaton, pastor of the South Avenue Methodist Episcopal church officiating, assisted by the Rev. Thomas Parry of the First Presbyterian church. The party stood in the drawing room between tall, graceful standards filled with white lilies. Additional white blossoms and foliage added to the attractiveness of the room and carried out the wedding colors of green and white.

The bride was given away by her father and was gowned in white satin and duchesse lace. A long bridal veil fell in graceful folds the length of the long train and was held in place with orange blossoms. A shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley was carried. Miss Edith List, the maid of honor, wore white over pale green, and carried white sweet peas. Little Elizabeth Geller, a niece of the bridegroom, was in flower white and carried a basket of roses. The two little ribbon bearers were Norman McLeod and Donald McLeod, sons of Mr. and Mrs. John McLeod, of Neville street, Bellefield. George Rogers of the East End performed the office of best man, and Dr. Sidney Chalfant and John Koehl were the two ushers.

Connecting with the drawing room was the dining room, which was decorated in red roses. American beauties were in the library, and the hall was done in trailing foliage and white daisies. Refreshments were served in a marquee erected on the lawn. The central table, which was reserved for the bridal party, was decorated with pink roses and lilies of the valley. It was surrounded by smaller tables, on each of which was a center piece of pink sweet peas. Later in the evening the young couple left for an extended wedding trip. They will not issue at home cards until their return in the autumn. Mr. Crawford is a graduate of Princeton and a prominent young attorney. His bride was educated at the College for Women in Baltimore. Following the rehearsal on Monday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson gave a dinner, at which covers were laid for the members of the bridal party and out-of-town guests, who formed a house party for a few days before the wedding. Among the latter were Mrs. Thomas Naylor and Lawrence Naylor, of Baltimore; Miss Leah Porter of Wellsburg, W. Va.; Mrs. Louis Davis of Bala, Pa.; Miss List of Philadelphia, Miss Schmick of New York, Mrs. Edward Barr and Mrs. Porter Donahue of Chicago, Miss McLeod of Wilmington, Del., and Mrs. Robert E. Forester of Philadelphia.

Cutler—Morrow.

Dwight Whitney Morrow of New York city, son of James Morrow of Allegheny, was married last evening in Cleveland to Miss Elizabeth Cutter, a magazine writer of worth. Miss Alice Morrow of Allegheny, a sister of the groom, was one of the bridesmaids. A pretty feature of the ceremony was the wedding hymn, especially written for the occasion, by Miss Party Slade of Cleveland, a warm friend of the bride.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. James Morrow of Allegheny, the bridegroom's father and mother; Miss Alice Morrow, his sister; Mrs. E. R. Hunt, Mrs. Jay Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Scandrett, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Evans and James Partington, all of Allegheny.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrow left at once for their home in New York city, where the bridegroom is a practicing attorney.

Wedding Invitations.

Invitations have been sent out by Mrs. Harriet C. Larimer of St. Louis, Mo., for the marriage of her daughter, Miss Rachel McMasters Larimer, and Charles McLean Hilliard, which will take place on Monday evening, June 29, at 8 o'clock, in the Larimer home in St. Louis. Miss Larimer is quite well known in Pittsburgh, where she has frequently visited as the guest of Mrs. William Larimer Jones and other relatives in this city.

Notes of Society.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. McCutcheon entertained a few friends informally last evening at their home in Homewood avenue and Thomas street, East End.

A dinner was given last evening at the Country club in honor of Miss Edith T. Scott and Lewis Montedonico, who will be married this afternoon.

The Scilord club of Allegheny will give a dance for its members and friends at Oakmont park, June 25. These outings will be held monthly during the summer season.

THE Woman's Suffrage club of Wilkinsburg will give an entertainment on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week, in order to raise money to contribute to the juvenile court work, the summer playgrounds and other civic movements. The members of the club are planning to give two performances of the "District School at Blueberry Corners," one in Penn hall, Wilkinsburg, on Friday evening, and the other in the Board of Trade hall, Shady avenue, East End, on Saturday evening.

The members will take part in the entertainment. Mrs. Bowersox, the retiring president of the club, who moves to Easton, Pa., the last of June, will take the character of Hattie Simple; Mrs. Grey, the new presiding officer, will be Mrs. Dimpsey, the mother of the bad boy of the school. Lucy and Waldie Koethen, children of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ludewig Koethen, Jr., will appear as Sally and Luther Brown, the latter a boy six feet tall but appearing as a boy of 10. The entertainment will be the same each evening and the members of the Woman's Suffrage club hope to add a large sum to that already in the treasury.

Regular Monthly Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the public baths committee will be held on Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the Civic club rooms in the McClintock building, Market street.

South Side Hospital Benefit.

The members of the Ladies' Aid society of the South Side hospital are working zealously for the success of the annual lawn fete which they will give in Southern Avenue park on Friday afternoon and evening, from 2 o'clock until 11:30. The hospital, erected nine years ago, has been filled to its utmost capacity almost continually. A capacity for 60 patients was thought at first to be all that the South Side required, but it has been increased to 65 and 80.

Supper will be served from 5 o'clock until 8, a concert will be given in the evening and there will be a number of large and handsome booths presided over by several hundred women working to win success. The committees include prominent women in all parts of Pittsburgh and Allegheny.

PERSONALS

Col. Joseph A. Crawford of Philadelphia was a late arrival at the Duquesne.

Thomas James of Parker avenue, Braddock, master mechanic at the Edgar Thomson steel works, with his wife, left yesterday for Ithaca to attend commencement exercises at Cornell. Their second son, Rosele James, is one of the graduates.

The Rev. Dr. E. H. Ward, rector of St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal church, Craft avenue and Forbes street, will sail from New York for Europe some time this week. Dr. Ward was given a pleasant farewell at his church on Monday night, leaving soon thereafter for New York.

George Merkel of Peoria, Ill., was a passenger on the Southwest Limited last night. He had been in New York on a business trip. He said: "Peoria is one of the few cities that are developing rapidly. We now have over 75,000 population and it is increasing daily. Luckily no labor troubles have occurred for the past two years, and indications are none will occur for some time at least."

The Rt. Rev. Alexander Le Roy, superior general of the Holy Ghost Order, spent the last eight days in Pittsburgh visiting the houses over which he presides. He left yesterday evening for Baltimore. He sails for Europe on June 25. He will have for his companion the Very Rev. M. A. Henir, president of the Pittsburgh college. Father Henir has been urged by his superiors to take a two-months' rest of two or three months. He expects to be back in time for the reopening of school in September.

All fears as to the safety of Dr. Thomas A. Steele, a son of County Register Joseph W. Steel of Sinclair street, McKeesport, who was said to have gone down in the Lisbon disaster in the Mediterranean on June 8, have been set at rest by the receipt of a letter from him, dated June 2 at Vienna, written to his brother-in-law, J. P. Wiley of Wilkinsburg, and announcing that he has secured a good position with a noted surgeon and physician at Vienna, where he is taking a special course in the treatment of heart and lung diseases.

H. Nakamura and T. Saito of Kobe, Japan, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday. They represent a Japanese sugar company, which imports sugar into Japan and exports camphor and oil of peppermint to America. They are here to study sugar refineries. It is the intention of their company to build a refinery in Japan. Mr. Nakamura said: "At present most of the sugar consumed in Japan is refined in Hongkong. We have an abundance of coal, and we ship it to Hongkong to be used in refining sugar. The duties on the raw material into Japan are much smaller than the finished product. Thus our firm pays duties on the coal shipped to Hongkong and pays extra duties to get the refined sugar. By constructing a refinery in Japan the cost in shipping the coal and the extra duties on import will be removed." The visitors will be taken through the Carnegie works today, and will leave tomorrow for Washington. They say Andrew Carnegie's name is more popular in Japan than that of any other American, not excepting Rockefeller and J. Pierpont Morgan. The books written by Carnegie have been printed in the Japanese language and the tenth edition of one has recently left the press.

FELS-NAPTHA

Keep Your Insides Cool!

Here's a man who thinks he has heart disease, and is scared half to death. His face is all drawn out of shape from fear and agony. Every time he eats, his heart "palpitates"—that simply means that his stomach is swelled up with gases from fermenting undigested food, and his heart thumps against his diaphragm. Nothing the matter with his heart. In the summer time, this gas distention is much worse, his whole body and blood get over-heated, and his heart and lungs get so crowded for room, that he gasps for breath. There he is, look at him! Every minute he expects to drop dead. As a matter of fact, all he needs is to stop that souring and gas forming in his stomach and bowels, help his digestion along, and keep cool inside. You all know that whenever something rots or decays, heat develops. Same in the body. Keep cool inside! Take a candy cathartic CASCARET every night at bed-time. It will work while you sleep, clean up and cool your insides, give you a regular, comfortable movement in the morning, and you'll be feeling fine all day every day. Heart Disease! Fudge!

Cascarets Best for the Bowels. All druggists, 10c, 25c, 50c. Never sold in bulk. The genuine tablet stamped C. C. C. Guaranteed to cure or your money back. Sample and booklet free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York. 547

WOMAN DECLARES THERE IS A STONE

Doubt as to Existence of First Presbyterian Church Corner Stone Dispelled.

STORY OF THEFT WAS A JOKE

The Box Taken from the Corner Stone Not to Be Opened Until the One Laid Fifty-Two Years Ago Is Found.

How something could be lost which had never been found, and the existence of which had been at one time in doubt, yesterday puzzled the men in charge of the construction work on the new First Presbyterian church. They were much interested over the publication of a story that the box in the corner stone of the old church, now dismantled, had been stolen, together with the valuable records which it is supposed to contain. The fact is, the box was not stolen. The workmen have not yet come across and it still reposes where it was deposited 52 years ago, unless it was lifted at that time.

The story that the box was stolen originated in a joking remark made on Monday. The workmen were talking about the corner stone and wondering when they would strike it and what the box would contain, when somebody remarked that "Smitty" had probably found the stone and the box and secreted the latter.

"Smitty" was standing by, and when he was asked if he had taken the box he only grinned. From this little beginning the story grew, and when a reporter came to inquire somebody not in authority facetiously showed him a hole that had been made by a workman trying to pry out a stone while demolishing the wall, and said that was the hole in which the box had lain.

There was some doubt among the members of the building committee of the church whether there was really a box in the corner stone, but that doubt has been solved by a letter from a woman living in Philadelphia to a member of the building committee. She is now 67 years old, and when the corner stone was laid was a girl of 15. She was present at the ceremony and saw the copper box deposited in a recess in the stone and another stone cemented down on top of the box. She wrote that the box was under the north tower of the church. The north tower is now almost level with the ground, and any time within the next few days the workmen may strike the stone in which the box is concealed.

"Nowadays," said A. J. Lohr, the inspector of the work, "the box is placed in the base course or the water table, as it is also called. In demolishing old buildings, however, these boxes have sometimes been found at the bottom of the foundation, in the first stone laid at the corner. It is possible that we may not find the stone in which the box is laid until we have torn down the foundation. It is likely, however, that we shall strike it before we get down so low, anyhow, the box couldn't be stolen, you see, because it hasn't been found."

As soon as the box has been found the proper authorities of the church will be notified and it will be opened in their presence. A box was found in the corner of the chapel, just demolished, and it is now under lock and key, not to be opened until the one under the main church building has been found. The chapel was built many years after the church, so that the curiosity to view its contents is not so great as the desire to see what the other box contains.

BARBERS BACK AT WORK, BUT ARE STILL VEXED

Men in Shop Do Not Like Certain Statements Attributed to Mrs. Will

The strike at the barber shop of Mrs. Adam Will, No. 531 Smithfield street, seemed to be settled yesterday, but it is now said that unless Mrs. Will retracts the report she is alleged to have given of the settlement the strike will begin again. Mrs. Will was quoted yesterday as saying that her barbers had agreed to shave her son free of cost and she had agreed that for her father's shaves and hair cutting the barbers should receive checks.

The foreman tells an entirely different story. The strike arose as was published in The Gazette yesterday, because the father of Mrs. Will got shaved at the shop and the barber who did so received no check for the work. Barbers are paid wages and also receive a percentage on all the money they take in above a certain amount, so that when no check is handed in for a shave or a hair cut the barber's total is cut down just that much and his percentage suffers.

The foreman says that yesterday morning Mrs. Will had one man working in the shop and that the regular hands came back to work under the following conditions: That a check will be handed in for every hair cut or shave the son or father gets; that the man who went to work, although a strike was declared, should be discharged, and that Mrs. Will must withdraw her rule that any barber who had his hair cut by another barber in the shop must pay the regular rates.

Mrs. Will was at the shop yesterday and did not return, so it was said, after her side of the version of the settlement was published. The barbers were discussing yesterday the advisability of waiting upon her and asking her to retract what she was alleged to have said.

HONOR TO TENANT'S MEMORY

Flag Half-Masted When an Occupant of the Frick Building Dies.

People were wondering on Monday why the United States flag was waving over the Frick building, for the flag has not been used unless on national holidays, and the surprise grew when it was remarked that the flag was at half-mast. Inquiry elicited the information that the flag was half-masted on account of the death of a tenant of the building and that in future the death of any other tenant will be followed by the display of the sorrowing emblem.

The flag was at half-mast on Monday because of the death of Attorney E. G. Ferguson, whose office was in the building, so Assistant Superintendent Rose said yesterday. The theory of raising the flag at half-mast is that honor should be shown a tenant who has departed life.

Accepts a Braddock Pastorate.

The Rev. John O. Clokey, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Massillon, O., who was unanimously called to the pastorate of the Calvary Presbyterian church, Sixth street, Braddock, at a congregational meeting held last Wednesday evening, yesterday notified the session of the Braddock church that he will take the pulpit the first Sunday in July.

NOTICES.

No. 6906.
Treasury Department.
Office of Comptroller of the Currency.
Washington, D. C., June 1, 1903.
Whereas, by satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that "The Industrial National bank of Pittsburg," located in the city of Pittsburgh, in the county of Allegheny and state of Pennsylvania, has complied with all the provisions of the statutes of the United States, required to be complied with before an association shall be authorized to commence the business of banking; now, therefore, I, William B. Ridgely, comptroller of the currency, do hereby certify that "The Industrial National bank of Pittsburg," located in the city of Pittsburg, in the county of Allegheny and state of Pennsylvania, is authorized to commence the business of banking as provided in section 5169, of the revised statutes of the United States. In testimony whereof, witness my hand and seal of office, this first day of June, 1903.
(Signed) WM. B. RIDDELL,
(Seal.) Comptroller of the Currency.

STOCKS OPENED WEAK, BUT CLOSED STRONG

Wall Street "Bears" Overdid the Selling in the Early Dealings—All the Local Specialties Closed Lower—Steel Stocks Were Active.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The eastern stock market opened extremely weak yesterday, and in response to a similar condition of affairs in the London market for American securities, initial prices were ½ to 1 per cent off. The selling pressure was especially heavy in Atchison, the Pacific stocks and the coalers. Atchison broke to 64⅜, Union Pacific to 78½, Missouri Pacific to 100½, Norfolk & Western to 60¾, Nashville to 107, Pennsylvania to 124⅛, Reading to 44⅜, Rock Island to 32¼, and the remainder of the active railroad list ½ to ¾ per cent. At the close of the first hour the average of prices was not much above the low level reached last Wednesday, and while the demoralization was not so great as on that day, the volume of transactions was unusually large. The industrials were also decidedly weak, Amalgamated Copper and United States Steel sotcks selling off sharply, while United Realty Construction broke to 14⅜, the lowest ever quoted. Several times attempts were made to rally the list, but without much success until early in the afternoon, when shorts began to cover and found that they had oversold the market. From that time to the close a steady recovery took place, and the early losses were not only wiped out, but in some instances gains were established, the market closing strong at or near the highest prices of the day. For the first two hours the sales exceeded 500,000 shares, but the total for the day was only 792,000 shares.

The only real encouragement for the bears at the opening was the reported conditions of affairs in the anthracite coal regions, the convention of miners being represented as displaying a belligerent temper and fears being expressed of another strike. This situation of affairs had evidently been cabled to London, and was no doubt exaggerated, which accounted for the weakness of the foreign market. The subsequent reports from Scranton were to the effect that the possibility of a strike had been removed by the action of the convention, and this was a factor in the rally which occurred during the afternoon. The weekly crop bulletin of the government weather bureau, while by no means as flattering as could be desired, was no worse than expected. Cotton and corn are backward, but the winter wheat harvest is making progress, and the report as to spring wheat conditions was favorable. The money market remained easy and unchanged, and there is little probability that the banks will lose cash to the same extent as last week to the sub-treasury or through shipments of gold. It is not unlikely that yesterday's market may be taken as a sample of many that are to follow this summer. There is a strong bear party in the street which may be depended upon to exaggerate unfavorable developments, just as a year ago favorable news was given additional coloring. Traders will attack unprotected specialties, the short interest will become unwieldy, quick rallies will occur, and the speculation will gradually become duller. This condition may be expected to continue until the corn crop is assured.

The returns of our foreign commerce for May, a summary of which is printed in another column, is looked upon as unfavorable, in view of money market conditions. Compared with the corresponding month last year there was a decrease in our exports of nearly $2,000,000, and an increase in our imports of merchandise of $3,246,000. The total imports were only slightly under $79,000,000, and were the largest for any May on record. The exports of merchandise were $100,508,051, the smallest since 1899. The balance of trade in our favor was $21,572,908, the smallest since 1897. During the month our exports of gold were $14,488,268, the largest shipped in any corresponding month since 1896. The imports of gold for the same month were less than $1,500,000, leaving net exports of $13,-025,423.

The tone of the local stock market was generally heavy all day, and without exception closing prices for quotable lots of industrials show net declines. The principal activity was in the steel stocks. These opened weak in sympathy with the decline in the east. United States Steel common declined to 29⅝ and the preferred to 79½, and this had the effect of depressing Crucible Steel common to 14½ and the preferred to 82. United States Steel common recovered to 30¼ at the close and Crucible Steel common to 14⅞ bid. United States Steel preferred closed ½ lower for the day, and the net loss on Crucible preferred was also ½ per cent. Manufacturers Light & Heat declined to 38¾, but recovered to 39. Philadelphia Company sold at 41¼, but closed at 41⅛ bid, following the recovery in the east, where the stock rallied to 41⅞. River Coal common was moderately active at 10½, but the other coal stocks remained dull and unchanged. The Westinghouse stocks were no exception to the weakness prevailing elsewhere. A small lot of Union Switch & Signal sold at 80, a decline of 7½ points from the last previous sale. The break was probably based upon the action of the stockholders in indorsing the proposition to issue 10,-000 shares new stock at $50 a share. Electric second preferred declined to 93½, but subsequently recovered to 94½, closing at a net decline of ½. American Window Glass preferred sold down from 82 to 80, representing a net loss of 3 per cent. Allegheny Valley preferred declined a point to 27, although the report for April showed a slight increase in net earnings.

With a few exceptions the bank and trust stocks were lower. American Trust sold down to 515, but recovered to 520, a net loss of 3 1/2 share for the day and $50 compared with the high price touched last Saturday. Colonial Trust was also lower, declining from 640 to 625, a net loss for the day of $10 a share. Farmers Deposit National Bank advanced $100 a share in the bid price, reaching $1,450, but no stock changed hands and there were no offerings under $2,000 a share. A small lot of Safe Deposit changed hands at 465, a decline of 10 points. Real Estate Trust rallied to 295, Merchants Savings & Trust advanced to 70, and Home Trust advanced 1½ per cent to 143½, the highest price yet quoted. Iron City Trust was a fraction lower, selling at 156. Bonds remained dull and unchanged.

BELOW THE RESERVE LINE.

As will be noted elsewhere in this department the national banks of Pittsburgh, according to their reports made at the close of business on the 9th inst., were $4,825,975 below legal reserve requirements. The amount due from legal reserve agents decreased about $1,-000,000 since last month, but the report for last July has shown the banks to be below the reserve line. On July 16, 1902, the banks had a surplus of $1,967,576, but by September 18 this had been turned into a deficit of $4,720,-687. In November the deficit was $3,355,000, in February of this year this had been reduced to $495,000, but on April 9 it had increased to $660,000, and now amounts to $4,825,975, the largest that has been reported for many years. The showing justifies the firm money market that has been prevailing for some weeks past, and does not hold out much encouragement for relief for some time to come.

THE SWITCH & SIGNAL 'MELON'

Union Switch and Signal common yesterday sold at 80, a decline of $7 50 a share from the last previous sale in May. The stockholders are authorized an increase of $500,000 in the capital, and the directors fixed the subscription price at $70 a share for the 850 shares, being a premium of 40 per cent. If the stock is all subscribed for that price it will net the company $700,000 for the 10,000 shares new stock issued. This is not so much of a "melon" as looked for by stockholders, and while it is a good thing for the company it is not so good for stockholders who paid as high as $90 a share for the common stock last year, when it was paying only 4 per cent on $50. In the expectation that a stock dividend would be declared after the cash dividend increased, it was suggested in this column three months ago, when the Machine Company offered stockholders the right to subscribe for new stock at $100 a share, that it should be paid as the stock of the Westinghouse companies was now very high, and that it was no longer necessary to give special inducements with subscriptions of stock. The Electric Company, which offered $4,500,000 new stock at a premium of 60 per cent, and it was all taken, the transaction prepared the Union Switch stockholders for a stiff premium to be asked on the new stock now authorized. The directors also declared the regular dividends of 2½ per cent on the preferred and 1½ per cent on the common.

THE RALLY AND REACTION.

In the great majority of instances the lowest prices of the year for New York stocks were made last Wednesday. The recovery on Thursday and Friday was very rapid, while the reaction yesterday carried the average of values more than half way back to the lowest level. The recovery late yesterday afternoon left the average about midway between the lowest of Wednesday and the highest of Friday. Inasmuch as the country's speculation during the past week is likely to be reflected from time to time during the next two or three months, the following table showing the fluctuations of the most active stocks will be interesting:

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The highest price at which Farmers Deposit National Bank ever sold was $1,400 a share, which was reached last September. Last month it sold at $1,300 a share. Yesterday the price advanced to $1,450 bid, and there was no stock offered for sale under $2,-000. While this movement was in progress American Trust declined to $515 a share and Colonial Trust declined to $625 a share.

Operations of the new Pittsburgh stock exchange clearing house have been postponed for two days until members become better acquainted with the system. The plan was tried yesterday, but caused so much confusion and delay in completing deliveries that the committee suspended its use for two days.

Central National Bank of Wilkinsburg was offered on the local exchange at 148, and North American Savings was offered at 151.

There were sales yesterday of small lots of Pittsburgh Oil and Gas at 70½.

United States Shipbuilding bonds were nominally quoted on the New York curb at 20 bid, 23 asked.

A New York bond expert says: "On the improvement in the stock market depends almost entirely the improvement in conditions in the bond market. Leading bond houses report very few buying orders and are doing little or no advertising. With St. Paul selling at 152, Northwest at 178 and other gilt-edge securities netting high income returns, no other than prudent conditions can be expected. There are many bargains offered in the bond market, but it will probably be some time before investors begin to realize this. July disbursements may stimulate the bond market somewhat, but bond buyers have ceased to rely on this factor."

A leading New York house has offered a certain block of bonds last week at 1st. He informed the seller that he was not in the market, but would purchase 100 per cent of the block. Next day he owned the bonds. This well illustrates the current shading of bond prices.

The Allegheny Valley Railway Company's comparison of earnings and expenses for month of April, 1903, and for four months ending April 30, 1903, with same periods of 1902, follows:

	Month of April,	Inc. or Dec.	Four months ending April	Inc. or Dec.
Gross earnings, Inc.	$74,804	Inc.	$221,813
Expenses, Inc.	41,507	Inc.	216,102
Net earnings, Inc.	22,827	Inc.	5,711

Electrolytic copper in large quantities was offered yesterday at ⅛c per pound below quoted prices; 250,000 pounds July delivery were offered at 14¼c. This was one of the causes of the weakness in Amalgamated Copper.

Wall street heard a good deal of the Pennsylvania-Gould row, and many think the market will not advance materially until these interests come to some understanding.

The gross earnings of Wisconsin Central for the first week in June increased $23,000.

Atchison was conspicuously weak and rumors of a possible reduction in the dividend continued to circulate.

Under payment of an installment of the subscription on the consols issue called for $15,000,000 in the London market, added to the depression there and was reflected here. Sterling exchange also ruled strong, with a threat of further gold exports.

The deduction drawn by the average operator is: country stocks are cheap. One day was that attacks on the market would encounter substantial buying power and that the urgent liquidation of the character in evidence last week was no longer overhanging the market. On the other hand attempts to bull the market, aside from the probable lack of money resources, seemed to encounter heavy selling at the higher levels. The prospect thus indicated of a dull and sluggish market is viewed not without satisfaction in financial quarters generally.

The recriminations incident to the lawsuit over the United States shipbuilding reorganization and the tone of the testimony in the suit against the lease of the Metropolitan Street Railway to the Interborough Company, were the subject of wide discussion in Wall street and caused a very unfavorable impression in the market. The suicide of an official of one of the banks was reported during the morning to induce selling of stocks, but the prompt assurances that no financial irregularities were involved took away that effect. The reduction in the dividend rate of Atchison, announced in the early dealings, but the latter announcement of a further cut in the price of pig iron did not interrupt the late recovery of the market.

BEARS TAKE COURAGE AT HALT IN ADVANCE

Believe That Liquidating in Stock Market Is Not Yet Ended.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, June 17.

The Herald this (Wednesday) morning says: "From the movement of prices on the stock exchange yesterday it was clear that the stock market has not as yet found itself. A great deal of interest was attached to the movement of values on the exchange yesterday, for it was thought that the course of prices would indicate to some extent the market's tendency for the near future at least. After the prolonged decline, in which the financial community was thoroughly frightened, a halt was called, the tide of liquidation subsided and confidence once more established. There was a natural and substantial rally in which the shorts played the most potent part. Then came the reaction from the sharp advance. The course of prices yesterday would indicate, it was therefore thought, the natural lines along which security values would travel.

Very little information on the future tendency of prices resulted from yesterday's movements. After the weak opening and the consequent downward course in which some stocks sold very close to the low points of last week, the bears considered their judgment on the outlook vindicated and predicted a continuance of the liquidating movement. Reports affecting the credit of an important industrial and other sensational rumors disheartened those who stood committed to the bull side of the market, but it was very noticeable that the operators for a decline were not so aggressive as they were some days ago. Quick to take advantage and realizing this, the other party in the market, which put its machinery in successful operation on Thursday morning, became aggressive and the market closed in a good rally.

There was very little known in Wall street yesterday concerning the exact status of the Colorado Fuel & Iron difficulty during business hours. Banks which usually handle commercial paper stated there was very little Colorado Fuel paper in the city.

Conditions of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Today's statement of the treasury balances in the general fund, exclusive of the $150,000,000 gold reserve in the division of redemption, shows: Available cash balance, $226,901,883; gold, $104,295,802; silver, $26,960,338; United States notes, $8,689,129; treasury notes of 1890, $71,584; national bank notes, $12,997,737;

FOURTH AVENUE PROPERTY SOLD

Land Title & Trust Co. Buys Commercial National Bank Site for $300,000.

TWO FLATS IN POINT BREEZE

Second Avenue Lot Brought $20,500. Good Purchase in Aspinwall—Penn Avenue Flats Exchanged—Local Manufacturers Will Enlarge Their Plants.

One more financial institution, the Land Title and Trust Company, has located permanently in Fourth avenue, having yesterday bought the Commercial National bank property, at Nos. 313 and 315, for $300,000, or $10,00 a front foot. Gault & Gifford negotiated the purchase, getting the lot from the Colonial Trust Company. The property is between the Colonial Trust Company building and the Real Estate Trust Company building, and measures 30x140 feet. The one-story brick and steel building on the lot was erected six years ago by the Commercial National bank which occupied it until its merger with the Commonwealth Real Estate and Trust Company, one year ago. For a time the Pittsburgh stock exchange had quarters in the building, before its removal to the Bank for Savings building. The banking department of the Colonial Trust Company has been in the front of the building for a year, but will give possession at once, as its merger with the Farmers Deposit National bank will make another location more desirable.

BROKE ALL RECORDS FOR PRICES.

The purchase price, although the highest front foot figure ever paid for Fourth avenue property, is not so high relatively when figured on a square foot basis, or $71 43. An offer of $10,000 a front foot was lately made, and refused, for property in the same square only 85 feet deep, which would be at the rate of $118 a square foot. The Colonial banking fixtures were included in the sale. The rear of the building is used by a number of small offices on which the leases do not expire for several months. For these the Land Title and Trust Company will occupy the front of the building and also the old offices of Gault & Gifford, across the street at No. 316. A little later it is proposed to improve the building by putting in a new front and making interior alterations, to cost $25,000. The Land Title and Trust Company, which bought the property, was incorporated in April with a capital of $100,000, taking in the firms of Gault & Gifford, the Security Title and Savings Company and the title plant of John M. Dunn & Co.

The sale of the property furnishes another instance of rapid enhancement in prices. One year ago C. B. Paul sold the property for the Commercial National bank to Charles Donnelly and M. K. McMullin for $195,000. A little later he sold it for these men to the Colonial Trust Company for $255,000. Thus it has appreciated $60,000 in a year's time.

THREE INTERESTING TRANSACTIONS.

Three sales made through the Real Estate Trust Company were announced yesterday. For R. W. Bayley of Easton, Md., these sold to George Shickler for $10,243 feet on the north side of Thomas street, east of Homewood avenue, for $11,000, or $110 a front foot. The site adjoins Westinghouse park, which is being built up with high-class residences and is one of the most desirable locations in the entire Point Breeze district. Thomas street is 100 feet wide, and with the proposed bridge over the railroad at Homewood avenue, will be easily reached from the Westinghouse works. Mr. Shickler will build two four-story apartment buildings on the lot, each to contain 16 flats of four rooms and bath each.

For Philomena Stampf the company sold the property at No. 941 Second avenue for $20,500, the buyer being Peter Avetta. The lot is 21.5x80 feet, on the north side of the avenue, near Grant street, and is erected on it a three-story brick house, which the buyer will remodel and use as a fish market.

The sale rates a little less than $1,000 a front foot.

The third deal was the sale for C. H. Beach to James Shaner of a fine residence property in Sixth street, Aspinwall, for $12,500. The plot contains 1.5 acres and extends through to Seventh street, just below Center street. The residence is a 10-room stone higline, modern in every respect, and will be occupied by the buyer as a home. At the price paid the property is considered a rare bargain, as it is situated in the Aspinwall Row and is surrounded with handsome residences and pretty streets.

FLATS SOLD FOR $34,000.

Through the agency of A. Leggate & Son the Pamarello Construction Company has sold to R. R. Petty and Kennedy S. Pitts the two apartment houses at Nos. 1825 and 1827 Penn avenue for $34,000. They are three-story brick buildings standing on a lot 44.7x93.3 feet, were built last year and are well rented. In part payment for the sale the company received a plot 102x200 feet in the Thirteenth ward, extending from John to Elbe street, above Center avenue. This lot is vacant and was sold into the deal at $10,000. The buyers will improve it at once with 15 frame houses, to cost $1,500 each.

Ernest A. Hornberger has sold for Charles J. Nitschmann to John D. Sweeney one of the former's new houses on Squirrel Hill for $12,900. The residence is a handsome center hall brick dwelling, with all modern improvements, and stands on a lot 105x94 feet in Greenfield avenue, near the boulevard. The house cost about $5,500, so that the site figures at $70 a front foot.

George C. Norris of the Consolidated Real Estate Company, sold for John Cooper to K. Biebansky the property at No. 1417 Fifth avenue, for $20,000. It measures 20x90 feet, on the north side of the avenue, east of Stevenson street, and is improved with a three-story brick building.

PERMIT; CONTRACT NOT AWARDED.

The permit was granted yesterday for the Hyde & Behman theater at Duquesne way and Parkers alley, in the rear of the building which Henry Phipps will erect at the corner of Sixth street and Duquesne way. The building will be four stories high and is estimated to cost $100,000, although the bids for its erection run close to double that amount. The building will be 100 feet square and four stories high, having an alley on three sides. The site is rented from Mr. Phipps for 30 years at about $15,000 a year. Contrary to the statement made yesterday the contract for the building has not been awarded. Architects Dodge & Morrison of New York closed bids on the project Monday, and Pittsburgh contractors who figured the job expect to hear the result today or tomorrow. Among the local firms in the contest are the A. and S. Wilson Company and the Duquesne Construction Company.

The Heinz Glass Company, recently organized with a capital of $100,000 as an adjunct to the H. J. Heinz Company, will build a plant at Shergwayz for the manufacture of bottles. The plant will have three times the capacity of the present one.

The Pittsburgh Wheelbarrow Company will enlarge its plant in the West End at a cost of $15,000, to give it double its present capacity.

FLATS FOR EAST PITTSBURGH.

Architect M. Nirdlinger has awarded to L. M. Lay the contract for building a four-story apartment house in East Pittsburgh for J. S. Wilson. The building will be four stories high and will cost $20,000.

Bids are now being taken for the erection of the office building of the Carnegie Steel Company at Duquesne. It will be located in South Duquesne avenue, in the Carnegie Free Library plan, and will cost about $30,000. The walls will be of Connellsburg brick, trimmed with terra cotta. On the first floor will be the general manager's office and reception rooms, the clerks and paymasters' offices and other official headquarters. The second floor will contain the chemical laboratory and the third floor will be given up entirely to the draughting department.

The Pressed Steel Car Company will build a one-story addition to a part of its plant in Cass avenue, Allegheny, to cost $25,000.

Architects Dean & Stophlet have let the contract to D. M. Cushman for building a three-story apartment house in Bellefonte street for M. Jungher to cost $15,000.

Architect J. P. Bailey has awarded to the Gerard Gibson Company the contract for building 23 frame houses in Talbot avenue, Braddock, for Simon Spatz. The houses will contain five rooms and bath.

WILL BUILD ON BOTH FRONTAGES.

Frankstown avenue: S. H. Lloyd sold for H. M. Preston to a local business man a lot 48x170 feet, extending through from Frankstown avenue to Kelly street, Twenty-first ward, for $7,200. The buyer will improve with four houses.

Perrysville avenue: The Union Realty Company sold for Mrs. William Bonner to Sarah D. Rae No. 352 Perrysville avenue, Allegheny, a nine-room frame house, lot 50x150 feet, for $6,000.

Magee street: The Aronson Realty Company sold for C. D. Schimeisfodder of Denver, Col., to Miss Mary Cunningham, No. 19 Magee street, a three-story brick flat on lot 20x82 feet, for $5,500.

Erin street: W. J. White sold for Ella McGeorge to Abraham Cohen a two-story brick house at No. 115 Erin street, for $3,000.

Ingleside: Robert Thomson sold for W. W. Smith to John Donald lots Nos. 21 and 22, in Broad street, Ingleside, for $2,000, and to John M. Marth lots Nos. 23 and 24, in the same plan, for $1,400. The lots are 25 feet front.

BUILDING IN PITTSBURGH.

Permits were granted yesterday as follows:

To Mrs. E. Feloth, frame dwelling, Lang avenue, Twenty-first ward, to cost $2,500; to L. Schmitz, frame dwelling, Ernest street, Twenty-second ward, to cost $1,200; to Alos Murch, frame dwelling, 127 Excelsior street, Thirty-first ward, to cost $2,400; to N. Jungherz, brick apartment house, 72-74 Bedford street, Thirteenth ward, to cost $7,000; to the Franciscan Fathers, school house, Turret street, Twenty-first ward, to cost $8,000; to L. H. Tillabon, dwellings, Mulford street, Thirty-seventh ward, to cost $4,000.

REFINED SUGARS ARE FIVE POINTS HIGHER

Farmers Want More Rain for Growing Crops—New Apples in the Market.

Following an advance of five points made in the price of refined sugar by eastern refiners on Monday, the wholesale grocers of this city met yesterday afternoon and put prices forward accordingly, and the list is now five points higher here than it was at the opening of the week. Jobbers give it as their opinion that this advance will be followed by others, as demand is increasing, and wholesalers will be forced to meet conditions. In other lines grocering remain as they have been, with flour very firm, no concessions being made from quoted figures. Coffee is steady, but quiet. Navy beans are firm at the advance of Monday.

Farmers claim they have not yet had enough rain to properly provide moisture for growing crops in this section, and, while there is a great deal better state of things now than there was before the precipitation of the latter part of last week, more rain could be used to advantage. The ground was very dry, and absorbed all the water that came down from the clouds, as is proved by the fact that streams were swollen but little. There is an improvement in vegetation, but farmers are hoping they will not have to go through another dry spell until there has been a more thorough moistening of the earth. Home-grown teas are coming in freely, and are of good quality. Asparagus is scarce, its growth having been checked by the cold weather, and cuttings are light. New cabbage is in limited supply, and prices are higher, with demand inactive. String beans are plentiful, and quotations have declined. Green apples have commenced to arrive. They are small in size, but fairly sound. Strawberries are in moderate supply, and prices hold up much better than was at a week ago. Black and red raspberries are coming forward more freely, but they are good sellers, and prices are strong. Lemons are firm, with higher figures. A few large plums from Alabama are in the market, bringing $2 per box.

There were no changes of importance to record yesterday.

Supplies of spring chickens are increasing, and the market is easier, with prices gradually working lower, although there was no change yesterday from quotations of Monday. Old fowls remain at former figures.

Butter is fairly steady at the decline of 3@4c early, demand for best dairy remaining moderately active. Country butter is being brought to market in large quantities, and prices are easy. Farmers say the pasturage is excellent now, and much more butter is being made than there was a week ago. Cheese is firm, and eggs remain at quotations, which have ruled since the opening of the week.

Merchandise prices in this city were heavy receipts of hay yesterday, the market remained strong. Hay is bringing high prices farther east, and the strength of the situation in that section affects the Pittsburgh market here. Quotations in New York range as high as $27 per ton for best timothy. Oats, corn and millfeed are unchanged.

GERMANY HAS INAUGURATED AUSTRALIAN BALLOT SYSTEM

Law Permits Sending Voters from Strong Districts to Doubtful Ones.

GAIN FOR THE SOCIALISTS

They Sent Out Thousands of Election Colonists from Their Stronghold in Berlin to Uncertain Constituencies Throughout the Country.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, June 16.—The polling of the reichstag elections proceeded quietly today under the new modified Australian ballot law, the electors rarely staying in the booth longer than a quarter of a minute. All the political parties resorted to the election tactics, often practiced in Germany, of sending voters from the strong districts where they are not needed to the doubtful ones. The law permits this.

Travelers, for instance, arriving at a town the day before election can vote there on showing by proper credentials that they are authorized to vote in the precincts where they are permanent residents. This is for the convenience of commercial and other travelers. As a too free use of this privilege causes elections in some cases to be declared invalid by the reichstag and new elections ordered, the common practice now is to colonize voters in doubtful districts two or three weeks before the election, so that they can get on the poll lists of voters that long in advance, though the law really only requires one day's residence. The socialists have, it is alleged, sent out some thousands of colonists from their Berlin strongholds to uncertain constituencies.

Unofficial figures show Socialists gains in Berlin, where a seat formerly occupied by Dr. Paul Langerhans was won by a Socialist, Herr Arons.

INCOME TAX FOR FRANCE.

Brazilian Reciprocity to Be Denounced to Make Up Deficit in Budget.

PARIS, June 16.—Finance Minister Rouvier presented the budget for 1904 today and also a project for an income tax. The budget estimates the expenditure at $714,360,000 and the receipts at $702,740,000. In order to provide for the deficit $1,162,000, the yield of certain taxes will be augmented.

The minister proposes to raise a portion of the deficit by denouncing the reciprocity treaty with Brazil, thus permitting the restoration of the duties on Brazilian coffee. By the proposed income tax incomes under $100 are not taxed. Above $100 the tax is ½ per cent.

HUNGARIAN PREMIER RESIGNS AMID SCAFFING SHOUTS

BUDAPESTE, June 16.—Premier De Szell announced today in the lower house of the Hungarian diet, that he had tendered his resignation to King Francis Joseph and that his majesty had accepted. The entrance of the premier was the signal for an outburst of cheers from his supporters, while the opposition retorted with scoffing shouts of "What a happy funeral!" The premier said: "I beg the house to adjourn pending the formation of a new cabinet."

BRIEF NEWS BY CABLE.

ROME—Dr. Lapponi visited the pope and changed his treatment. The doctor says he found the pontiff in better health.

BERLIN—Prince Wilhelm Zu Wied was dragged by his sidrup and had his leg dislocated in a runaway at the reviewing grounds.

ST. PETERSBURG—Prince Urosoff, hitherto lieutenant governor of Tambof, has been appointed provisional governor of Bessarabia, in succession to Gov. Von Raaban, who was dismissed as a result of the Kishineff massacre.

SURPASSED PITTSBURGH.

North Side Excels in Fourth of July Contributions for One Day.

Allegheny surpassed Pittsburgh yesterday in contributions to the Fourth of July fund of the respective cities. The total donations to the Pittsburgh fund yesterday were $200, while Allegheny received $221. The contributions to the Pittsburgh fund were as follows: Oakland National bank, $25; C. & D. Telephone Company, $100; Hotel Schenley, $50; Price Bros., $25; previously reported, $5,015; total, $5,210.

The contributions to the Allegheny fund follow: Previously reported, $1,305; C. P. & P. Telephone Company, $100; H. E. Emmel, $10; Pennsylvania Light & Water Company, $25; Mrs. Mary Clark, $5; Chester A. Allree, $5; Walker Stratman & Co., $50; Union Camping club, $10; Albert Lhota, $5; C. Z. Lee, $5; H. Doerr, $3; Allen R. Duey, $5 Samuel McKnight, $10; total, $1,526.

ECHO OF THE LIBEL BILL.

Democrat Refuses Auditor General Indorsement Because He Didn't Fight It.

HARRISBURG, June 16.—(Special.)—Representative Robert L. Myers of Cumberland county, who has been indorsed by the Montour county Democracy for auditor general, declines to be a candidate.

"The nomination for auditor general would be an honor," said Mr. Myers, "but even if I were offered it, I could not accept it. As the new libel bill will be an issue, I have no doubt that Senator Dewalt will be the nominee. Mr. Dewalt led the fight in the senate against the bill," continued Mr. Myers, "and the nomination of Senator Snyder by the Republicans makes the Lehigh senator the logical Democratic nominee."

MANY GIFTS RECEIVED.

University of Chicago Received $621,155 from Admirers of the School.

CHICAGO, June 16.—With the announcement by President Harper of $621,155 in new gifts, the largest convocation in the history of the University of Chicago was held on the campus today. Three hundred and forty-nine degrees were conferred upon students who had completed the various courses in the university.

Of the new gifts, although no donors were mentioned, it is understood $345,000 came from John D. Rockefeller.

Senators Ready for the Trip.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., June 16.—Senators Beveridge, Dillingham and Durham of the sub-committee of the senate committee on territories, will meet at Chicago Friday for a final conference before the sub-committee starts on its Alaskan trip. It will sail from Seattle June 25, but Senator Beveridge will not be one of the party.

Historic House Auctioned Off.

CINCINNATI, O., June 16.—The historic home of Buchanan Read, in which the famous poem "Sheridan's Ride," was written, has been sold at auction for $12,000. The house has a plate on the wall with an inscription as to the former ownership by Read. The property was offered for the purpose of paying legacies named in the will of the late contractor, Hugh Campbell.

CHRISTIANS, NOT JEWS, SUFFERED AT KISHINEFF

Russian Priest Claims That Hebrews Were Doubly Repaid for Injuries.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 16.—Father John of Cronstadt, whose fiery condemnation of the Kishineff massacre was published in the St. Petersburg Liberal newspapers, has published the following in the anti-Semitic Quamia, the new organ in St. Petersburg:

From the newspaper accounts succeeding the first published reports concerning the Kisheneff catastrophe I have concluded that the Jews themselves were the cause of the recent disorders, that it is the Christians who suffered and that the Jews have been doubly repaid for their losses and injuries by their own brethren and others. I know this from private letters also, which I have received from people who have lived a long time in Kishineff.

No Russian newspaper of any weight, except the Novce Vremya, has attempted to palliate the massacre or lay the blame on the Jews.

PITTSBURGH PLANTS BUY MATERIAL ABROAD

About 152,000 Tons of Iron and Steel Products Imported During Last Month.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 16.—(Special.)—Somewhat under 152,000 tons of foreign iron and steel material and other metaline shipments were reported through New York and other eastern ports last month. In April similar imports were slightly over 160,000 tons.

Pittsburgh concerns were again extensive purchasers. The May imports of pig iron were 44,228 tons. Twenty-six thousand, two hundred and fifty-five tons came from Great Britain and 18,000 tons from Continental Europe. The pig iron shipped from Great Britain came chiefly from Middlesboro, 12,075 tons having been sent in May, as compared with 30,056 tons which represented the April shipments.

On the continent the principal shipments were made through Rotterdam, 7,596 tons having been sent from that Dutch port. Four thousand five hundred tons came from Stettin. Bilbao sent 2,616 tons. Bremen was next on the list with 2,539 tons. Hamburg sent 250 tons.

The imports of scrap iron, old iron rails, iron plate and bar iron, structural iron, steel billets, etc., etc., amounted in all to about 25,000 tons. The major portion came from German and Belgian ports. Ninety-seven thousand five hundred and fifteen tons of iron ore were imported last month.

Fifty-two thousand eight hundred and sixty tons came from Santiago and Havana, Cuba. The shipments from Spain consisted of 10,023 tons from Huelva, 6,400 tons from Carthagena and 3,000 tons from Marbella. Trieste and London sent small lots. One shipment of 6,700 tons of iron pyrites came from Huelva. Westinghouse interests were the biggest buyers in Pittsburgh.

TO VISIT PORTSMOUTH.

United States European Squadron's Itinerary Arranged by Secretary of the Navy.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(Special.)—American naval officers and blue jackets of the European squadron under Rear Admiral Cotton will probably celebrate the Fourth of July in a British port—Portsmouth. The itinerary of the squadron as announced by Secretary Moody today provides that the fleet consisting of the Chicago, San Francisco and Kearsarge, now at Southampton, will leave that port June 23 for Kiel, Germany, to be present during the regatta and until June 30. The German emperor will visit Kiel during this week.

June 30 the American fleet will proceed to Portmouth to remain until July 5. The municipality of the city has expressed a desire for the presence of the fleet on July 4. It is not unlikely that Rear Admiral Cotton will go to London and be presented to King Edward. This will probably make the stay of the American fleet in British waters as notable as its visit to Kiel.

BANKER KILLS HIMSELF.

Despondency Leads to Self Murder by President of the Seaboard National.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(Special.)—Frank Dean, vice president of the Seaboard National bank, committed suicide early this morning at his home at Orange, N. J., by shooting himself through the head. No reason is given for the act other than despondency due to the continued illness of his wife and the mental strain following upon the recent critical condition of his 12-year-old son.

Yesterday was the sixteenth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Dean, and it was celebrated by a reception at their home.

STRONG MAN INJURED.

Two Brewery Horses Prove Too Much for Man Who Pitted Himself Against Them.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(Special.)—Sebastian Millier, a professional strong man, will be crippled for many weeks as a result of an attempt at the Volksfest at Ridgewood park to pull against two horses.

Millier advertised that he would strap himself to two powerful horses and bring them together by muscular force. Two big brewery horses were taken to the park for the test and Millier didn't prove strong enough for the pull. His arms were almost torn from their sockets.

TO SAVE MONEY FOR ALLEGHENY

Councilman Beatty Will Introduce Ordinance to Abolish Delinquent Tax Collector.

CITY TREASURER TO DO WORK

If the Measure Goes Through It Will Result in About $15,000 More Yearly Going Into the Coffers of the Municipality.

Attorney Lee C. Beatty, councilman from the Sixth ward, Allegheny, will present to Allegheny select council this afternoon an ordinance providing for the abolition of the office of delinquent tax collector, and the merging of that office into the office of the city treasurer.

Mr. Beatty has obtained legal opinions and said yesterday he would present the bill without any doubt of its legality. The only chance of the ordinance being killed is that it may go to a committee and die there.

Section 1, of article 2, of the new charter reads, "That councils may by ordinance provide that one person may be appointed Director of Public Safety and the Department of Charities and Correction, and that the City Treasurer may be appointed Collector of Delinquent Taxes." It is ch the last clause of this section that Attorney Beatty bases his assertion that there can be no question as to the legality of councils passing his ordinance.

Nothing is to be done at present concerning the abolition of the department of charities, although this has been discussed quietly among a number of councilmen recently. The department of which Henry Hunneshagen is head, some of the Republican councilmen contend, should be maintained as it is, as the work done in the department is necessary and has never been objected to by the taxpayers.

According to Mr. Beatty the passage of his ordinance would result in a saving to the city of about $15,000 a year, which at the present time goes into the pocket of the collector of delinquent taxes. The ordinance although asking that the city treasurer collect the delinquent taxes, provides for no increase in his salary, but on the other hand states specifically that "the salary of the city treasurer shall remain as heretofore."

"I was elected on the ticket with Wyman," said Mr. Beatty yesterday, "and it is my intention to live up to the pledge we signed when we were candidates. This was to vote for all legislation that would in any way contribute to an economical administration of the city's offices. Every councilman elected last February on the Citizens' ticket really must vote for the ordinance or show himself up to his constituents. I feel certain every councilman in the city will hear, from large numbers of those who voted for him, that they want to see the office of delinquent tax collector abolished. There is no reason why such an office should exist. There are only two short periods in the year when the city treasurer's office is busy—when the March and September installments are paid.

"The measure is certain to pass select council if it is reported favorably from committee. It then will be up to the common branch."

PLACES FOR PERUVIANS.

Admiral Barker Will Assign Six Midshipmen to Duty on Our Warships.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Instructions have been sent to Rear Admiral Barker, commanding the North Atlantic fleet, at New York, to assign to duty six midshipmen of the Peruvian navy who recently arrived at New York to receive practical instruction aboard United States men-of-war.

They were educated in the Peruvian naval school and as an act of comity will be allowed to perform the regular duties of junior watch officers on our warships. They bear all their own expenses and receive no compensation from the United States.

FOR CHINESE RAILROAD.

Pittsburgh Plants Will Furnish Bridge Material for Canton-Hankow Line.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(Special.)—Pittsburgh and other Pennsylvania shops will turn out the bridge material, cars, etc., for a new railroad to be constructed in China by American capitalists including J. P. Morgan, Cornelius Vanderbilt and August Belmont. The road is to be built between Canton and Hankow. The system is to be operated by the American syndicate for 50 years after which period it is to be turned over to the Chinese government.

The American Bridge Company has just secured an initial contract for bridge material which will be executed at its Pittsburgh plant. The American Car & Foundry Company will build at its Pennsylvania shops several third-class passenger cars for the Chinese road, and the Middletown, Pa., car works have been awarded a contract for flat cars.

PITTSBURGH TYPIFIES HUSTLE OF AMERICANS

Oregon Business Man in His Return Home Told Friends That This City Is the Busiest Place in the Country.

"Pittsburgh hustle" is a frequent expression heard in this country and in parts of many other countries, and in most cases this city is pointed out as the typical American town, the one that more than any other exemplifies the strenuousness, go-aheaditiveness and up-to-dateness of the modern American people and things. Blair T. Scott of Portland, Ore., one of the most hustling towns of the west, has just returned from an eastern trip, part of his time in this part of the country being devoted to booming the exposition to be held in Portland in 1905. Mr. Scott is the general manager of the Washington Life Insurance Company in Portland and is a brother of W. A. Scott, Jr., of this city, president of the Highland Inn Hotel Company of Somerset, Pa. Mr. Scott's impressions of this city, as narrated by the Portland Daily Journal and Evening Telegram, were:

I was much impressed by the business activity of Pittsburgh. In every line of commercial interests all was hurry and rush and roar. The people of that city seem to know nothing but business, and they are ever pushing out for new conquests in all lines of the world's commerce. And they are doing everything in their power to keep right at home the money that flows into that metropolis from all parts of the globe.

New banks and trust and life insurance companies are being organized nearly every week. Recently two life insurance companies were launched into the business world with a capital of $1,000,000 each. Not long ago a new trust company was chartered and within a few hours the stock was subscribed three times over, and while the doors of the new trust's offices are not yet opened the stock has advanced 15 points.

In that city gambling in stocks is the great rage with all the business men. They seem to be wild over the stocks of banks, trusts and rapid transit companies. Many large skyscrapers are being erected, the finest being the home of the Farmers National bank, which is 24 stories in height.

The bankers of that city have a new and somewhat unique method of increasing their business. Several of the leading banks have well-paid, special representatives in the field, whose entire occupation is to solicit the accounts of the large merchants and manufacturers of the city and surrounding towns. These banks also pay interest on daily balances, besides giving other inducements to their customers.

One of the things that impressed me much around Pittsburgh was its beautiful suburban streets and avenues, and the handsome parks that dot the city. Compared with the Pennsylvania city, New York seemed dull. This dullness was caused by the stringency in the money market. Quiet seemed to reign in all the other cities I visited.

Pittsburgh will soon be known as the fourth city in the union, as its consolidation with adjacent suburbs will bring its population up to the half-million mark now enjoyed by St. Louis.

A Trained Nurse Speaks Out.

Trained nurses as a rule are a fine lot of women, and if they were men would make magnificent soldiers. They are trained to obey to the minutest detail, and it is seldom one can be got to express an opinion on any remedy, being content to carry out the physician's orders. Speaking on the subject one of the best known nurses of Pittsburgh, Pa., said: "I only recall one case where I felt called upon to speak right out and tell the doctors what I thought. I had been called in to attend an old lady suffering with chronic constipation and whose enfeebled condition precluded the use of cascara, rhubarb, licorice or other powerful purgatives. The doctors were giving the patient large doses of olive oil without any appreciable result. I insisted upon Red Raven Splits, knowing that as a laxative, though mild, it was exceedingly sure. To my delight, the doctors, after consultation, prescribed a bottle every morning for three mornings. A prompt change came over the patient and in a few days she was relieved. This is the only experience I ever had with Red Raven Splits in a critical illness, but in a number of mild attacks of constipation, torpid liver, headache and biliousness, I have known them to bring quick relief."

All drug stores and bars keep Red Raven Splits—a sparkling mineral water in half-pint bottles. Price 15c.

It isn't fair

"Just as good" is not square talk. The merchant who offers a substitute is unfair to the ignorant buyer. The JAS. BOSS STIFFENED GOLD WATCH CASE is not always sold; for the inferior kinds of Filled Cases, the "just as good" kinds, are more profitable to the jeweler. Insist on having the best—the BOSS. It is a weak will that submits to the jeweler who offers a substitute—the strong will refuses and buys elsewhere. "Just as good" does not claim to be better; the BOSS claims to be, and is, best.
